Headline: Reports: Israel bombs weapons convoy headed for Hezbollah on Syria-Lebanon border

Lebanese officials said a dozen Israeli warplanes violated Lebanese airspace on Tuesday and overnight into Wednesday, flying close to the ground in several sorties over southern Lebanon. According to foreign media reports, the planes attacked a target near the Lebanon-Syria border. The Israeli military had no comment. A Lebanese army statement says the last of the sorties was at 2 a.m. local time Wednesday. It says four warplanes, which flew in over the southernmost coastal town of Naqoura, flew for several hours over villages in south Lebanon before leaving Lebanese airspace. It says similar flights by eight other warplanes were conducted Tuesday. Regional security officials say Israel conducted an airstrike inside Syria overnight near the border with Lebanon. The two officials did not say what the target was. But they said Wednesday that Israel had been making plans in the days leading up to the airstrike to hit a shipment of weapons bound for the anti-Israel militant group Hezbollah in Lebanon. They said the shipment included sophisticated, Russian-made SA-17 anti-aircraft missiles, which would be strategically "game-changing" in the hands of Hezbollah.

Lebanon's state-run news agency on Wednesday dismissed as "baseless" media reports that Israeli jets had hit a convoy near the Syrian-Lebanese border. "The news about an Israeli strike near the Syria-Lebanese border are baseless," the National News Agency (NNA) said. However, a Lebanese army statement said four Israeli planes had mounted overnight overflights in southern

Headline: Israeli navy intercepts ship carrying advanced weaponry

The Israeli navy intercepted a ship containing advanced weaponry destined for Lebanon, according to informed Middle Eastern security officials speaking to WND. The security officials said the weapons seizure took place three weeks ago and has been kept under wraps until now. The officials said the ship flew a Qatari flag and was registered to a Qatari company. They said the ship contained advanced weapons, including anti-aircraft missiles. Asked for comment, a spokeswoman for the Israel Defense Forces said the incident is "not familiar" to the IDF. The information of a purported seized weapons shipment comes amid foreign media reports that Israeli forces attacked a target on the Syrian-Lebanese border overnight believed to be a weapons convoy.

Khaled Meshal, head of the Syrian branch of Hamas' political bureau, has reportedly accepted the idea of a two-state solution to the Israeli-Palestinian conflict, and has authorized King Abdullah of Jordan to convey the message on his behalf to U.S. President Barack Obama. His new stance marks a dramatic shift in Hamas' position on the long-standing conflict. Meanwhile, Gaza's Hamas rulers on Wednesday authorized the Palestinian elections commission to begin voter registration as part of efforts to restart reconciliation, an official said. "We have agreed to start operations in the Gaza Strip and we will begin in Gaza and the West Bank," Central Elections Commission chief Hanna Nasser said, after a meeting with Gaza's Hamas Prime Minister Ismail Haniya.

Headline: Peres sure to ask Netanyahu to form new Israeli government

Israeli President Shimon Peres on Wednesday began talks with political parties over who should form a new government, and appears certain to ask incumbent Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu to assemble it. The formal consultation procedure to nominate a lawmaker to form a government, the president's only important executive power, began after Peres was presented with the official results from last week's general election. Peres will meet representatives from all 12 parties elected to the Knesset according to size in descending order, and hopes to complete the formalities within days, after which he will assign the coalition building task to one lawmaker.

Headline: Islamists to challenge Elections Law

The Islamic Action Front (IAF), the political arm of the Muslim Brotherhood, on Tuesday said it would begin talks with allied opposition groups to challenge the 2012 Elections Law in the Constitutional Court. At a press conference held by the party's Higher Reform Council, IAF Secretary General Hamzah Mansour said that the law was unconstitutional and the government had carried out last week's polls without "national consensus". The Islamist leader criticised the January 23 elections, claiming the government had failed to expand public participation and exaggerated voter turnout to make up for this failure.

At least two people have been killed in clashes between protesters and police in the Egyptian capital of Cairo, medics said. The two victims were hit by buckshot near the capital's Tahrir Square on Wednesday, AFP reported medics as saying. One of the victims died at the spot, while the other died after transferred to a nearby hospital. The deaths bring to four the number of people killed in the Egyptian capital, and to 54 the total number of people killed across the country since violence erupted on January 25 when the country marked the second anniversary of the revolution that ousted former dictator Hosni Mubarak. The deadliest clashes took place in Port Said. Chaos erupted when a court handed down death sentences to 21 people for their role in an incident that saw the death of 74 people following a football match in the city last year.

Jeremiah 49:24-27

New King James Version (NKJV)

- 24 Damascus has grown feeble;
She turns to flee,
And fear has seized her.
Anguish and sorrows have taken her like a woman in labor.
- 25 Why is the city of praise not deserted, the city of My joy?
- 26 Therefore her young men shall fall in her streets,
And all the men of war shall be cut off in that day," says the LORD of hosts.
- 27 "I will kindle a fire in the wall of Damascus,
And it shall consume the palaces of Ben-Hadad."^[a]

The burden of Damascus. Behold, Damascus is taken away from being a city, and it shall be a ruinous heap.

Headline: Syria opposition chief says ready for talks with regime

Syria's opposition chief Moaz al-Khatib said on Wednesday he is ready for dialogue with officials of President Bashar al-Assad's regime, subject to conditions including that some 160,000 detainees are released. "I announce I am ready for direct discussions with representatives of the Syrian regime in Cairo, Tunis or Istanbul," Khatib said via his Facebook page, citing as another condition that passports for exiled citizens be renewed in embassies abroad. "I became aware thanks to the media that the regime in Syria has called on the opposition to enter into dialogue," said Khatib, who heads the main opposition Syrian National Coalition. "While it is not right for anyone to bargain with the freedom for which our people have paid so dearly in blood, I say there are basic conditions before I sit down with representatives of the regime," he said. Khatib described his proposal as "a goodwill initiative to seek a political solution to the crisis, to prepare for a transitional phase that prevents any more bloodshed."

Headline: Ferocious battle for strategic suburb could hold the keys to Damascus

Three tanks are parked at a street junction in a southwestern suburb of Damascus when one of them is struck by an anti-tank missile. Smoke shoots out of the barrel and turret and swiftly turns into a fiery jet of flame as the interior ignites, incinerating the crew. The dramatic combat footage posted on YouTube demonstrates the ferocity of the struggle between the Syrian Army and armed rebels for the key district of Daraya, the outcome of which could determine the fate of the regime of Syrian President Bashar al-Assad, according to diplomats and analysts. "The regime and its supporters [Russia and Iran] are investing all in the counterattack [on Daraya] to ensure Mr. Assad's grip on power. But if it fails, the regime will be in a very difficult position, internally and externally," says a Western diplomat. The diplomat, who has wide-ranging contacts with the Syrian regime and opposition, agreed to give a detailed briefing on the situation in Daraya and elsewhere in Syria in exchange for strict anonymity.

Headline: France is totally bankrupt': French jobs minister Michel Sapin embarrasses Francois Hollande with shocking statement on state of the country's economy

France’s employment minister Michel Sapin has admitted the country is “totally bankrupt”. The unexpected news came during a radio interview yesterday and is thought to have sent the country’s business leaders into a state of shock. “There is a state but it is a totally bankrupt state,” Mr Sapin said. “That is why we had to put a deficit reduction plan in place, and nothing should make us turn away from that objective.” Mr Sapin’s “totally bankrupt” statement is likely to cause huge embarrassment for President Francois Hollande, who will be left to undo the potential damage to his socialist government’s reputation. It also calls into further question Hollande’s controversial “tax and spend” policies that have seen numerous entrepreneurs and high profile celebrities leave the country. Jan. 29, 2013

Headline: US economy shrinks 0.1 percent, first time since recession ended

The country’s fiscal health got a gut-check Wednesday after a report by the Commerce Department showed the U.S. economy unexpectedly shrank in the fourth quarter. Despite stronger consumer spending, it’s the biggest dip the country has seen in three years. The U.S. economy unexpectedly shrank from October through December for the first time since 2009, hurt by the biggest cut in defense spending in 40 years, fewer exports and sluggish growth in company stockpiles. The drop occurred despite stronger consumer spending and business investment. The Commerce Department said Wednesday that the economy contracted at an annual rate of 0.1 percent in the fourth quarter. That was a sharp slowdown from the 3.1 percent growth rate in the July-September quarter.

Credit-rating agency Fitch cut Egypt’s sovereign rating from "B+" to "B" citing political strife and an ever-growing budget deficit. Fitch warned that a further downgrade is "possible" if the political situation remains turbulent. The downgrade reflects several factors, including a worsened fiscal position, Fitch said in a statement. "Egypt’s 'B' rating reflects a balance between short-term reserve pressure, political upheaval, a weak and deteriorating fiscal position and capital flight against our assumption that an IMF program will be in place after the election," Fitch said.

Headline: N. Korea threat 'merciless' retaliation on South

North Korea on Tuesday vowed "merciless" retaliation against the South for its support of UN sanctions, as Seoul urged Pyongyang to step back from a widely expected nuclear test. The perennially tense situation on the Korean peninsula has been stretched to its limit in the past week, with almost daily threats from the North that it is preparing to conduct a nuclear test as a riposte to the expanded sanctions. A lengthy commentary published Tuesday by the official Korean Central News Agency (KCNA) reiterated that the sanctions resolution passed by the UN Security Council was tantamount to a "declaration of war".

Headline: One dead as strong storms rake South, Midwest

A large storm system packing high winds, rain and some possible twisters tore across several states in the South and central U.S. early Wednesday, blacking out power to thousands, downing trees and damaging homes. CBS Nashville affiliate WTVF-TV reports one person was killed when a tree fell on a shed. At least one person was reported injured by lightning in Arkansas during the storm's eastward trek, marking the onslaught of an approaching cold front expected to sweep over a large part of the East Coast in coming hours. The rapidly changing conditions created a risk of tornadoes in the nation's midsection and South. The National Weather Service's Storm Prediction Center in Norman, Okla., said the threat was greatest in northeast Texas, northern Louisiana, northwest Mississippi, southeast Missouri and much of Arkansas.

The Arab Spring in Prophecy

(Perilous Times Luke 21:9 & Nation against Nation, Kingdom against Kingdom Matt.24:7)
(Revelation 6:3-4 Revelation 6:8)

“For nation shall rise against nation, and kingdom against kingdom.
There will be earthquakes in various places, and there will be famines and sedition; these are the beginning of the labor pains.”

Mark 13:8

CIVIL UNREST

Luke 21:9 and Matthew 24:7 speak of nation against nation and kingdom against kingdom in the end times. Revelation 6:3-4 speaks of the fiery red horse given power to make men slay one another and Revelation 6:8 speaks again of this red horse in conjunction with the pale horse of Death and Hades, as the one that has the power to kill by sword. I like to call this “The Arab Spring in Prophecy” because for us it is easy to identify- that’s what the world calls it.

Luke 21:9: wars & commotions; the Greek word here is Akatastasia, meaning instability, a state of disorder, disturbance, confusion (revolutions)

Matthew 24:7: the Greek word for nation is Ethnos & refers to various ethnic groups fighting among themselves, where the next sentence in the verse refers to kingdoms (basileiva) fighting one another (not to be confused with an actual kingdom but rather the right or authority to rule over a kingdom) I have tried to separate it into areas that sweep EAST from the point of North America.

Africa- ONLY COUNTRIES NOT IN PROPHECY

Headline: French foreign minister: Troops to leave Mali soon

French forces have entered Mali’s northern town of Kidal, the last major town held by local fighters, as part of its war in the West African country. The arrival of French troops in Kidal on Wednesday came only days after they took control of Gao and Timbuktu, the other urban strongholds of the fighters, in a three-week war in its former West African colony. "French elements were deployed overnight in Kidal," said French army spokesman Thierry Burkhard on Wednesday. Earlier on Wednesday reports also said that French troops had landed at Kidal airport. "We confirm that French aircraft are on the Kidal landing strip and that protection helicopters are in the sky," a regional security source said.

Middle East- ONLY COUNTRIES NOT IN PROPHECY

Headline: Bahraini forces disperse anti-regime protesters near Manama

Bahraini forces have once again launched a heavy crackdown on anti-regime protesters near the capital, Manama. On Wednesday, the Al Khalifa regime forces brutally dispersed the protesters staging a demonstration in the northern village of Daih, west of Manama, to mourn the death of a Bahraini child during a similar protest. Qasim Habib, an eight-year-old child, died due to inhalation of poisonous tear gas fired by regime forces during a demonstration in Karbabad village near the capital on January 26. Last year, Amnesty International warned about the Bahraini regime's misuse of tear gas against protesters and called for an investigation into the tear gas-related deaths.

Headline: Greek protesters storm govt. building in Athens, plan strike

Protesters have forced their way into a government building in the Greek capital Athens amid plans to stage a 24-hour anti-austerity strike. At least one person suffered injuries after around 30 protesters stormed the Labor Ministry building of Yiannis Vrotsis in central Athens on Wednesday. Police used tear gas to disperse the protesters and arrested 20 people in the demonstration organized by a Communist-backed labor union. Members of the union urge the government to sack the planned reforms to the country's pension and income contribution system as the eurozone creditors and the International Monetary Fund (IMF) tighten the leash on Athens' expenditure.
