Headline: Abbas welcomes Obama visit, looks to new U.S. policy in the region

President Barack Obama is to visit Israel, the Palestinian territories and Jordan in the next few weeks, at the heart of a wider tour of the Middle East. Israeli television broke news of the trip on Tuesday night, and said the White House had confirmed it would take place next month or in April, and that the details were agreed by Obama and Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu in a January 28 phone call. Meanwhile, US President Barack Obama wants to host a summit between Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu and Palestinian Authority President Mahmoud Abbas during his visit here this spring, Deputy Foreign Minister Danny Ayalon said Wednesday. Ayalon said he was “certain” that efforts to arrange such a meeting were already under way. Interviewed on Army Radio, Ayalon said that Obama plainly would not be visiting Israel unless it was already clear that the visit would mark some kind of substantive agreement. A three-way Obama-Netanyahu-Abbas meeting would presumably mark a resumption of peace negotiations.

Headline: White House: Obama will not bring a new peace plan with him to Israel

The White House said on Wednesday that U.S. President Barack Obama, who will be visiting Israel next month, does not plan on bringing a new peace initiative with him to the region. Obama will be making his first trip to Israel since taking the office in 2009. White House spokesman Jay Carney said in a briefing to reporters on Wednesday that Obama's trip is not connected to any restarting of Middle East peace talks between Israel and the Palestinians. During the briefing, Carney was asked whether Obama, during his trip, would press Israel to halt settlement construction. Carney did not answer the question, saying only that the U.S. president expects to discuss with Israeli leaders the issues of a nuclear Iran and the situation in Syria, adding that at this stage, it was too early to know exactly what would happen at the meeting, which would take place in a few weeks.

Headline: Obama to visit Jordan in Spring

US President Barack Obama plans to visit Jordan and the West Bank as part of an upcoming trip the region that will take him to Israel, White House spokesman Jay Carney told reporters on Tuesday. Earlier, Carney confirmed Obama would travel to Israel in the spring, his first trip to Israel since taking office. While the White House gave no exact dates for the trip, Israel's Channel 10 television station cited unnamed sources in Washington saying Obama would start his visit to Israel on March 20. The choice of Israel, a close US ally, for Obama's first foreign travel since his January 21 inauguration will give the president and Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu a chance to try to repair their notoriously fractious relationship.

The U.S. State Department has told Egypt it is "extremely disturbed" by the video of Egyptian police brutally beating and dragging a naked activist near the presidential palace as the Muslim Brotherhood makes the Obama administration's enthusiastic welcome of the regime more problematic. While the State Dept, omitted any terms such as "outrage" or "barbaric" in order not to offend Cairo, Egyptian media reported there have been at least two death-by-torture incidents. Many others are "missing." The State. Dept. was "extremely disturbed" only after a video was shown of the beating of the naked activist, Hamda Saber, but there has been no lack of evidence of previous brutality, similar if not worse than that imposed by Mubarak's police force. More than 60 people were killed in clashes against the Morsi regime the past several weeks.

Jeremiah 49:24-27

New King James Version (NKJV)

24 Damascus has grown feeble;
She turns to flee,
And fear has seized her.
Anguish and sorrows have taken her like a woman in labor.
25 Why is the city of praise not deserted, the city of My joy?
26 Therefore her young men shall fall in her streets,
And all the men of war shall be cut off in that day," says the LORD of hosts.
27 "I will kindle a fire in the wall of Damascus,
And it shall consume the palaces of Ben-Hadad."^[a]

The burden of Damascus. Behold, Damascus is taken away from being a city, and it shall be a ruinous heap.

With Iranian President Mahmoud Ahmadinejad making an ice-breaking visit to Egypt after 34 years of estrangement, the two-day meeting is focusing on how to stop bloodshed in Syria, where Tehran is one of President Bashar al-Assad's last allies. Mursi embraced Ahmadinejad and gave him a red-carpet airport welcome on the Iranian leader's arrival on Tuesday, but his foreign minister hastened to assure Gulf Arab states that Egypt would not sacrifice their security in opening to Tehran. Diplomats and analysts doubt that full diplomatic relations, broken after Iran's 1979 Islamic Revolution and Egypt's peace treaty with Israel in the same year, will be restored soon. Underlying tensions between the majority Sunni Muslims and the minority Shi'ites burst into the open on Tuesday when Ahmadinejad met Egypt's leading Muslim scholar and received a public scolding over Iran's approach to Sunni Arab nations.

Headline: Netherlands AAA Outlook Cut as Fitch Cites Shocks to Economy

The Netherlands had the outlook on its top credit rating cut to negative by Fitch Ratings as the Dutch economy suffers from a deepening housing slump and persistent bank system woes. The ratings company maintained the country’s grade at AAA while removing its designation as stable, according to a statement released yesterday in London. As reasons for the move, it cited the level of public debt, problems at some Dutch banks and a property-market slump which may shave a total of 25 percent off values from their peak. “The outlook revision to negative from stable reflects Fitch’s view that the leveraged Dutch economy has suffered a number of shocks,” it said. Investors often ignore ratings, evidenced by the rally in Treasuries after the U.S. lost its top grade at S&P in 2011. The action by Fitch comes days after the country took control of its fourth-biggest lender, SNS Reaal NV, for 3.7 billion euros ($5 billion). While that alone isn’t enough to trigger a downgrade, Fitch said the move will add 1.6 percentage points to public debt this year, reaching a total of 74.4 percent of gross domestic product.

Headline: Virginia advances bill pushing for state to establish its own currency

Virginia is one step closer to breaking ties with the country's monetary system. A proposal to study whether the state should adopt its own currency is gaining traction in the state legislature from a number of lawmakers as well as conservative economists. The state House voted 65-32 earlier this week to approve the measure, and it will now go to the Senate. While it's unlikely that Virginia will be printing its own money any time soon, the move sheds light on the growing distrust surrounding the nation's central bank. Four other states are considering similar proposals. In 2011, Utah passed a law that recognizes gold and silver coins issued by the federal government as tender and requires a study on adopting other forms of legal currency.

Japan's prime minister has called the decision by a Chinese frigate to put a radar lock on a Japanese navy ship a "dangerous act". Headline: Welfare, food stamp recipients could soon be required to get microchipped with RFID tags

For at least the past 15 years, the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) has been actively trying to develop new ways to decrease fraud in the federal food stamp program, which currently covers nearly 50 million Americans and adds more than 10,000 new enrollees to its ranks every single day, according to reports. But one disconcerting method the agency appears to be considering involves the potential use of radio frequency identification (RFID) chips to track and identify food stamp recipients at the national level. Two separate reports quietly issued by the USDA's Food and Nutrition Service program back in 1999 reveal that the agency's ultimate goal is to develop new tracking protocols that will supposedly improve the integrity of the food stamp program, also known as the Supplemental Assistance Nutrition Program (SNAP). In both of these reports, the USDA explains how novel biometric identification technologies can help better verify the identities of food stamp recipients, and thus decrease fraud and "double-dipping."

And with snowfall set to continue at least until the end of the week, the authorities are bracing for more chaos on the roads. "There hasn't been such a winter in 100 years," Pyotr Biryukov, deputy mayor for residential issues, said

Tuesday in comments carried by Interfax. "The snow this year has already reached one and a half times the climatic norm," he said. The capital has seen 216 centimeters of snow fall since the beginning of winter, Biryukov said.

The Arab Spring in Prophecy

(Perilous Times Luke 21:9 & Nation against Nation, Kingdom against Kingdom Matt.24:7)
(Revelation 6:3-4 Revelation 6:8)

"For nation shall rise against nation, and kingdom against kingdom.
There will be earthquakes in various places, and there will be famines and sedition; these are the beginning of the labor pains."

Mark 13:8

CIVIL UNREST

Luke 21:9 and Matthew 24:7 speak of nation against nation and kingdom against kingdom in the end times. Revelation 6:3-4 speaks of the fiery red horse given power to make men slay one another and Revelation 6:8 speaks again of this red horse in conjunction with the pale horse of Death and Hades, as the one that has the power to kill by sword. I like to call this "The Arab Spring in Prophecy" because for us it is easy to identify- that's what the world calls it.

Luke 21:9: wars & commotions; the Greek word here is Akatastasia, meaning instability, a state of disorder, disturbance, confusion (revolutions)

Matthew 24:7: the Greek word for nation is Ethnos & refers to various ethnic groups fighting among themselves, where the next sentence in the verse refers to kingdoms (basileiva) fighting one another (not to be confused with an actual kingdom but rather the right or authority to rule over a kingdom) I have tried to separate it into areas that sweep EAST from the point of North America.

Headline: 'Several hundred' fighters killed in Mali

Headline: France wants U.N. peacekeeping force for Mali by April

Hundreds of al-Qaeda-linked fighters have been killed since the beginning of French military operation in northern Mali, France's defence minister has said. Jean-Yves Le Drian, the defence minister, said on Wednesday that the 26-day military intervention had killed "several hundred" rebel fighters as its air and ground forces chased them from their northern strongholds into remote mountainous terrain in the far northeast, near the Algerian border. The defence ministry said the fighters died in French air strikes on vehicles transporting fighters and equipment, and in "direct combat in Konna and Gao", key central and northern towns. France's sole fatality so far has been a helicopter pilot who was killed at the start of the military operation. Mali said 11 of its troops were killed and 60 wounded after the battle at Konna last month but has not since released a new death toll.

Headline: Bahrain's opposition urges forming transitional government

The Bahraini regime has devised plans to commence national dialogue with opposition groups on Sunday, despite the continuation of the crackdown on pro-democracy protesters.

The invitations for almost 17 pro-regime and opposition groups will be issued on Wednesday, with the members of both the lower and upper house of the country's National Assembly also attending the talks beginning on February 10. "We have every intention to make this dialogue a success," Bahrain's Information Affairs Minister Samira Rajab said. "The onus is on the other parties and their seriousness in pursuing dialogue."

Headline: Steelworkers clash with riot police outside French-based EP

The protests of hundreds of steelworkers have broken out into scuffles with the police outside the European Parliament (EP) in France's eastern city Strasbourg. On Wednesday, workers of the world's largest steelmaker, ArcelorMittal, came from factories across Europe to demonstrate against the company's job cuts and restructuring plans. The workers who were throwing buckets and breaking glass on the roadside, faced tear gas and batons flung from squads of riot police dressed in full protective armor.

Headline: Spanish students rally against government's education cuts

Spanish students in nearly one hundred cities have rallied against Premier Mariano Rajoy government's severe cuts to the education sector. The Wednesday demonstration comes as the second of three days of strikes that the Students' Union (SE) called to protest against the law of Education Minister Jose Ignacio Wert. The SE says almost 1.6 million students have joined the rally from institutes spanning the country, including Spain's major cities Madrid and Valencia, as well as autonomous communities Andalusia, Extremadura, Aragon and Asturias. Protesters have called for the resignation of Wert, saying his policies are ruining the public education system.

Headline: Protests hit Bangladesh after war crimes verdict

Police and protesters clashed for the second day Wednesday after the conviction of a powerful politician in connection with killings during the country's 1971 independence war. More than two dozen small homemade bombs also exploded in the country's north, but there were no reports of injuries. Local news reports said at least 10 people were hurt Wednesday in clashes outside Dhaka, a day after the latest verdict was announced in a series of controversial war crimes trials. Street battles across the country Tuesday killed as many as four people and injured dozens more. The clashes came after Bangladesh's largest Islamic party, Jamaat-e-Islami, ordered a nationwide general strike, shutting down schools and shops, to protest the conviction and life sentence given its leader, Abdul Quader Mollah.
