Headline: Lieberman vows to block settlement freeze efforts in Israel's next government

Headline: UN report: Israel to stop settlement construction

Former Foreign Minister Avigdor Lieberman said Monday that his Yisrael Beiteinu party would seek to prevent any renewal of a construction freeze in West Bank settlements. Hours before Prime Minister Netanyahu was to swear in Israel 33rd government coalition, Lieberman told reporters at a press conference that after "seeing no results" from an attempted freeze, he would "oppose every effort" to try again. "We are prepared to make gestures, but they cannot be unilateral," Lieberman said. "All members of Yisrael Beiteinu will oppose a free if such [a suggestion] is raised. This comes as a team appointed by the United Nations Human Rights Council is demanding that Israel immediately stop construction in the settlements. The team, which presented its conclusions to diplomats in Geneva, also wrote that Israel must start to withdraw from the West Bank.

Headline: Tribunal Calls on ICC to Probe Israel's 'Crimes' in 'Palestine'

A tribunal has called on the International Criminal Court to investigate so-called "crimes" allegedly committed by Israel in "Palestinian territories", AFP reported. The Russell Tribunal on Palestine (RTOP) made the call on Sunday as it wrapped up four years of investigation, according to the report. Meeting in Brussels, the people's tribunal, which has no legal status, said it would "support all initiatives from civil society and international organizations aimed at bringing Israel in front of the International Criminal Court." The tribunal also called on the ICC to recognize "Palestinian jurisdiction" and for an extraordinary session of the United Nations Special Committee against Apartheid, set up for South Africa, to this time examine the Israeli case.

Headline: Hamas is No Terrorist Group, Claims Abbas

Hamas is not a terrorist organization and, as such, should not be classified as one by Europe, Palestinian Authority Chairman Mahmoud Abbas claimed this past weekend. Abbas, who heads the rival Fatah faction, spoke in an interview with the Russian RT network, saying that Hamas has agreed to no longer support “armed resistance” and so it is not a terrorist organization. “A number of Hamas members support this stance,” he said, adding, “That’s what we agreed on during our meeting in Cairo, and several months ago at the summit of the Organization of Islamic Cooperation we reaffirmed that the Palestinian people have the right to non-violent resistance. “We are going back to the negotiating process. There is no disagreement on this between us and Hamas leaders, though some keep saying that they don’t consider a peaceful solution the only option and don’t rule out military struggle. But all this talk stopped at the Cairo meeting, which was sponsored by the U.S. and Egypt. Now this is Hamas’s official stance. Pay no attention to the odd Hamas members that say different.”

Headline: Palestinians vandalize Obama banner ahead of visit

Palestinians have vandalized a banner bearing President Barack Obama’s image just days before his visit. The Palestinians tore down the banner, hurled shoes at it and spray painted it with swastikas. Associated Press TV video showed a taxi driving over the banner before it was set on fire in the West Bank town of Bethlehem on Monday. Obama arrives in Israel on Wednesday. He heads to the West Bank Thursday.

Headline: Israel to ask Obama to use air strikes in case of Syrian missile transfer Israel will use President Obama's visit on Wednesday to try to persuade the US to carry out air strikes on Syria if there is evidence that Syrian missiles are to be handed over to Hezbollah in Lebanon, or at least to give full support to Israeli military action to prevent the transfer. On this week's trip to Israel and the West Bank, Obama will also come under Israeli pressure to lower the US threshold for military action against Iran, while the US president will try for an Israeli commitment to a peace process with the Palestinians. Neither side is likely to be successful, leaving Syria as the most promising arena for agreement. The Obama administration has made clear that it would intervene militarily only to stop the Assad regime using its chemical or biological weapons or transferring them to extremist groups. Israeli officials say they feel they have been left alone to deal with the spread of Syria's arsenal of anti-aircraft and anti-ship missiles.

Headline: Jordan downplays tensions with Damascus

Jordan downplayed reports of rising tensions with Damascus on Sunday, refuting accusations by Syrian officials of Jordanian support for rebel forces. Minister of State for Media Affairs and Communications Samih Maaytah contested reports of Jordanian support for jihadist and rebel forces in Syria, stressing that Amman has not veered from its declared policy "against interference in Syrian affairs" and in support of Syria's stability. "It is not in Jordan's interest to fan the flames of conflict in Syria and we continue to push for a political solution to stop the bloodshed," Maaytah told The Jordan Times. "It is well-known where these weapons and fighters are coming from — they are not coming from Jordan, and Jordan's efforts to secure the borders is well recognised." Maaytah's comments came in response to a flurry of news reports accusing Jordan of complacency regarding the cross-border flow of Islamist fighters and arms into Syria.

Headline: Assad warplanes strike Lebanon border for first time in Syrian crisis

Syrian planes have bombed a Lebanese border town in eastern Bekaa Valley, the first such attack during the country's ongoing crisis, according to a Lebanese army source. The warplanes entered 1 kilometer into Lebanese airspace and struck the town of Kerbet Younan in the Wadi al-Khayl region of Arsal, Al Jazeera reported, citing military sources. "Syrian planes bombed the border between Lebanon and Syria but I cannot yet say if they hit Lebanese territory or only Syrian territory," Lebanese news website Naharnet quoted the military official said, speaking on condition of anonymity. No injuries were reported. An army patrol has been dispatched to the border region to determine whether the Syrian missile hit Lebanese territory, or the two countries' shared border, Naharnet reported.

Headline: Lebanon tensions after Sunnis attacked in Shiite areas

Tensions flared in Beirut overnight after three Sunni clerics were attacked in two separate incidents in majority Shiite areas of the Lebanese capital, sparking angry demonstrations. "Sheikhs Mazen Hariri and Ahmad Fakhran of Dar al-Fatwa were attacked (Sunday night) in the area of Khandaq al-Ghamiq, while on their way to the Mohamed al-Amin Mosque," Lebanon's official National News Agency reported Monday. Dar al-Fatwa is Lebanon's top Sunni clerical body. As news of the attacks spread, protesters took the streets near Makassed Hospital, demanding the arrest of the attackers and laying burning tyres across roads to block traffic. In a statement issued around midnight, the military said it had arrested several suspects in the two attacks. "Following the attacks on several clerics in the areas of Khandaq al-Ghamiq and Shiyah, an army patrol went to the homes of the perpetrators and was able to arrest five of them," the military said. It added that the military was continuing to search for additional suspects in the attacks. The incident comes amid fears in Lebanon of rising tensions between the country's religious and political groups, with the civil war in neighbouring Syria threatening to exacerbate existing divides between Lebanon's communities.

Headline: Saudis stage anti-regime demonstration in Buraidah

Headline: Saudi cleric urges Riyadh to adopt reforms or face rising outrage

Saudis have once again taken to the streets in the central city of Buraidah to demand the release of political prisoners, despite a protest ban by Al Saud regime on demonstrations. The protesters on Monday called for the immediate release of political prisoners including a group of women who were arrested recently during a rally in the city. On March 1, Saudi security forces arrested over 300 protesters, including 15 women, after hundreds of people gathered outside the investigation and prosecution bureau in Buraidah to demand the release of political prisoners. Protests against the ruling Al Saud dynasty have recently spread from the Eastern Province to other parts of the kingdom, with people of Buraidah threatening to stage a revolution against the regime.

Headline: Egyptian security forces clash with protesters outside Brotherhood HQ in Cairo

Egypt's security forces have clashed with protesters outside Muslim Brotherhood (MB) headquarters in the capital city, Cairo. On Sunday, the security forces guarding the MB headquarters in Mouqatam district, near central Cairo, fired tear gas to disperse dozens of protesters who were hurling stones at the guards. The demonstrators staged the protest against what they called an assault on journalists. The protest came a day after the MB supporters attacked a cameraman and a group of journalists covering a meeting between Brotherhood Supreme Guide Mohamed Badie and Hamas leader Khaled Meshaal outside the headquarters of the party. Earlier on Sunday, the Egyptian security forces intensified their presence in the area to prevent the protesters' likely attacks into the building. On Sunday afternoon, hundreds of protesters took to the streets of Cairo, chanting slogans against President Mohamed Morsi and holding banners which read, "Down with Brotherhood rule."

Headline: Anarchy on the streets of Egypt as lynch mob strip, beat and hang two men accused of stealing rickshaw in front of baying crowd

They are horrific pictures which highlight the worrying deterioration in Egypt's security. Two men - accused of stealing a motorised rickshaw - were badly beaten by vigilantes, stripped half-naked and hung by their feet in a crowded bus station in the Nile Delta. A baying crowd of 3,000 people watched, with some shouting 'kill them'. Both men died. The lynchings came a week after the attorney general's office encouraged civilians to arrest lawbreakers and hand them over to police. It was one of the most extreme cases of vigilantism in two years of sharp deterioration in security following Egypt's 2011 uprising. The worsening security coupled with a police strike prompted the attorney general's call for citizen arrests last week. The scene was emblematic of the chaos that is sweeping the country, mired in protests over a range of social, economic and political problems and with security breaking down to frightening proportions.

New King James Version (NKJV)

24 Damascus has grown feeble;
She turns to flee,
And fear has seized her.
Anguish and sorrows have taken her like a woman in labor.
25 Why is the city of praise not deserted, the city of My joy?
26 Therefore her young men shall fall in her streets,
And all the men of war shall be cut off in that day," says the LORD of hosts.
27 "I will kindle a fire in the wall of Damascus,
And it shall consume the palaces of Ben-Hadad."^[a]

Headline: 12 candidates for Syrian rebel interim prime minister

Syria's main opposition coalition began a push Monday to form an interim government to provide services to people living in parts of the country now controlled by rebel forces. The effort is the most serious yet by the forces opposing President Bashar Assad to establish a rival administration and bring together all the factions working to topple his government. They have no guarantee of success. Two previous attempts to form an interim government failed because of divisions within the group, the Syrian National Coalition, and some members said before the meeting Monday in Istanbul that it was unclear whether they would agree this time. Many have also complained of insufficient international support for their initiative.

Headline: Damascus districts shelled, students arrested

Syrian rebels on Sunday seized a Syrian military intelligence compound in the southern Hauran Plain near the Golan Heights, rebel commanders said. The frontier, quiet since Israel and Syria agreed on a U.S.-brokered ceasefire in 1974, has turned volatile in recent weeks, after opposition brigades stepped up attacks against army and intelligence compounds dotting the agricultural plain stretching from the border with Jordan to the Damascus outskirts. The compound near the Yarmouk River in the town of Shagara, 8 km from a ceasefire line with Israel, fell after a five-day siege, the sources said. "We have completely taken over this security compound this morning. It's a command centre for the shabbiha (pro-Assad militia). They retreated after strong blows dealt to them during a five day siege," said Abu Iyas al-Haurani, a member of the Yarmouk Martyrs Brigade. "Anyone who was arrested in the Yarmouk Valley was sent to this military intelligence headquarters to be tortured and it has a strategic importance. With its fall we have completed our liberation of the town of Shagara," he added.

Headline: Iran Warns Obama: We Also Have Options on the Table

Iran launched a domestically built destroyer in the Caspian Sea on Sunday, its first deployment of a major warship in the oil-rich region, state TV reported. President Mahmoud Ahmadinejad inaugurated the guided missile destroyer Jamaran-2 in the port city of Anzali, about 250 kilometers (150 miles) northwest of Tehran. He said the deployment aimed to bolster peace and friendship in the region. "The destroyer is there to meet those who want to jeopardize the security of surrounding nations," he said, without elaborating. There are multiple disputes between the nations that surround the Caspian — Iran, Russia, Azerbaijan, Kazakhstan and Turkmenistan — on how the inland sea should be divided. After final tests, the report said, Jamaran-2 will join Iran's naval fleet in the sea in coming months. The 1,400-ton destroyer, which has a helicopter landing pad, is 94 meters (yards) long and can cruise at 30 knots. It is equipped with surface-to-surface and surface-to-air missiles as well as anti-aircraft batteries and sophisticated radar and communications terminals, the report said.

Headline: Bombings in Iraq's Basra Kill 10 People

Iraq's southern city of Basra has been hit by a rare double car bombing, with at least 10 people killed and 16 others wounded. The most serious attack happened Sunday at a bus terminal in a town on the outskirts of Basra. Provincial security committee chief Ali al-Maliki said 10 people were killed. Minutes earlier, another car bomb exploded in a parking lot in central Basra, wounding several people. There was no immediate claim of responsibility for the attacks in and around the normally-peaceful port city, which is predominantly Shi'ite. Minority Sunni militants linked to al-Qaida frequently attack Shi'ite targets to try to undermine the government of Shi'ite Iraqi Prime Minister Nouri al-Maliki. Many Iraqi Sunnis have been staging protests against Mr. Maliki in recent months, accusing him of discriminating against their community. Al-Qaida has been trying to exploit that discontent to trigger a sectarian civil war.

Headline: Thousands of Tunisians hold anti-government demo in Tunis

Thousands of Tunisians have held an anti-government demonstration in the capital Tunis, amid political crisis in the North African nation. The protest rally took place on Saturday in the city where protesters also marked the 40th day of mourning after the murder of Tunisia's leading leftist opposition leader Shokri Belaid. Demonstrators reportedly chanted slogans against the ruling Ennahda Party. The protesters chanted slogans such as "Ennahda go" and "The people want to bring down the regime." During the protest, Belaid's widow Basma said "They killed Shokri but they cannot kill the values of freedom defended by him." The assassination of Belaid outside his home in the capital in early February triggered violent demonstrations across the country, with the headquarters of the ruling Ennahda party being attacked in more than a dozen cities.

Headline: Vote on Cyprus bank tax plan delayed until Tuesday

Headline: Euro, Stocks Drops; Gold, German Bonds Rally on Cyprus

Residents of Cyprus reacted with shock yesterday after the government agreed to a €10 billion (HK$101 billion) bailout that includes an unprecedented levy on all bank deposits. The debt rescue package, agreed with the euro zone and International Monetary Fund earlier in the day in Brussels, is significantly less than the €17 billion Cyprus had initially sought. But it includes €5.8 billion to be raised through the bank deposit levy of up to 9.9 per cent, which will apply to everyone from pensioners to Russian oligarchs and tens of thousands of British expats. At the same time, a "withholding tax" would be imposed on interest on bank deposits, and Cyprus will have to hike corporate tax to 12.5 per cent from 10 per cent and sell off state assets to help balance the public finances. The levy will see deposits of more than €100,000 hit with a 9.9 per cent charge when lenders reopen their doors after a scheduled public holiday tomorrow. Under that threshold and the levy drops to 6.75 per cent. Though it was reached too late for Cyprus newspapers, and other forms of traditional media were caught unawares, the bailout deal prompted some to queue up outside banks to withdraw cash from ATMs.

Headline: Europe Recoils In Shock After Bankster Raid, US Warned Is Next

A truly grim Ministry of Finance (MOF) report circulating in the Kremlin today says that a state of "horror and shock" has descended upon the European Union this weekend after the unprecedented announcement that all of the bank depositors in Cyprus will be forced to give up a percentage of their savings in order to bailout their EU bankster overlords. According to this report, EU officials demanded on Saturday that Cypriot savers pay up to 10 percent of their savings deposits as a condition for the €10 billion ($13 billion) bailout of their banking system. Newly elected Cypriot President Nicos Anastasiades, according to Western news sources, stated that refusing the bailout would lead to the collapse of the island's two largest banks, badly singed by their exposure to bailed-out neighbour Greece. Aside from all Europeans savings accounts now being threatened, this MOF report says, the American people are, perhaps, those in the greatest danger of this happening to them as Forbes financial magazine warned in their 29 December 2012 article "Watch Out: Your 401(k) Is Being Targeted" that "Washington has a bull's-eye on every American's 401(k)". A 401(k) account is the common name in the United States for the tax qualified defined contribution pension plan which a vast number of Americans use to secure their retirement and currently holds nearly €2.5 trillion ($3 trillion) of these peoples wealth, and is ripe for the taking by their bankster elites. Even worse for the American people, this report says, was the Obama regime revealing its shocking plan this past week to give all US spy agencies full access to a massive database that contains financial data on their citizens so even more monies can be plundered from these already economically weary peoples.

Headline: Egypt could join BRICS countries to form E-BRICS: President Morsi

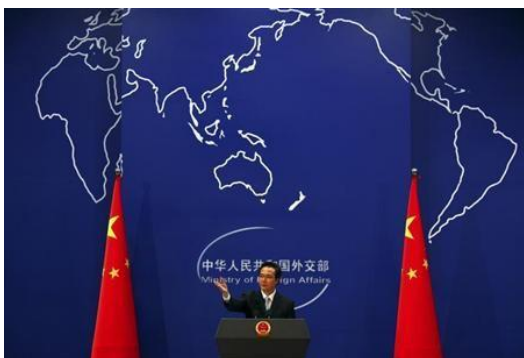

A group of residents near the Egyptian town of Mahala shot dead a man suspected of stealing a truck on the same day that two other alleged thieves of a rickshaw were strung up by their feet, highlighting the nation’s security vacuum. The cases yesterday in the two Nile Delta towns, reported by the state-run Ahran Gate, occurred days after Egyptian authorities encouraged civilians to detain suspected criminals at a time when security forces have been largely absent from the streets, in some cases because they are on strike for better wages and equipment. “In absence of adequate state security, people are killing and lynching suspected offenders,” Nobel Laureate Mohamed ElBaradei, who is an opposition leader, said on his Twitter account. “Law and order is our immediate priority.”

Vigilante incidents, increasingly common in the two years since Hosni Mubarak’s ouster, have become symptomatic of the growing chaos in Egypt as President Mohamed Mursi struggles to revive an economy reeling from its slowest growth in two decades, rising inflation and dwindling foreign reserves. “This is a natural reaction to the fact that people have been feeling insecure over the past two years,” Ziad Akl, senior analyst at Al Ahran Center for Political and Strategic Studies, said in a phone interview today.

Headline: China criticizes U.S. anti-missile North Korea plan

Headline: N Korea warns world of nuclear war breakout

China said on Monday U.S. plans to bolster missile defenses in response to provocations by North Korea would only intensify antagonism, and urged Washington to act prudently. "The anti-missile issue has a direct bearing on global and regional balance and stability. It also concerns mutual strategic interests between countries," Chinese Foreign Ministry spokesman Hong Lei told a daily news briefing. U.S. Defense Secretary Chuck Hagel announced plans on Friday to bolster U.S. missile defenses in response to "irresponsible and reckless provocations" by North Korea, which has threatened a preemptive nuclear strike against the United States. Hong said China believed efforts to increase security and resolve the problem of nuclear proliferation were best achieved through diplomatic means. "Actions such as strengthening anti-missile (defenses) will intensify antagonism and will not be beneficial to finding a solution for the problem," Hong said. This comes just after NORTH KOREA threatened to target the prime minister of South Korea and told residents to evacuate islands within range of its artillery, warning the world that "a nuclear war may break out". Military sources in Seoul said the North Koreans test-fired two short-range missiles into the Sea of Japan on Friday

Headline: Obama Administration Caves to Putin on Missile Shield for Europe

Buried in the news made late Friday made by Defense Secretary Chuck Hagel that the U.S. planned to deploy missile interceptors in Alaska and California was the equally important news that the Obama administration was going to stop long-held plans to fully deploy a missile shield in Eastern Europe. The Pentagon insisted that the change in deployment had nothing to do with trying to assuage Russia and everything with the threat from North Korea, which in recent months has sent a long-range missile into space, detonated a nuclear device, and, last week, sent a barrage of missiles into the Sea of Japan. But the issue of the missile shield has long been seen as a sign of NATO's commitment to protect Europe and former Soviet satellite states against a potentially belligerent Russia, which has made the anti-missile deployment a key target in their diplomatic efforts with the U.S.

Prophecy Sign: Animal Deaths Hosea 4:1-3 & Ezekiel 38:20 & Zephaniah 1:3

"I will consume man and beast; I will consume the birds of the heavens, The fish of the sea, And the stumbling blocks along with the wicked. I will cut off man from the face of the land," Says the LORD."
(Zephaniah)

"There is no faithfulness, no love, no acknowledgment of God in the land. There is only cursing, lying and murder, stealing and adultery; they break all bounds, and bloodshed follows bloodshed. Because of this the land mourns, and all who live in it waste away; the beasts of the field and the birds of the air and the fish of the sea are dying. [Hosea 4:1-3]

The fish of the sea, the birds of the air, the beasts of the field, every creature that moves along the ground, and all the people on the face of the earth will tremble at my presence. The mountains will be overturned, the cliffs will crumble and every wall will fall to the ground. [Ezekiel 38:20]

Headline: Historic number of sea lions washing up in S. California — Has reached "epidemic proportions" — Center declares state of emergency

Along Southern California's pristine coastline, ailing sea lions are turning up in record numbers. "We have a lot of little pups this year," said veterinarian Lauren Palmer [...] Usually, around this time of year, there might be a dozen sick sea lions in San Pedro, said David Bard, operations director for the San Pedro Marine Mammal Care Center. But so far, the care center has taken in nearly 200 and counting. Last week alone, there were 50 new cases. [...] Last week, the Pacific Marine Mammal Center in Laguna Beach declared their organization in a "state of emergency" as it continues to see an onslaught of California sea lion pups in need of medical attention. CBS Los Angeles, March 12, 2013: Marine Mammal Center Declares State Of Emergency For Sea Lion Pups [...] "It's absolutely in crisis mode in our center, there are currently 88 marine mammals being treated there," said head of development Melissa Sciacca [...] Sciacca also says that most of the sea lion pups are coming ashore severely malnourished and dehydrated, and that the problem has reached "epidemic proportions" along the Orange County coast.

Prophecy Sign: Apostasy & Alternative Lifestyles Amos 8:11, 1 Timothy 4:1-3 & Romans 1:26-27

"Now the Spirit expressly says that in latter times some will depart from the faith, giving heed to deceiving spirits and doctrines of demons, ² speaking lies in hypocrisy, having their own conscience seared with a hot iron, ³ forbidding to marry, and commanding to abstain from foods which God created to be received with thanksgiving by those who believe and know the truth." (1 Timothy)

"Behold, the days are coming," says the Lord GOD, "That I will send a famine on the land, Not a famine of bread, Nor a thirst for water, But of hearing the words of the LORD." (Amos)

"For this reason God gave them up to vile passions. For even their women exchanged the natural use for what is against nature. Likewise also the men, leaving the natural use of the woman, burned in their lust for one another, men with men committing what is shameful and receiving in themselves the penalty of their error which was due”(Romans)

Headline: Hillary Clinton announces support for gay marriage

Former Secretary of State Hillary Rodham Clinton is announcing her support for gay marriage. In an online video released Monday, Clinton says gays and lesbians deserve “the rights of citizenship.” She says “that includes marriage.” Clinton’s announcement puts her in line with other potential Democratic presidential candidates for the 2016 election, including Vice President Joe Biden and New York Gov. Andrew Cuomo. Republican Sen. Rob Portman of Ohio also announced his support for gay marriage Friday.

Prophecy Sign: Persecution Matthew 24:9 & Revelation 6:9

“Then they will deliver you up to tribulation and kill you, and you will be hated by all nations for My name’s sake.” (Matthew)

“When He opened the fifth seal, I saw under the altar the souls of those who had been slain for the word of God and for the testimony which they held.” (Revelation)

Headline: Priest: Boko Haram destroyed 50 churches

Boko Haram militants in Nigeria destroyed 50 of Borno state's Catholic churches, a priest charged. The Rev. Jerome Ituah of Christ the King Catholic Parish in Kurudu, a populated area of the Abuja Capital Territory, made the accusation Saturday, saying he witnessed the destruction, Leadership Newspapers reported. "Out of the 52 Catholic churches in Maiduguri diocese, 50 of them have been destroyed by Boko Haram. Yet the faithful are not discouraged of their faith. You would always see them worshipping under rain and sun in open places at the site of their destroyed places of worship," Ituah said. Ituah, who was in Maiduguri to lead a retreat with priests and the bishop of the diocese there, called on Catholics in Kurudu to pray for their counterparts in Maiduguri and elsewhere in northern Nigeria.

Prophecy Sign: EARTHQUAKES/WEATHER

(Isaiah 24:19-20 , Matthew 24:7 , Mark 13:8 , Luke 21:11 , Luke 21:25 - storms)

Headline: Aucklanders shaken as quake hits under volcano

Two earthquakes within minutes of each other have rattled Aucklanders and put cracks in some driveways, but experts say it's nothing to worry about. The first quake, registering just over three on the Richter scale, hit just after 4pm and was felt in parts of Auckland. A bigger 3.9 quake centred on Motutapu Island beside the volcano Rangitoto sent many scurrying into the streets. Although the quakes were small, both were shallow, at less than 6km deep. Auckland is believed to be far from major fault lines, but the city is built on a field of more than 40 volcanoes, the youngest of which – Rangitoto – blew up only 700 years ago.

The Arab Spring in Prophecy

(Perilous Times Luke 21:9 & Nation against Nation, Kingdom against Kingdom Matt.24:7)

(Revelation 6:3-4 Revelation 6:8)

“For nation shall rise against nation,
and kingdom against kingdom.
There will be earthquakes in various places, and there will be famines and sedition; these are the beginning of the labor pains.”

Mark 13:8

UNREST

Luke 21:9 and Matthew 24:7 speak of nation against nation and kingdom against kingdom in the end times. Revelation 6:3-4 speaks of the fiery red horse given power to make men slay one another and Revelation 6:8 speaks again of this red horse in conjunction with the pale horse of Death and Hades, as the one that has the power to kill by sword. I like to call this “The Arab Spring in Prophecy” because for us it is easy to identify- that’s what the world calls it.

Luke 21:9: wars & commotions; the Greek word here is Akatastasia, meaning instability, a state of disorder, disturbance, confusion (revolutions)

Matthew 24:7: the Greek word for nation is Ethnos & refers to various ethnic groups fighting among themselves, where the next sentence in the verse refers to kingdoms (basileiva) fighting one another (not to be confused with an actual kingdom but rather the right or authority to rule over a kingdom) I have tried to separate it into areas that sweep EAST from the point of North America.

Headline: Somalia's capital Mogadishu hit by deadly car bomb

At least eight people have been killed and 20 wounded in a car bomb in the centre of Somalia's capital, Mogadishu, police and hospital staff have said. The BBC's Mohamed Moalimuu at the scene says a suicide bomber blew up the car near the presidential palace. The scene is one of utter destruction, with body parts scattered across a wide area, he says. Somalia's al-al-Shabab group, which is linked to al-Qaeda, said it carried out the attack. Prime Minister Abdi Farah Shirdon said the attack - which left Mogadishu's intelligence chief wounded - was cowardly. Security had improved in Mogadishu since al-Shabab withdrew from the city in August 2011, following an offensive by African Union (AU) troops. But this is one of the most deadly attacks in the coastal city since a new UN-backed Somali government was formed last year.

Headline: Qaeda calls for new recruits to fight France: SITE monitoring

Al-Qaeda in the Islamic Maghreb (AQIM) has appealed for new recruits from North African Arab countries in its fight against what it said was France's Crusader campaign in Mali, a U.S.-based intelligence monitoring website reported on Sunday. SITE said the appeal was posted on websites used by AQIM on Saturday, urging Islamist militants being pursued by their governments to join its fighters battling French-led forces in Mali or Algeria. France launched a ground and air operation in Mali in January to break Islamist rebels' hold on the region, saying the militants posed a risk to the security of West Africa and Europe. "The front of the Islamic Maghreb today is in direst need of the support of the sons of Tunisia, Morocco, Libya, and Mauritania, to thwart the attack of Crusader France and defeat its agents in the region, and empower the Islamic project," AQIM said, according to a translation of the statement emailed by SITE.

Headline: Riot police open fire as Kenyan protesters challenge election results

Kenyan security forces cracked down on demonstrators on Saturday, as crowds gathered to support the defeated presidential candidate Raila Odinga's supreme court challenge to the results of the 4 March elections. Odinga refuses to concede to Uhuru Kenyatta, whom Kenya's Independent Electoral and Boundaries Commission declared winner with 50.07% of the vote. Odinga's lawyers have filed a petition alleging the elections were not free and fair due to irregularities in the commission's methods. Odinga accused the commission of "criminal neglect" during the election before sending his lawyers to court. Odinga said the commission was at fault for lack of transparency, discrepancies in vote tallies and registers, and the breakdown of electronic voter identification kits and results transmission systems. "At many polling stations, the valid votes cast exceeded the number of registered voters," he further alleged. "These failures dwarf anything Kenyans have ever witnessed in any previous elections."

Headline: Bahraini regime forces attack demonstrators in Sitra

Bahraini forces have launched another attack on a peaceful demonstration held near Manama to call for democracy and the downfall of the ruling Al Khalifa regime, Press TV reports. On Sunday, Bahraini troops attacked protesters in the northeastern island of Sitra, who were chanting anti-regime slogans. The regime forces fired teargas canisters and stun grenades to disperse the demonstrators. Activists say several protesters sustained injuries as a result. The Bahraini uprising began in mid-February 2011, when the people, inspired by the popular revolutions that toppled the dictators of Tunisia and Egypt, started holding massive demonstrations.

Headline: South Yemen radicals stage strike in Aden, call protests

Police shot dead a protester in the historic southeastern Yemeni city of Tarim during a demonstration Monday against a national dialogue that opened in the capital, an activist said. The protester was killed "by police gunfire during clashes with demonstrators protesting against the dialogue," Southern Movement activist Fuad Rashid told AFP. Another activist was wounded while police arrested four others in the town located in the southeastern Hadramawt province, said Rashid. The protests come as Yemen, the only country where an Arab Spring revolt led to a negotiated settlement, launched Monday a UN-backed national dialogue, which is to run for six months. Hardline members of the Southern Movement are boycotting the dialogue, which is to pave the way for the drafting of a new constitution that will lead to legislative elections.

Headline: Suicide attack kills 4 in judicial complex

Terrorists stormed a judicial complex in Peshawar, Pakistan, where a suicide bomber detonated his explosives, killing at least four people Monday, police said. A local government official told Express News three officials were killed in the explosion. Police said terrorists tried to enter a courtroom where one detonated his explosives and the other was shot and killed by police, Geo News reported. Four police officers and several lawyers were among the 30 people injured in the attack, Geo News reported. The Khyber Pakhtunkhwa Bar Council said it would strike to protest the attack.
