Headline: Eviction notices in Harvard promote 'Israel Apartheid Week'

The battle for the American student public continues, with pro-Palestinian Harvard students posting mock eviction notices on the doors of student dorms on campus, warning students their homes are scheduled for demolition. "This may seem harsh, but this is the state of affairs in the West Bank," say the notices posted on March 2, promoting the "Israeli Apartheid Week" organized by the Harvard Palestine Solidarity Committee. Should the university respond harshly to the action or the contents of the "Israeli Apartheid Week," Steinberg said, "then the group can allege that they are being singled out for official censure, that the University is complicit with the Israeli actions they decry, that their freedom of speech is being abrogated." Robert Trestan, acting director of the Anti Defamation League's New England region, said that "This tactic is designed to silence and intimidate pro-Israel advocates at Harvard and campuses around the country." The "Israeli Apartheid Week" events, which are scheduled to kick off Thursday at Harvard, include an "apartheid wall" in the shape of the West Bank security fence, which will be set up in a campus plaza; a screening of Academy Award-nominated documentary "Five Broken Cameras," a joint Israeli-Palestinian production; and a lecture by renowned Jewish leftist and linguist Noam Chomsky.

Security service are on increased alert for disturbances at the end of Friday's Muslim prayers in eastern Jerusalem as well as Judea and Samaria (Shomron). Among the reasons for the increased alert is yesterday's death of Mohammed Asfour of the Samaritan Palestinian Authority village of Abud, from wounds suffered in a February demonstration following the death of confessed Hebron-area stone thrower Arafat Jaradat in an Israeli prison.

Jerusalem police entered the Temple Mount on Friday following afternoon prayers, after worshipers began throwing stones and Molotov cocktails at police forces on the Mugrabi bridge. Police used stun grenades in order to disperse the crowds. Nine policemen were lightly hurt in the incident, three of them received treatment on the scene while six were evacuated to Hadassah University Medical Center in Jerusalem's Ein Kerem, a police spokesman said. Palestinian media said at least 15 protesters were injured. Clashes were also expected in the West Bank at the funeral of a Palestinian who died of his wounds on Thursday after being shot by IDF soldiers during a confrontation with stone-throwers two weeks ago.

Headline: Israel Asked UN Not to Remove Forces from the Golan

Headline: Eight UN peacekeepers abandon posts near Syria, retreat to Israeli territory

Israel has approached the UN and UNDOF (the multinational force charged with monitoring the ceasefire between Israeli and Syrian troops on the Golan Heights), requesting that the forces' activity not be impaired due to the kidnapping of 21 peacekeepers by Syrian rebels. According to a report on the Israel Defense website on Thursday, Israel also requested that the forces not be removed or their numbers reduced due to the kidnapping incident, which is considered UNDOF's most serious since its establishment. The request comes after Croatia already began removing its soldiers from the border in April 2012 over concern for their lives, said the report. On Wednesday the UN confirmed that 21 observers had been detained by approximately 30 armed rebels in the Golan Heights on the Syria-Israel border. The confirmation came in response to a video posted on the Internet that portrayed men claiming to be Syrian rebels standing next to vehicles marked with the letters "UN". The rebels are demanding that President Bashar Al-Assad's forces withdraw from the outskirts of the village of Jamla in exchange for the release of the peacekeepers. Meanwhile, eight peacekeepers from the United Nations Disengagement Force abandoned their posts near southern Syria on Friday, and traveled to the Israel-Syria border. The soldiers that made their way to Israel serve in the same battalion as a group of soldiers from the Philippines who were kidnapped by Syrian rebels earlier this week. In light of continued fighting between Syrian forces and rebels in the village of Jamala, the UN peacekeepers feared for their lives, and decided to "retreat" into Israeli territory.

Headline: Philippines: Syrian Rebels Remain Firm on Hostage Demands

Intense Syrian army bombardment prevented a convoy of United Nations vehicles on Friday from reaching and retrieving 21 UN peacekeepers seized by rebels near the Golan Heights two days ago, a rebel spokesman said. Abu Essam Taseel said the convoy had reached the village of Nafea, about a kilometer (half a mile) east of Jamla where the Filipino peacekeepers were held on Wednesday, but was unable to venture further because of the bombardment. At the United Nations, peacekeeping chief Herve Ladsous said he hoped a brief ceasefire could be reached between the rebels and forces loyal to President Bashar Assad to allow the UN men to be taken to safety. "Our 21 peacekeepers are detained in the village of Jamla. Apparently they are safe, they have been spread into four locations within that village, in the basements of various houses," Ladsous said after briefing the Security Council. "That particular village (Jamla) is subject to intense shelling by the Syrian armed forces."

Headline: Former Iranian Official: The Countdown To Attacking Israel Has Begun – 'With Hopes Of Completely Eradicating It From The Planet'

In response to reports on a January 29, 2013 Israeli attack in Syria, Ali Reza Forghani, a supporter of Iranian Supreme Leader Ali Khamenei and former governor of Kish province, published an article titled "Countdown to an Attack on Israel," calling on Tehran and Syria to take this golden opportunity for a retaliatory strike against Israel that will destroy it once and for all. In the article, which was published on regime websites, Forghani stated that the war in Syria today is merely the prelude to a nuclear third world war between the "Axis," led by the U.S., and the "Allies," led by Iran, that will bring about the end of humanity.

Headline: Hezbollah training thousands in Bekaa Valley to turn tide in Syrian war

Sunni rebels have asserted that the Iranian-sponsored Hezbollah was organizing another major military expedition in Syria. The Free Syrian Army said Hezbollah was training thousands of fighters to quell the two-year revolt against the regime of President Bashar Assad. FSA said Hezbollah intends to deploy another 5,000 troops to the central Syrian city of Homs in March 2013. “They are preparing to send between 4,000-5,000 fighters to Syria via Homs over the next few days,” FSA said. In a statement on March 5, FSA reported Hezbollah training of new forces for the Syrian campaign. The statement said Hezbollah training was taking place in Lebanon’s Bekaa Valley near Mashghara. “They are establishing reconnaissance positions and deployment centers, some of them near the eight Syrian border towns occupied by the party, with the aim of providing protection and controlling the international highway connecting Damascus, Homs and the [Syrian] coast,” FSA said. FSA as well as other rebel groups have reported a massive escalation in the Hezbollah presence in Syria over the last three months. The rebels said more than 10,000 Hezbollah personnel were deployed in Syria, including participating in Syrian Army and Shabiha militia operations.

Headline: Activists are lying to stir protests: Saudi official

Saudis have staged anti-regime demonstrations in the capital, Riyadh, and the eastern city of Qatif to express support for jailed female protesters. The demonstrators called for the immediate release of a group of women who were arrested in the central city of Buraidah last week. Activists say Saudi security forces arrested over 300 protesters, including scores of women and children, on March 1, after hundreds of Saudis gathered outside the investigation and prosecution bureau in Buraidah to demand the release of political prisoners. Saudi authorities, however, claim that 161 people were arrested in connection with Buraidah protest and that they have so far freed some 100 of the detainees. Protests against the ruling Al Saud dynasty have recently spread from the Eastern Province to other parts of the kingdom, with people of Buraidah threatening to stage a revolution against the regime.

The Gamaa Islamiya group said Friday it is taking "full responsibility" of security in Assiut province, an Islamist stronghold. It said it was assembling volunteer members to act as police in the streets. Assiut security chief, Gen. An Egyptian protester was shot dead in overnight clashes in the restive city of Port Said when police fired on protesters outside their headquarters, a doctor said on Friday. Karim Sayid Abdel Aziz, 33, died of a bullet wound to the head, said Dr. Mohammed Arnous who treated him in a Port Said hospital. Abdel Aziz had been shot three times. A medic told AFP that 73 people were wounded in the clashes, including five people who suffered bullet wounds and 19 who were hit by birdshot. The clashes on Thursday resumed after protesters marched on the police headquarters, which they had already set ablaze on Tuesday, chanting "the interior ministry are thugs," an AFP correspondent reported. Protesters wearing surgical masks, scarves and hoods clashed with police wielding tear gas as violence in the Egyptian city of Port Said entered its fifth day. Police fired tear gas and then birdshot as soldiers, deployed in the city since late January, moved in to guard the police building.

Jeremiah 49:24-27

New King James Version (NKJV)

- 24 Damascus has grown feeble;
She turns to flee,
And fear has seized her.
Anguish and sorrows have taken her like a woman in labor.
- 25 Why is the city of praise not deserted, the city of My joy?
- 26 Therefore her young men shall fall in her streets,
And all the men of war shall be cut off in that day," says the LORD of hosts.
- 27 "I will kindle a fire in the wall of Damascus,
And it shall consume the palaces of Ben-Hadad."^[a]

The burden of Damascus. Behold, Damascus is taken away from being a city, and it shall be a ruinous heap.

The Arab League has issued a statement saying Arab states are free to offer military support to the Syrian rebels and has offered them a seat. The UK Foreign Secretary also announced Wednesday that the UK will increase aid to rebel forces in Syria. An Arab League statement issued at the end of a meeting of ministers in Cairo Wednesday said that Arab states should be able to offer military aid to rebels fighting President Assad. So far the League has said that the Syrian opposition should be supported only by humanitarian and diplomatic means. Separately, Arab League Secretary-General Nabil Elarby told a press conference that League ministers have formally invited the Syrian Opposition Coalition to send a representative to attend a league meeting to be held in Doha in April. Normally only nations with diplomatically recognized governments are represented in the league. Meanwhile, a new US-led contingency headquarters for joint US, Israeli, Jordanian and Turkish operations will go into action inside Syria if any or all these allies should come under chemical or biological attack. Agreement to establish this headquarters was finalized at the talks US Secretary of Defense Chuck Hagel held with visiting Israeli defense Minister Ehud Barak at the Pentagon Tuesday, March 5.

Headline: Syrian Rebels Accuse Assad of Deals with Israel

Syrian rebels have begun to show their colors with anti-Israel accusations claiming a clandestine deal between President Bashar al-Assad and the Jewish State and kidnapping United Nations peacekeeping forces. Businessman Piras Tlass, a member of the opposition, told the Al Arabiya television news network this week that the office of President Bashar al-Assad had arranged secret deals with Israel, among them a direct delivery of Syrian crude oil to the Jewish State. Tlass claimed Assad agents murdered former Prime Minister Mahmoud Zuabi because he planned to expose the agreements. Tlass, son of former Syrian Defense Secretary Mustafa Tlass, is the brother of Manaf Tlass, a former Brigadier-General in the Syrian Republican Guard and a member of Assad's inner circle who defected to Turkey in the summer of 2012. Turkey made a similar accusation last month, with Foreign Minister Ahmet Davutoglu claiming a secret alliance had been struck between the Syrian government and Israel following an alleged Israeli air strike on a chemical weapons processing facility near Damascus.

A top Syrian regime official thanked the BRICS group of emerging powers on Friday for its support, which she said had prevented Western military intervention and the "destruction" of the country.

Bouthaina Shaaban, a cabinet-level adviser to Syrian President Bashar al-Assad, told reporters in New Delhi that Damascus was grateful to the BRICS countries of Brazil, Russia, India, China and South Africa. "Thank God there is Russia and China and India and Brazil in the BRICS countries who at least are introducing reason into what is happening in the international community because otherwise we would have faced what Libya has faced," she said. Shabaan, who met with the Indian Foreign Minister Salman Khurshid, is touring the capitals of the BRICS bloc in a bid to marshal support for the Syrian president.

Supreme Leader Ayatollah Ali Khamenei has begun to tighten his grip on the process leading up to Iran's upcoming presidential elections in June. A campaign of arrests, beatings, public lashings and executions has followed a clear warning to Iranians not to contemplate another uprising similar to that which tried to land reformist Green Movement candidate Mir Hossein Moussavi as president in 2009. When the effort to unseat President Mahmoud Ahmadinejad failed despite what appeared to be overwhelming support for the candidate at the polls, accusations of vote-rigging followed, with days of massive demonstrations that spanned the country. The revolt was crushed with government brutality carried out by the elite Basij militia forces, who mercilessly beat and arrested thousands of protesters. Dozens were killed and many others "disappeared."

Iraqi officials say five people have been killed and two others injured in two separate attacks near Baghdad. Three police officers were killed in a shooting and a roadside bombing west of the capital on Wednesday, the Associated Press reported. According to police officials, who spoke on condition of anonymity, gunmen opened fire on a police checkpoint near the city of Ramadi, about 110 kilometers (68 miles) west of Baghdad, killing two policemen and two civilians. A police officer was killed and two others were injured after a roadside bomb ripped through their patrol vehicle in a western suburb of the capital. Hospital officials also confirmed the casualties. Meanwhile, at least nine people were killed in clashes on Friday when militant gunmen drove two cars up to a checkpoint north of Baghdad and opened fire on members of an Iraqi government-backed militia guarding the post, police said. Five "Sahwa" militia members and four militants were killed, including a suicide bomber whose explosive belt was detonated during the fighting which lasted about 20 minutes at the checkpoint in Samarra, 100 km (60 miles) north of the capital.

Iraq's agriculture minister quit on Friday in response to the killing of a protester in the northern city of Mosul, where police said they fired shots into the air to disperse a crowd of stone-throwing Sunni Muslim demonstrators. Ezz al-Din al-Dawla is the second Iraqi minister to announce his resignation over the handling of Sunni protests, which have been staged daily against the Shi'ite led-government since December. "I announce my resignation before the Iraqi people and my people in Mosul because there is no way to continue any longer with a government that does not respond to my people's demands," said Dawla, a member of the Sunni-backed Iraqiya Bloc, in a televised news conference. Iraq's finance minister told a crowd of Sunni protesters he was quitting earlier this month. Thousands of Sunnis took to the streets again in the cities of Mosul, Samarra, Kirkuk and in Anbar province on Friday. Their demands range from scrapping anti-terrorism laws they say are unfairly used against them, to overthrowing Shi'ite Prime Minister Nuri al-Maliki and tearing up the country's constitution.

Headline: Syria's Assad hails turkey anti-Erdogan opposition

President Bashar al-Assad on Thursday hailed Turkish opposition to Prime Minister Recep Tayyip Erdogan's backing for the revolt that began in Syria nearly two years ago, in a statement seen by AFP. The statement comes after Assad met a Turkish opposition delegation, which prompted Erdogan to issue a stinging criticism of the politicians, asking why they were meeting with "such a dictator." Assad told the Republican People's Party delegation there was "a need to distinguish between the stance of the Turkish people, who support stability in Syria, and the positions of Erdogan's government, which supports terrorism, extremism and destabilization in the region," it said. "The Syrian people appreciates the position adopted by forces and parties in Turkey that reject the Erdogan government's negative impact on our societies, which are multi-religious and multi-ethnic," Assad said.

Tunisia has captured an alleged Islamist cell linked to the Salafist movement and accused of killing an opposition leader. Officials said Tunisia has determined that the killers of opposition leader Chokri Belaid were linked to the Salafist movement. They said a Salafist-linked cell influenced by Al Qaida assassinated Belaid in an effort to intimidate secular critics of any Islamist regime in the North African state. Officials said the Salafist movement, aligned with the Renaissance Party, has spawned scores of operational and sleeper cells in an effort to take over Tunisia. They said the campaign included attacks on pro-Western elements in the country, including the U.S. embassy, universities, labor unions and places of entertainment. Meanwhile, Tunisia's prime minister has unveiled his new coalition government led by an Islamist party, after a deal was reached in last-minute talks aimed at ending the country's political crisis. Ali Larayedh, the prime minister-designate and the outgoing interior minister, said on Friday the new government, led by the Islamist Ennahda Party, will serve until an election is held before the end of the year.

Headline: Fitch Ratings Agency downgrades Italy citing political uncertainty

Fitch Ratings Agency has downgraded Italy's credit rating to BBB+ from A- with a warning of a further downgrade, citing the uncertainty created by February's inconclusive elections. Fitch on Friday said the failure to come up with a clear winner made "it unlikely that a stable new government can be formed in the next few weeks," thereby harming prospects of further reforms. The rating agency said Italy's recession was one of the deepest in Europe, with an expected contraction of 1.8 percent in 2013. Fitch added that the size of the country's debt as a proportion of its economy is expected to peak at 130 percent this year, higher than an earlier estimate of 125 percent. Talks on forming a new government aren't expected to begin before March 20.

The European Central Bank (ECB) has lowered its growth forecast for the eurozone in 2013, as the debt crisis is taking heavy toll on the 17-nation bloc. On Thursday, the ECB trimmed its growth forecast for this year to a midpoint of - 0.5 percent from a midpoint of - 0.3 percent announced previously in September 2012. In December 2012, ECB President Mario Draghi issued a statement saying "Available statistics and survey indicators continue to signal further weakness in activity in the last quarter of the year...weak activity is expected to extend into next year." Draghi also mentioned "uncertainties about the resolution of sovereign debt and governance issues in the euro area, geopolitical issues ..." as the risks that could hamper future economic growth. Europe plunged into financial crisis in early 2008. Insolvency now threatens heavily debt-ridden countries such as Greece, Portugal, and Spain.

With continued volatility in the gold and silver markets, today acclaimed money manager Stephen Leeb told King World News the Chinese accumulated a remarkable 1,500 tons of gold last year, and they are preparing to demand a second Bretton Woods type meeting. This is a stunning interview because it lays out how the bulls will win the gold war, and how China will force that victory. Here is what Leeb had to say in this exclusive interview, which is his most powerful ever: "The flow of power and gold is going from West to East. China may have accumulated a staggering 1,500 tons of gold last year alone. China's growth is now picking up steam as well. What is really stunning is how much the yuan has increased in terms of international transactions." Stephen Leeb continues: "The usage of the yuan in international transactions has been increasing at an unbelievable 170% per year. That's how fast the yuan has been increasing in terms of international transactions. So goes the gold, so goes the power, and you can see it in the prominence the yuan is gaining. The Chinese definitely have a plan here and that is to get control of gold....

Headline: Feds' $205B deficit in February dwarfs $85B in sequester cuts

The federal government posted a $205 billion deficit in the month of February, according to an early estimate by the Congressional Budget Office. That one-month figure is well more than twice the $85 billion in automatic spending cuts that Congress and President Obama are arguing over — a calculation that underscores how deep the federal deficit problem is. Still, the $205 billion deficit does mark an improvement compared to 2012, when the government notched a $232 billion deficit in February. CBO said the increase in the payroll tax on Jan. 1, coupled with lower spending on defense, has helped the government's bottom line. All told, the government is $495 billion in the red in fiscal 2013, which began Oct. 1. CBO releases a monthly estimate of the government's fiscal picture. The Treasury Department will release an official tally later this month.

Prophecy Sign: Wars & Rumors of Wars Matthew 24:6 , Revelation 6:3-4 & Revelation 6:8
“And you will hear of wars and rumors of wars. See that you are not troubled; for all these things must come to pass, but the end is not yet.” Revelation 6:3-4 speaks of the fiery red horse given power to make men slay one another and Revelation 6:8 speaks again of this red horse in conjunction with the pale horse of Death and Hades, as the one that has the power to kill by sword.

Prophecy Sign: Weapons of Mass Destruction Zechariah 14:12

“And this shall be the plague with which the LORD will strike all the people who fought against Jerusalem: Their flesh shall dissolve while they stand on their feet, Their eyes shall dissolve in their sockets, And their tongues shall dissolve in their mouths.”

Headline: China warns against N. Korean escalation

Pyongyang announced Friday that it is nullifying non-aggression pacts with South Korea and cutting the hotline with its neighbor. It comes after the UN Security Council adopted a resolution expanding sanctions against North Korea. North Korea "abrogates all agreements on non-aggression reached between the North and the South," the state-run Committee for the Peaceful Reunification of Korea said in a statement. "It notifies the South side that it will immediately cut off the North-South hotline," said the statement, carried by the official KCNA news agency. South Korean President Park Geun-hye warned North Korea of firm retaliation against any military strikes or other provocations "I will deal strongly with North Korea's provocations," Park said in a speech at a graduation ceremony for military cadets in Gyeryongdae, central South Korea. Seoul threatened North Korea that if Pyongyang “attacks South Korea with a nuclear weapon, Kim Jong-un’s regime will perish from the Earth.”

Prophecy Sign: Scorching Sun Isaiah 30:26 & Revelation 16:8-9

“Moreover the light of the moon will be as the light of the sun, And the light of the sun will be sevenfold, As the light of seven days, In the day that the LORD binds up the bruise of His people And heals the stroke of their wound.” (Isaiah 30:26) “Then the fourth angel poured out his bowl on the sun, and power was given to him to scorch men with fire.⁹ And men were scorched with great heat, and they blasphemed the name of God who has power over these plagues; and they did not repent and give Him glory.” (Revelation 16:8-9)

Prophecy Sign: Drought Jeremiah 50:38 & Isaiah 42:15

“A drought is against her waters, and they will be dried up. For it is the land of carved images, And they are insane with their idols.” “I will lay waste the mountains and hills, And dry up all their vegetation; I will make the rivers coastlands, And I will dry up the pools.”

Prophecy Sign: Famine Matthew 24:7 & Revelation 6:8

“For nation will rise against nation, and kingdom against kingdom. And there will be famines, pestilences, and earthquakes in various places.” “So I looked, and behold, a pale horse. And the name of him who sat on it was Death, and Hades followed with him. And power was given to them over a fourth of the earth, to kill with sword, with hunger, with death, and by the beasts of the earth.”

Headline: India suffers through worst drought in nearly 50 years: warns of famine if rains fail

Millions of people in western India are suffering their worst drought in more than four decades, with critics blaming official ineptitude and corruption for exacerbating the natural water shortage. Central areas of Maharashtra state, of which Mumbai is the capital, are facing a water shortage worse than the severe drought in 1972, the state’s chief minister Prithviraj Chavan told AFP. “In recorded history, the reservoirs have never been so low in central Maharashtra,” he said. “With every passing day the reservoirs are drying up.” Chavan blamed the crisis on two successive poor monsoons, although others say a public policy failure is also responsible. Nearly 2,000 tanker trucks are being used to transport drinking water to the needy, while hundreds of cattle camps have been set up to keep livestock alive until the monsoon, which usually arrives in June. “With every passing day, the tankers have to travel a greater distance. It’s a huge logistical issue,” Chavan said. The chief minister’s office could not put an exact figure on the population in the 10,000 villages affected, but said it ran into millions.

Headline: New Zealand Declares Drought In Key Farming Regions

The New Zealand government declared a drought in key farming areas on the North Island on Wednesday, with no significant rainfall in more than three months threatening to cost the economy NZ$1 billion ($828.35 million). The affected areas include the major dairy producing Waikato, south of the country's biggest city Auckland, and horticultural regions Bay of Plenty and Hawkes Bay.

"This extended period of hot and dry weather over the last couple of months has left dairy and sheep and beef farmers alike with parched paddocks and burnt and stunted feed crops," said James Houghton, Waikato president of the Federated Farmers group. The official drought declaration gives farmers access to financial and social support. Some of the affected regions have had around a third of their average rainfall this year, and only light falls are expected for the rest of the month.

Headline: Global warming is epic, long-term study says

Global warming has propelled Earth's climate from one of its coldest decades since the last ice age to one of its hottest -- in just one century. A heat spike like this has never happened before, at least not in the last 11,300 years, said climatologist Shaun Marcott, who worked on a new study on global temperatures going back that far. "If any period in time had a sustained temperature change similar to what we have today, we would have certainly seen that in our record," he said. It is a good indicator of just how fast man-made climate change has progressed. A century is a very short period of time for such a spike.

Headline: CDC warns health officials about deadly new virus: kills nearly 6 in 10

Headline: Doctors warned to be vigilant for warn new deadly virus sweeping the globe from Middle East

The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) on Thursday warned state and local health officials about potential infections from a deadly virus previously unseen in humans that has now sickened 14 people and killed 8. Most of the infections have occurred in the Middle East, but a new analysis of three confirmed infections in Britain suggests the virus can pass from person to person rather than from animal to humans, the CDC said in its Weekly Morbidity and Mortality Report on Thursday. The virus is a coronavirus, part of the same family of viruses as the common cold and the deadly outbreak of Severe Acute Respiratory Syndrome (SARS) that first emerged in Asia in 2003.

The new virus is not the same as SARS, but like the SARS virus, it is similar to those found in bats. So far, no cases have been reported in the United States. According to the CDC's analysis, the infections in Britain started with a 60-year-old man who had recently traveled to Pakistan and Saudi Arabia and developed a respiratory illness on January 24, 2013. Samples from the man showed he was infected with both the new virus and with H1N1, or swine flu.

Headline: Muslims murder 13 Christian factory workers "in gruesome manner"

The Christian Association of Nigeria, CAN has urged the authorities to probe the gruesome killing of 13 factory workers identified as Christians at Sheka, Sharada Phase 111 in Kumbotso Local Government Area of Kano, by gunmen suspected to be Boko Haram members. Although CAN has started its own probe of the killings, it wants the police to unravel what really happened. Reports said terrorists stormed the residence of the factory workers at the weekend and killed all the men except, sparing the women and children.. “The occupants of that compound are mostly factory workers, and they are Christians. The gun men who came in taxi asked if they were not observing the evening Muslim prayers; and when they confirmed their victims were Christians, they started killing them sparing only the female and children.

Prophecy Sign: Signs in Heaven Luke21:25a

“And there will be signs in the sun, in the moon, and in the stars; and on the earth distress of nations, with perplexity, the sea and the waves roaring”

Headline: Days notice: another newly discovered asteroid to buzz Earth this weekend

A newly discovered asteroid the size of a football field will cruise through Earth's neighborhood this weekend, just days after another space rock made an even closer approach to our planet. The 330-foot-wide (100 meters) asteroid 2013 ET will miss Earth by 600,000 miles (960,000 kilometers) when it zips by on Saturday. The space rock flyby will come just days after the 33-foot (10 m) asteroid 2013 EC approached within 230,000 miles (370,000 km) of us early Monday. When asteroid 2013 ET passes Earth, it will be at a range equivalent to 2.5 times the distance between the planet and the moon, making it too faint and far away for most stargazers to spot in the night sky. But the Virtual Telescope Project in Italy, run by astrophysicist Gianluca Masi, will webcast a live telescope view of the space rock's flyby on Friday, beginning at 2 p.m. EST. There is no danger that 2013 ET will hit Earth, researchers say, just as 2013 EC posed no threat. But their flybys are slightly unsettling nonetheless, since both asteroids were discovered mere days ago.

Indonesia scientists say they are closely monitoring a smoking volcano on Java Island, urging villagers and tourists to stay off the mountain's slope. Government volcanologist Hendra Gunawan said Thursday that Mount Tangkuban Perahu in West Java province shot up smoke and ash nearly 500 meters (1,640 feet) into the air since Monday, and was placed at the second-highest alert level. Around 1,500 people were evacuated today after the Tangkuban Perahu volcano in Western Java spewed lava and ash. According to a National Volcanology Agency report published by the Indonesian Antara News agency, the volcano began to spew volcanic material during the early morning and later the mountain spewed a 200 meter high column of ash.

The Arab Spring in Prophecy

(Perilous Times Luke 21:9 & Nation against Nation, Kingdom against Kingdom Matt.24:7)
(Revelation 6:3-4 Revelation 6:8)

Mark 13:8

CIVIL UNREST

Luke 21:9 and Matthew 24:7 speak of nation against nation and kingdom against kingdom in the end times. Revelation 6:3-4 speaks of the fiery red horse given power to make men slay one another and Revelation 6:8 speaks again of this red horse in conjunction with the pale horse of Death and Hades, as the one that has the power to kill by sword. I like to call this “The Arab Spring in Prophecy” because for us it is easy to identify- that’s what the world calls it.

Luke 21:9: wars & commotions; the Greek word here is Akatastasia, meaning instability, a state of disorder, disturbance, confusion (revolutions)

Matthew 24:7: the Greek word for nation is Ethnos & refers to various ethnic groups fighting among themselves, where the next sentence in the verse refers to kingdoms (basileiva) fighting one another (not to be confused with an actual kingdom but rather the right or authority to rule over a kingdom) I have tried to separate it into areas that sweep EAST from the point of North America.

Middle East- ONLY COUNTRIES NOT IN PROPHECY

Headline: Yemenis renew calls for trial of Saleh

Yemenis have once again thronged the streets of the capital Sana'a, renewing calls for the trails of former dictator Ali Abdullah Saleh. The protest on Thursday coincided with a conference in London on how to release a multi-billion-dollar international aid package to the Middle Eastern country. The demonstrators called on the participants in the conference to instead find solutions for Sana'a to recover funds stolen by Saleh and his family. The Yemeni people regularly stage protest rallies, demanding that the former regime officials stand trial. Saleh, who ruled Yemen for 33 years, stepped down in February 2012 under a US-backed power transfer deal in return for immunity, after a year of mass street demonstrations demanding his ouster.

Headline: Regime forces attack Bahraini protesters

Bahraini security forces have attacked demonstrators who were protesting against the government's harsh crackdown on their peaceful movement in the Persian Gulf kingdom. The Saudi-backed regime forces attacked protesters at a demonstration held in the towns of al-Dair and Ma'ameer in the north of the country on Wednesday. On Tuesday, hundreds of Bahrainis attended the funeral procession of the 20-year-old Mahmoud Isa al-Jaziri in the town of Nabih Saleh, south of Manama. The body of al-Jaziri was given to his family on Tuesday, almost two weeks after his death. Since mid-February 2011, thousands of pro-democracy protesters have staged numerous demonstrations in the streets of Bahrain, calling for the Al Khalifa royal family to relinquish power.

Europe

Headline: Furious Friday sees strikes all over Europe

It has been a day of industrial action all over Europe. In Belgium, hundreds of steel workers blocked border crossings to and from neighbouring countries, furious at plans by the steel giant ArcelorMittal to slash production threatening more than a thousand jobs. In France, PSA Peugeot-Citroen workers occupied the offices of a steel industry managers' organisation as part of an ongoing protest against the planned closure of a car factory in Aulnay near Paris. The plant has been paralysed for eight weeks by a strike. Travellers using the airport serving Bonn and Cologne in Germany had delays and cancellations as security staff walked out. It's part of a long running dispute over contract terms and pay. Dozens of flights were cancelled. Passengers using Berlin's Tegel airport were also affected. There was disruption too at Madrid's main international airport. About 2,000 workers protested against pay cuts and massive lay-offs at Spain's national carrier Iberia.
