Headline: Abbas Agrees to Suspend ICC Action Against Israel

If Israel really wants to prove it is serious about restarting the peace process, it must present a map of the borders of a future Palestinian state, Palestinian Authority Mahmoud Abbas said during recent talks with U.S. Secretary of State John Kerry. Senior Palestinian officials told Al-Ayyam, a newspaper published in Ramallah, that Kerry asked Netanyahu and Abbas to give him two months during which he will shuttle back and forth to the region to try to narrow the gaps and the disputes between Israel and the Palestinians. At the conclusion of those two months Kerry wants to present an American proposal for a renewal of negotiations about the borders of the future Palestinian state and Israeli security arrangements.

Headline: IDF post repels first organized armed Palestinian raid. Two attackers killed

After midnight Wednesday, a group of Palestinians attacked an Israeli Nahal Haredi military position at Einav, just inside the southern West Bank, 20 km east of Netanya, with gunfire and fire bombs. In the firefight that followed, two Palestinian raiders were killed. It was the first organized armed attack the Palestinians have staged on an Israeli military post inside the Green Line in eight years. The reinforcements summoned by the Nahal Haredi unit post gave chase after the Palestinians as they fled toward the village of Anabta. One was captured.

Hundreds of Palestinian Authority Arabs rioted at several locations throughout Judea and Samaria on Friday afternoon. In the village of Nabi Saleh, near Neve Tzuf in the Binyamin region, dozens of Arabs threw rocks at security forces, who responded with riot control measures. Violent demonstrations also took place in Gush Etzion and in the village of Kadum in Samaria. There were no reports of injuries. Meanwhile, the main U.N. humanitarian agency for Palestinians said on Thursday it was suspending operations in the Gaza Strip after demonstrators angered by aid cutbacks stormed its headquarters.

Jordan

Headline: Jordan tightens security along Syria border

Jordan tightened security along its border with Syria, doubling the number of soldiers as President Bashar Assad's regime warned Thursday the kingdom is "playing with fire" by allowing the U.S and other countries to train and arm Syrian rebels on its territory. The warning, coinciding with significant rebel advances near the border, plays into Jordanian fears that its larger neighbor might try to retaliate for its support of the opposition fighters. The stepped up security also reflects the kingdom's fears that the chaos from Syria's 2-year-old civil war could lead to a failed state on its doorstep where Islamic militants have a free hand. The Syrian warnings followed statements from U.S. and other Western and Arab officials that Jordan has been facilitating arms shipments and hosting training camps for Syrian rebels since last October.

Headline: Lebanese president condemns Israeli violations

Lebanese President Michel Suleiman on Friday condemned the daily Israeli violations against Lebanon. "[The violations] do not need a proof or evidence, the violations against UN resolution 1701 were always committed by Israel's side," the National News Agency quoted Suleiman as saying. The Lebanese president also reiterated the call on the international community to "exert pressure on Israel to make it stop its intimidation and aggression policy against Lebanon."

Headline: Egypt Islamists stone Iranian envoy's house

Egyptian Islamist protesters threw stones at the house of Iran's envoy in Cairo on Friday and tried to scale the villa's walls but were blocked by police, a police official said. The Islamists, who object to a thaw in relations between Egypt and Iran, were also prevented by police from raising the flag adopted by Syrian rebels against Tehran's close ally President Bashar al-Assad over the envoy's house. They threw stones at the building as some held banners calling for the envoy's expulsion and opposing the "spread of Shiite Islam" practiced by most Iranians. Hardline Sunni Islamists consider Shiites to be heretics and have opposed the detente between Cairo and Tehran after Islamist President Mohamed Morsi's election in Egypt last June. Last month, the two countries signed a memorandum of understanding to promote mutual tourism.

Headline: Egypt's Azhar, Mursi supporters clash near Muslim Brotherhood HQ

Clashes took place Friday between supporters of Sunni Islam's top religious authority al-Azhar, and those of Egypt's Islamist President Mohammed Mursi, an Al Arabiya correspondent reported. The clashes, near the Muslim Brotherhood headquarters in the Mediterranean city of Alexandria, left tens of people injured. The spat between the Brotherhood and the center of Islamic learning began when the principle of Egypt's Azhar University, Osama al-Abed, was dismissed Wednesday amid protests against alleged food poisoning that struck more than 500 students. Some in the opposition accuse the Brotherhood of having concocted the mass-poisoning scandal in an attempt to control the institution. Following Abed's dismissal, there were calls by the Brotherhood to sack Azhar's Grand Mufti Ahmed al-Tayeb.

Jeremiah 49:24-27

New King James Version (NKJV)

- 24 Damascus has grown feeble;
She turns to flee,
And fear has seized her.
Anguish and sorrows have taken her like a woman in labor.
- 25 Why is the city of praise not deserted, the city of My joy?
- 26 Therefore her young men shall fall in her streets,
And all the men of war shall be cut off in that day," says the LORD of hosts.
- 27 "I will kindle a fire in the wall of Damascus,
And it shall consume the palaces of Ben-Hadad."^[a]

The burden of Damascus. Behold, Damascus is taken away from being a city, and it shall be a ruinous heap.

— Isaiah 17:1 (KJV)

Headline: Syria's Barzeh in flames after Barrage of rockets

Headline: Activists: Rocket attack in Syrian capital kills 5

Syrian regime forces opened a barrage of rockets into the district of Barzeh, northeast of Damascus, killing at least five people and trapping others under the rubble, activists said Friday. The attack on Barzeh, where opposition forces aiming to topple President Bashar Assad are known to operate, follows days of heavy fighting between the rebels and the military in the area. Amateur videos posted online by activists showed what appeared to be destroyed and burning houses. Others showed men with a flashlight working to pull out a survivor from the rubble. Barzeh is close to Esh el-Wirwar, a suburb of Damascus predominantly inhabited by Alawites and Syrian army volunteers. Rebels frequently target the area with mortar shells. The Britain-based Syrian Observatory for Human Rights confirmed a barrage of shells hit Barzeh and said at least one person was killed and several others wounded. It said the nature of the attack and exact number of casualties was not clear. Rebels have established footholds in districts on the edge of Damascus and in suburbs in the northeast and south, from where they fire mortars into the heavily guarded city.

Syrian rebels said they overran an army garrison that defends the main border crossing with Jordan on Friday, after a more than week-long siege, a step towards their aim of taking the strategically important border post. Fighters from the Free Syrian Army captured the heavily fortified Um al-Mayathen garrison on the main Damascus-Jordan highway, several kilometers from Syria's' Nassib border crossing, after heavy clashes overnight with army forces that left dozens dead.

Headline: Hamas cuts ties with Assad and sends military to train rebels

The military wing of Hamas has upped its support for Syrian rebels fighting to topple President Bashar Assad and is now providing training. Prior, Hamas was offering only support and assistance, but had held back from tapping its military forces, Ynet reported. But Friday, various media outlets reported that Hamas had completely severed ties with Mr. Assad and had sent military experts to Damascus to train the Syrian opposition, the Free Syrian Army. The group is now friends with Qatar, Ynet reported. The discovery is significant because Hamas — when conflict broke out two years ago — once stood firm in Mr. Assad's camp, along with Hezbollah and Iran, Ynet reported. Members of the Izz ad-Din al-Qassam Brigades have been sent to eastern Damascus to conduct the training. "The Qassam Brigades have been training units very close to Damascus. These are specialists. They are really good," said a Western diplomat with high-level contacts in the Assad regime, in the Ynet report.

Headline: World powers, Iran fail to reach breakthrough in Kazakhstan nuclear talks

A new round of talks between Iran and the five permanent members of the UN Security Council plus Germany (P5+1) opens in the Kazakhstan city of Almaty on Friday as the sides struggle to find a compromise on Tehran’s controversial nuclear program. At the previous round of talks on February 27-28, also held in Almaty, the world powers offered to ease economic sanctions against Iran in exchange for the closure of its underground Fordo enrichment facility and an undertaking to halt the enrichment of uranium to 20 percent. The Islamic Republic demands that the international community recognize its inherent right to develop nuclear capacity for peaceful purposes, while P5+1 negotiators insist that Tehran must first prove that its nuclear development program is not designed for making nuclear weapons.

Headline: Five killed in Iraq attacks

Attacks near Baghdad and central Iraq killed five people on Friday, the latest in an apparent spike in unrest barely two weeks ahead of the country’s first elections in three years. In the deadliest attack, a roadside bomb near a fruit and vegetable stall in a small village south of the capital in Babil province killed three people, security and medical officials said. Just west of Baghdad in Abu Ghraib, two soldiers were killed and two others were wounded by another bombing targeting a passing military vehicle. And in Baquba, north of the capital in restive Diyala province, 13 people were wounded by an explosion near a Sunni mosque as worshippers were exiting after weekly Friday prayers.

Headline: Russian Bomber Roulette

A Russian bomber recently carried out simulated cruise missile attacks on U.S. missile defenses in Asia, raising new questions about Moscow’s goal in future U.S.-Russian defense talks.

According to U.S. officials, a Russian Tu-22M Backfire bomber on Feb. 26 simulated firing air-launched cruise missiles at an Aegis ship deployed near Japan as part of U.S. missile defenses.

A second mock attack was conducted Feb. 27 against a ground-based missile defense site in Japan that officials did not identify further. The Pentagon operates an X-band missile defense radar on the northern tip of Japan that is designed to monitor North Korean missile launches and transmit the data to missile-firing ships. The bomber targeting comes as Russia is building up forces in the Pacific by modernizing submarines and building a spy ship specifically for intelligence-gathering against U.S. missile defenses.

Headline: Tunisia hosts officials from Hamas, Islamic Jihad

A leading U.S. ally in North Africa has hosted two Palestinian groups deemed terrorist by the State Department. Tunisia has welcomed a joint delegation from Hamas and Islamic Jihad. On April 4, the delegation met President Moncef Marzouki, who urged the two organizations to unify the Palestinian movement. They [internal divisions] represent, henceforth, a burden for the struggle by the Palestinian people," Marzouki said. Over the last year, Tunisia, which ousted its pro-Western president in 2011, has hosted Hamas, including Gazan Prime Minister Ismail Haniyeh. But this was believed to be the first time the Tunisian government invited Islamic Jihad, sponsored by Iran. "President Marzouki voiced Tunisia's readiness to play an active role in the reconciliation between Palestinians," a presidential statement said. For its part, the Hamas-Jihad delegation said it was encouraged by the Islamist government that emerged after the ouster of President Zine Abedin Bin Ali. The delegation said Palestinians "expressed their sincere wishes for the success of Tunisia in its democratic process."

Headline: Canada Records Biggest Job Losses Since 2009 Recession

Canadian employment fell in March by the most since the last recession four years ago, a surprise decline led by full-time work and the hospitality industry. The drop of 54,500 positions reported today by Statistics Canada offset a 50,700 gain in February, and the unemployment rate rose for the first time in five months, to 7.2 percent from 7 percent. Economists surveyed by Bloomberg News projected a 6,500 job gain and 7 percent unemployment, according to median forecasts. The report brings the labor market more in line with other parts of the economy, where output growth slowed to a 0.6 percent annualized pace in the fourth quarter and inflation has lagged the central bank's 2 percent target since May. Statistics Canada also reported the country's 11th straight merchandise trade deficit today.

Headline: Dollar Weakens Against Euro as U.S. Jobs Growth Trails Forecast

The dollar dropped to the lowest level in more than a week against the euro after U.S. employers added fewer jobs in March than forecast, fueling speculation growth in the world's biggest economy is slowing. The greenback fell for a third day versus the shared currency on bets the payrolls data will stiffen the Federal Reserve's determination to keep buying bonds to spur growth. The yen touched the weakest level since 2009 versus the greenback a day after the Bank of Japan (8301) outstripped forecasts and announced unprecedented economic stimulus measures. "The payroll data is obviously weaker than expected," Marc Chandler, New York-based global head of currency strategy at Brown Brothers Harriman & Co., said in a telephone interview. "It reinforces the idea the Fed has the pedal to the metal with its easing. We'll probably see some more weak economic data."

Headline: 14 sick, 5 dead as new bird flu moves beyond birds, threatens people

Headline: More deaths in China from new H7N9 bird flu; U.S., Japan on guard

The number of people sickened by the H7N9 bird flu virus climbed to 14 on Thursday -- and the death count jumped to five -- as the Chinese Ministry of Agriculture reported that it may have detected the virus in pigeon samples at a Shanghai poultry market. Officials in Shanghai began slaughtering birds at the market to slow spread of the disease, which so far has infected only people who come in close contact with birds and does not appear to pass from person to person. That a place like Shanghai appears to be a center for the spread of H7N9, which wasn't known to sicken people before this outbreak, makes sense, said Trevon Fuller, a research fellow at UCLA's Center for Tropical Research. Fuller and colleagues recently published a study (see related items at left for Los Angeles Times coverage) identifying potential hot spots for another bird flu strain that has killed people: H5N1. They identified Shanghai among the key locations. The reason? Its high concentration of poultry production. "It seems that whenever there's this spillover of bird flu to humans, it's associated with high numbers of poultry and intensive poultry production," Fuller said. The more birds present that catch different strains of a virus, the more opportunities exist for those strains to combine and reassort -- creating new varieties like the novel H7N9 that could pose increased dangers to birds, animals and people.

Prophecy Sign: Animal Deaths Hosea 4:1-3 & Ezekiel 38:20 & Zephaniah 1:3

"I will consume man and beast; I will consume the birds of the heavens, The fish of the sea, And the stumbling blocks along with the wicked. I will cut off man from the face of the land," Says the LORD.
(Zephaniah)

"There is no faithfulness, no love, no acknowledgment of God in the land. There is only cursing, lying and murder, stealing and adultery; they break all bounds, and bloodshed follows bloodshed. Because of this the land mourns, and all who live in it waste away; the beasts of the field and the birds of the air and the fish of the sea are dying. [Hosea 4:1-3]

The fish of the sea, the birds of the air, the beasts of the field, every creature that moves along the ground, and all the people on the face of the earth will tremble at my presence. The mountains will be overturned, the cliffs will crumble and every wall will fall to the ground. [Ezekiel 38:20]

Headline: Dozens of dead seabirds washed up on Sunderland and Durham shores

DEAD seabirds have been washed up on beaches after violent storms battered the North Sea. Durham Wildlife Trust said staff have found several dozen birds in recent days, including puffins, razorbills and guillemots at locations including Hawthorn Dene. The charity believes the birds have struggled to find food or have succumbed to exhaustion in harsh conditions. "It's a perilous life being a seabird," said director Jim Cokill. "All we can do is hope for better conditions in the days and weeks to come as the breeding season gets under way."

Prophecy Sign: Apostasy Amos 8:11 & 2 Peter 2:1-3

"Behold, the days are coming," says the Lord GOD, "That I will send a famine on the land, Not a famine of bread, Nor a thirst for water, But of hearing the words of the LORD." (Amos)

"But there were also false prophets among the people, even as there will be false teachers among you, who will secretly bring in destructive heresies, even denying the Lord who bought them, and bring on themselves swift destruction. ² And many will follow their destructive ways, because of whom the way of truth will be blasphemed. ³ By covetousness they will exploit you with deceptive words; for a long time their judgment has not been idle, and their destruction does not slumber." (2 Peter)

Headline: Judge: Make 'morning-after pill' available to all girls without prescription

A federal judge on Friday reversed a contentious Food and Drug Administration ruling and ordered the agency to make the so-called "morning-after pill" available without a prescription to all girls of reproductive age, including those younger than 17. The ruling by U.S. District Judge Edward Korman in Brooklyn, New York, comes in a lawsuit brought by reproductive-rights groups that had sought to remove age and other restrictions on emergency contraception, as Reuters first reported. Currently, only women aged 17 and or older can obtain emergency contraception without a prescription. That rule has been in place since December 2011, when Health and Human Services Secretary Kathleen Sebelius overruled an FDA recommendation -- and Commissioner Margaret Hamburg -- to force the agency to limit emergency contraception to young girls.

Headline: Magnitude 6.2 - EASTERN RUSSIA-N.E. CHINA BORDER REGION

An earthquake of 6.2 magnitude was registered in the border area between Russia, China and North Korea, the US Geological Survey said Friday. The epicenter of the quake was 9km from the Russian village of Zarubino, about 60km northeast of the North Korean city of Aodziri and approximately 608 km from the capital Pyongyang. No casualties or damage have been reported. The earthquake struck at a depth of 561.9 km. As the epicenter of the quake is not within North Korea itself, the South Korean Defense Ministry said that the quake did in fact result from natural causes, and not a nuclear test.

Headline: 5.4 earthquake shakes buildings in Mexico City

A 5.4 magnitude earthquake shook buildings in Mexico City on Thursday, but there were no immediate reports of injuries or damages. The epicenter of the earthquake was in Guerrero state on Mexico's Pacific coast, the U.S. Geological Survey reported. A Reuters witness in the Pacific resort of Acapulco, the biggest city in Guerrero, said the earthquake seemed slight, with some people not even noticing the tremor. Mexico City Mayor Miguel Angel Mancera said city services were operating normally after the earthquake.

Headline: Death toll climbs to 59 in deadly Argentina flooding

The number of deaths from record rains and flooding in Argentina climbed to 59, officials said as they searched Thursday for about 20 people still missing. Most of the bodies were found Wednesday after a second day of record rainfall deluged Buenos Aires and nearby La Plata, where flooding submerged cars and sent people scrambling to rooftops for safety. President Cristina Kirchner declared three days of national mourning starting Thursday in honor of the victims. Kirchner surveyed the devastation by helicopter the day before, flying over La Plata, a bustling university town of about one million inhabitants where she grew up, about 60 kilometers (40 miles) south of the capital. Several people perished in Buenos Aires and its suburbs, while various others were missing and feared dead. "There are still about 20 people who have not been found," said Argentine Deputy Security Minister Sergio Berni.

Headline: Tornado Touches Down In Northern California Valley on Thursday

A potent storm system moving through the area had enough dynamics to develop a pronounced tornado in Tehama County, California on Thursday evening. The photo shows a pronounced wall cloud, something you normally see out in tornado alley. This tornado is pretty pronounced for California standards. The tornado was developed when marginal instability developed over Northern California's Central Valley today. This, with the upper level jet in the area; was enough to trigger supercells, one of which had the tornado you see in the photo. Tornadoes like this are not uncommon in Northern California. However since it is April, the higher sun angle and warmer temperatures made this one especially stronger.

(Perilous Times Luke 21:9 & Nation against Nation, Kingdom against Kingdom Matt.24:7)
(Revelation 6:3-4 Revelation 6:8)

“For nation shall rise against nation, and kingdom against kingdom.
There will be earthquakes in various places, and there will be famines and sedition; these are the beginning of the labor pains.”

Mark 13:8

Luke 21:9 and Matthew 24:7 speak of nation against nation and kingdom against kingdom in the end times. Revelation 6:3-4 speaks of the fiery red horse given power to make men slay one another and Revelation 6:8 speaks again of this red horse in conjunction with the pale horse of Death and Hades, as the one that has the power to kill by sword. I like to call this “The Arab Spring in Prophecy” because for us it is easy to identify- that’s what the world calls it.

Luke 21:9: wars & commotions; the Greek word here is Akatastasia, meaning instability, a state of disorder, disturbance, confusion (revolutions)

Matthew 24:7: the Greek word for nation is Ethnos & refers to various ethnic groups fighting among themselves, where the next sentence in the verse refers to kingdoms (basileiva) fighting one another (not to be confused with an actual kingdom but rather the right or authority to rule over a kingdom) I have tried to separate it into areas that sweep EAST from the point of North America.

Headline: French minister visits Mali amid doubts over withdrawal

France's Foreign Minister Laurent Fabius laid out plans to start withdrawing French troops from Mali before elections in July on a visit to the West African nation on Friday, despite a recent spate of attacks by Islamist rebels. France intervened dramatically in January against Islamist rebels controlling Mali's north, saying they were a threat to Western security. Paris plans to halve its troop presence to 2,000 by July and is pressing its former colony to quickly hold elections to complete a democratic transition after a 2012 coup. "We are in Mali to discuss the electoral process and also take stock of the security situation," Fabius told journalists after meeting with the Malian president, adding that Malian authorities were committed to the election time frame.

Headline: Bulgaria calls for prayers over crisis

The Bulgarian government has called for three days of prayer after seven people set themselves on fire amid a national crisis about the state of the country. Five people died and two were severely injured in the self-immolations in protest against poverty and corruption, the BBC reported Friday. In his appeal, President Rosen Plevneliev urged people to pray for "an end to the suicides and for passing through the crisis with patience and dignity." The president added, "Faith has preserved our nation over the centuries. And it will now help us to believe in our strength and our future." Special prayers will be held across the country Friday, Saturday and Sunday. They will be led by leaders of the Christian Orthodox, Catholic, Armenian, Protestant, Muslim and Jewish faiths. Almost 200 people have committed suicide this year in Bulgaria, Europe's poorest country, said Dr. Vladimir Nakov of the National Health Centre.
