ISRAEL

(Zech.12:3 & 9 - The Burdensome Stone)

Zechariah 12:3 "And in that day will I make Jerusalem a burdensome stone for all people: all that burden themselves with it shall be cut in pieces, though all the people of the earth be gathered together against it."

Headline: Abbas: Israel Seeks to Build Holy Temple Instead of Al-Aqsa

Palestinian Authority Chairman Mahmoud Abbas has accused Israel of trying to "destroy" the Al-Aqsa Mosque by allowing Jews to pray on the Temple Mount. In an interview he gave on Thursday to the Saudi-based Al-Watan newspaper, Abbas said that "the Al-Aqsa Mosque is in danger," claiming that Israel prevents PA Arabs from praying at the mosque, while allowing "extremist Jews" to worship there. This, he claimed, is proof that Israel has a "malicious" and dangerous plan to destroy the mosque and rebuild the "false" Holy Temple in its place, as he put it.

Acting Palestinian Authority chief Mahmoud Abbas has sworn in a new government headed by Rami Hamdallah, a senior academic, who is expected to lead a temporary government for several months. The swearing-in ceremony took place in the occupied West Bank city of Ramallah on Thursday. Hamdallah replaces Salam Fayyad who resigned in April after a weeks-long row with Abbas's Fatah party over his economic policies. Fayyad formally leaves office later this month. Most of the 24 cabinet members sworn in came from the outgoing government. Nine new members were added, including the prime minister, his two deputies and the finance minister. The new government is expected to remain in office until mid-August, when the Fatah party and the Gaza-based Hamas movement are due to complete long-delayed negotiations to form a unity government of technocrats, and then prepare for new presidential and parliamentary elections.

Headline: Deputy defense minister: This government will block any two-state deal

US Secretary of State John Kerry is set to return to Israel and the Palestinian territories next week for his fifth visit to the region in barely two months to extend his push for a revival of peace talks, sources on both sides said. A senior American official indicated in March that Washington would try to breathe new life into the peace effort for two months and would move on if it proved fruitless. Meanwhile, Israel's ruling party and the governing coalition are staunchly opposed to a two-state solution and would block the creation of a Palestinian state if such a proposal ever came to a vote, Deputy Defense Minister Danny Danon said, contradicting statements by Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu and senior cabinet members who say Jerusalem is committed to the principle of two states for two peoples.

Headline: US calls for restraint from Israel, Syria

US State Department spokeswoman Jen Psaki warned both Israel and Syria to avoid any rash action that might jar a volatile situation along the Israeli-Syrian border during a briefing with the media on Thursday night. "We continue to call upon all parties to avoid any action that would jeopardize the long-held ceasefire between Israel and Syria," Psaki said. Her remarks come at a time when the Syrian civil war is threatening to spill over the border into Israel, a worrisome fact that was highlighted by Austrian UN peacekeepers' decision to vacate the area.

In wake of ongoing battles in the Golan Heights, Austria has announced it is withdrawing its forces from the UNDOF peacekeeping force active in the region. During the battles, a Filipino peacekeeper was wounded. A day after losing control of Qusair, an important town close to the Lebanese border, rebels tried to grab back the initiative with an assault on Quneitra - the demilitarized zone on the Golan Heights patrolled by the United Nations' peacekeeping force and connecting Israel to Syria. For the first time since the start of the uprising in March 2011, the rebels briefly took control of the area, sending UN peacekeepers scurrying to their bunkers. Meanwhile, The Philippines said they are considering withdrawing their peacekeeping forces from the Golan Heights. The country's Ministry of Foreign Affairs recommended to their president last month that they take this action. This was reported on the Alarabiya network.

Pro-Palestinian activists across the world are set to hold demonstrations to call for the liberation of al-Quds (Jerusalem) and all Palestinian territories. The peaceful anti-Israeli demonstrations called "The Global March to al-Quds," are expected to take place in the West Bank, Gaza Strip, US, UK, Canada, Germany, Turkey, Yemen, Indonesia and many other countries on Friday. "The Global March to al-Quds" is held every year to mark the anniversary of the occupation of East al-Quds by Israeli forces during the 1967 Six-Day War. The demonstrators will also protest against the expansion of illegal Israeli settlements on the occupied Palestinian lands and Tel Aviv's apartheid policies against Palestinians.

Jordan

Headline: Syrian MP threatens Jordan – Jordan threatens to expel Syrian envoy

US ally Jordan threatened on Thursday to expel Syria’s ambassador, after he warned the kingdom Syrian missiles could be used against Patriot batteries due to be deployed soon along their border. Foreign Minister Nasser Joudeh told state news agency Petra ambassador Bahjat Suleiman had violated diplomatic protocol. “The Syrian ambassador has breached all norms and diplomatic practices by his behavior ... This is considered as a final warning to abide by the rules of diplomatic practice and to stop any meetings or statements that are deemed harmful to Jordan,” Joudeh said. Jordan maintains an embassy in Damascus and has avoided publicly supporting Syrian rebels fighting to overthrow Syria’s President Bashar Assad, calling instead for a political solution to a war that has cost over 100,000 lives.

Lebanon

Headline: Lebanese army slams 'plot' to embroil country in Syria war

The Lebanese army warned on Friday that a plot was afoot to embroil the country in the 26-month conflict in neighboring Syria, as deadly clashes between Damascus supporters and opponents inside Lebanon multiply. "The army command... calls on citizens to be wary of plots aimed at taking Lebanon backwards and dragging it into an absurd war," a statement said, adding that it would give an "armed response to any armed action." "The army command has been trying for several months to work firmly, determinedly and patiently to prevent Lebanon being turned into a battlefield for regional conflicts and to prevent any spillover of the events in Syria," it said. "But in recent days, some groups have seemed determined to stoke security tensions... against the backdrop of the political divisions in Lebanon over military developments in Syria." It was the strongest statement from the Lebanese army since the uprising against President Bashar al-Assad's rule erupted in March 2011.

Headline: Major clashes in Lebanon's Tripoli — security official

Headline: Lebanese army deploys in Tripoli's markets

Fierce clashes raged in the heart of Tripoli in northern Lebanon on Thursday, a security official told AFP, in the latest in a string of Syria-related incidents in the small Mediterranean country. "A major clash in Tripoli's souks broke out between Salafists [who support the revolt in Syria] and fighters loyal to Hizbollah," the source said, adding that two pro-Hizbollah fighters were wounded. It was the first battle since 2008 in central Tripoli, although frequent Syria-related violence has raged in other districts. It comes after some three weeks of sectarian fighting in the flashpoint Jabal Mohsen and Bab Al Tebbaneh neighbourhoods, during which around 40 people were killed. The army deployed in force on Tripoli's main streets on Thursday, the official said on condition of anonymity, although the soldiers stayed clear of the strife-torn areas. An AFP journalist saw artillery and military vehicles deployed at the entrance of Tripoli, which has seen escalating violence since the outbreak in March 2011 of a revolt in Syria against President Bashar Assad. Thursday's battle saw Salafists fight members of the Syrian National Socialist Party, which supports the Assad regime. It came a day after two gunmen, including a Syrian, were killed in a firefight with Lebanese soldiers near Arsal on the border with Syria, the army said.

Saudi Arabia

Headline: Top Saudi cleric urges moves against Hizbollah

Saudi Arabia's top cleric urged governments and fellow clerics across the Muslim world to punish Lebanese Shiite group Hizbollah for its intervention in the Syrian civil war against the mainly Sunni rebels fighting to oust President Bashar Assad. Grand mufti Sheikh Abdulaziz Al Shaikh said Hizbollah's actions vindicated the Sunni-dominated kingdom's long suspicion of the group and its alliance with Shiite Iran. "We urge all politicians and clerics to take substantial measures against this repulsive sectarian group [Hizbollah] and all those backing it," Shaikh said in a speech carried by the official SPA news agency. Shaikh welcomed an about-turn last month by influential Qatar-based Sunni cleric Yousuf Al Qaradawi, who had previously backed Hizbollah, particularly after its 2006 war with Israel. Qaradawi "has returned to the stance taken by the kingdom's top scholars and which was clear on this sectarian repulsive movement ever since it was created," Shaikh said. "We support" Qaradawi in his stance and call on "all clerics of the Muslim world to stick together and cooperate during this critical moment in history", he added.

Egypt

Headline: US quietly allows military aid to Egypt despite rights concerns

U.S. Secretary of State John Kerry quietly acted last month to give Egypt $1.3 billion in U.S. military aid, deciding that this was in the national interest despite Egypt's failure to meet democracy standards. Kerry made the decision well before an Egyptian court this week convicted 43 democracy workers, including 16 Americans, in what the U.S. regards as a politically motivated case against pro-democracy non-governmental organizations. Rights groups believe Egyptian President Mohammed Morsi is retreating from democratic freedoms, notably in a new civil society law and in proposals for judicial reform that critics see as a way to purge judges perceived as hostile to the government. Despite stating in a May 9 memo that "we are not satisfied with the extent of Egypt's progress and are pressing for a more inclusive democratic process and the strengthening of key democratic institutions," Kerry said the aid should go forward.

Headline: Egyptians protest after anti-Mursi campaign HQ set on fire

At least one person has been killed and more than 20 others injured in clashes between supporters of Egypt's Muslim Brotherhood and anti-government protesters in the northern town of Damanhour. The clashes broke out on Thursday between members of the Brotherhood and the Youth Revolutionary Forces in the al-Sa'aa square. Security forces fired tear gas to disperse the two groups. Anti-government demonstrators staged another protest outside the city's Creativity Center near the Egyptian lawyers' syndicate office. On June 2, Egyptian President Mohamed Morsi stated that he reinstated the Senate, known as Shura Council, after the country's Supreme Constitutional Court ruled that the Senate and the panel that drafted the constitution were illegally elected and must be dissolved.

Headline: War as a win-win option for Egypt's down-and-out regime

Military adventure is often the best option for a despotic regime undergoing a fiasco.

"The people crave destruction of Israel!" These were the slogans repeated by thousands of people at a massive demonstration in Al-Azhar Mosque — the spiritual bastion of Muslim Brotherhood in Egypt. However remarkable this event was, it was left unnoticed in the mass media. It was the first mass demonstration against Israel, organized by the Muslim Brotherhood, with Mohamed Morsi — the president of Egypt, as its representative. Although the official reasons were the detention of Jerusalem Mufti in Israel and IDF airstrike in Syria, any other minor event could have been a valid motive. Leaders of the Muslim Brotherhood have never concealed their hatred towards Israel: Muhammad Badi called for a jihad against "Zionists"; Safwat Hegazi called to restore the "Caliphate" with Jerusalem as its capital, and Morsi, himself, named Jews "descendants of apes and pigs". They were very careful until now. They didn't rush to incite the rage of crowds even during the last Israeli operation in Gaza, in November 2012. The bombing of the secret base of Assad's regime, which Morsi criticized mercilessly, is hardly worthy of such an outburst of fury. What caused it then?

The current situation in Egypt is catastrophic. According to the February report of the Central Bank of Egypt the country's foreign exchange reserve amounted to 13.6 billion U.S. dollars, marking the lowest point of the fall (before Mubarak's overthrow it was 36 billion dollars).

Jeremiah 49:24-27

New King James Version (NKJV)

24 Damascus has grown feeble;
She turns to flee,
And fear has seized her.
Anguish and sorrows have taken her like a woman in labor.
25 Why is the city of praise not deserted, the city of My joy?
26 Therefore her young men shall fall in her streets,
And all the men of war shall be cut off in that day," says the LORD of hosts.
27 "I will kindle a fire in the wall of Damascus,
And it shall consume the palaces of Ben-Hadad."<sup>[a]</sup>

The burden of Damascus. Behold, Damascus is taken away from being a city, and it shall be a ruinous heap.

— Isaiah 17:1 (KJV)

Syria

Headline: Syrian army hunts down rebels north of Qusayr, NGO says

Syrian regime forces Friday sought to mop up the final pockets of rebel resistance north of Qusayr, after retaking the key town that was an insurgent bastion for a year, a watchdog said. The Syrian Observatory for Human Rights said President Bashar al-Assad's forces were also sending reinforcements to the northern province of Aleppo, where large swathes of territory have been in rebel hands for months. "Clashes broke out at dawn between the army and rebels on the outskirts of Dabaa village" north of Qusayr near the border with Lebanon, said the Britain-based group which relies on activists and medics on the ground for its information. Official Syrian media had reported that Dabaa fell on Thursday. Al-Manar, the television channel of Lebanon's Shiite Hezbollah movement that was instrumental in helping Assad's forces to seize Qusayr, quoted a general as saying his troops had launched a surprise attack. This was aimed at "the liberation of Dabaa" from rebels, he said.

Headline: Muslim union urges "Day of Rage" for Syria rebels

Syrian troops backed by Hezbollah fighters pressed on with their offensive Friday in the country's opposition heartland, taking two small villages near a strategic town that was captured by the government this week. The leader of Syria's main opposition group, meanwhile, warned that the involvement of the Shiite militant group Hezbollah is transforming the war into a sectarian conflict pitting Shiites against Sunnis, saying it is impossible to hold peace talks as long as Hezbollah and Iran fight alongside Assad's regime. Following Wednesday's capture of Qusair, Assad's forces aided by Hezbollah fighters have directed their efforts toward driving rebels from the country's densely populated heartland, including the cities of Homs and Aleppo. Government forces faced little resistance Friday as they took control of the central villages of Salhiyeh and Masoudiyeh, just north of Qusair, activists and the state news agency SANA said. On Thursday, the rebels also lost control the nearby village of Dabaa.

Iran/Iraq/Turkey

Iran: Jeremiah 49:34-39

“Thus says the LORD of hosts: ‘Behold, I will break the bow of Elam, The foremost of their might. <sup>36</sup> Against Elam I will bring the four winds From the four quarters of heaven, And scatter them toward all those winds; There shall be no nations where the outcasts of Elam will not go. <sup>37</sup> For I will cause Elam to be dismayed before their enemies And before those who seek their life. I will bring disaster upon them, My fierce anger,’ says the LORD; ‘And I will send the sword after them Until I have consumed them. <sup>38</sup> I will set My throne in Elam, And will destroy from there the king and the princes,’ says the LORD. <sup>39</sup> ‘But it shall come to pass in the latter days: I will bring back the captives of Elam,’ says the LORD.”

Headline: Election candidates clash over Iran's foreign policy direction

Iran's presidential election candidates clashed over foreign policy in their last televised debate on Friday, with a hardline frontrunner saying a moderate contender had undermined the country through past subservience to Western powers. The June 14 presidential vote will be the Islamic Republic's first since the 2009 re-election of Mahmoud Ahmadinejad that led to months of unrest by backers of the losing reformist side who said his victory was rigged. Two reformist leaders have been under house arrest since 2011. With the field narrowed to largely hardline conservative candidates, three televised debates have been held to generate more public interest in the election. But with each lasting four hours and set to a complex format devoting only short periods for questions and answers, the initiative may do the opposite.

Headline: Iraq car bomb kills six Iran pilgrims

Headline: Suicide blasts kill 19 in Iraq, including Iranians

A car bomb in a restive town north of Baghdad on Friday killed six Iranian pilgrims, officials said, the latest in a spike in violence that has sparked fears of all-out sectarian war. A further 23 worshippers were wounded in the attack, which struck their bus as it was passing through the town of Muqdadiah en route from the Iranian border to the holy Shiite city of Najaf. Najaf, which lies south of Baghdad, is home to a shrine to a revered figure in Shiite Islam. Shiite Muslims visiting holy shrines and religious sites form the backbone of Iraq's tourism industry, with the vast majority of such visitors coming from Iran. When completing a tour of Iraq's key Shiite religious sites, pilgrims typically visit Najaf, nearby Karbala, Baghdad, and Samarra, the latter of which lies north of the capital. But Sunni militants, including those linked to Al-Qaeda, view Shiite Muslims as apostates and often target them for attacks. No group immediately claimed responsibility for Friday's bombing, however. Attacks in Iraq have risen sharply, with May the country's deadliest month since 2008, as persistent political disputes have given fuel and room for militants to increase their activities.

Headline: Suicide bomber kills six Georgian soldiers in Afghanistan

Six Georgian soldiers were killed in southern Afghanistan on Thursday when a suicide bomber detonated a truck filled with explosives, the defense ministry said. The attack takes the number of Georgian troop deaths in Afghanistan - where the former Soviet country has the largest non-NATO combat troop presence - to 28. "It was a terrorist attack on our base ... Six of our soldiers died, nine were wounded," Irakly Dzeladze, the head of military staff, told a briefing. He said the bomber drove the truck into the base in Helmand, the Afghan province where 1,500 Georgian troops are stationed. It was the second such attack on Georgian troops in Afghanistan in a month. A suicide bomber killed three Georgian soldiers on May 13.

Headline: Extremists Setting Up Shop In Libya

Growing lawlessness in southern Libya and an influx of Islamist militants from Mali are stoking worries that Libya's security weaknesses are fast becoming a destabilizing factor in the region. A former Libyan intelligence source has told VOA that al-Qaida-linked jihadists driven out of Mali by a French-led offensive earlier this year have set up at least three jihadist camps in southern Libya in recent months. As a consequence, the source said, Libya has now become the headquarters for al-Qaida in the Islamic Maghreb. The situation has triggered criticism from neighboring sub-Saharan nations and has caused Libya to appeal for technical assistance from Europe to help police the nation's long borders. Libyan Prime Minister Ali Zeidan reacted angrily to accusations last month that suicide bombers behind twin blasts in Niger that killed 24 crossed over from Libya. What appeared to anger the Libyan leader the most was the claim by Niger officials that Libya was becoming a safe haven for militants affiliated with al-Qaida.

Headline: France jobless rate continues to climb

France's unemployment rate hit a 14-year high in the first quarter of 2013, casting fresh doubt on President Francois Hollande's goal of reversing the rising jobless trend by year-end. The jobless rate of 10.8 percent, published by the INSEE statistics agency on Thursday, was the highest on record since the first quarter of 1999. It was in line with a forecast of 10.9 percent in a Reuters poll and up from a revised 10.5 percent in the final quarter of 2012. The euro zone's second-largest economy fell into a shallow recession in the first quarter and the European Commission and the International Monetary Fund both forecast that it will slightly contract overall in 2013. All of the economists polled by Reuters said they believed the government would miss its target of reversing unemployment by year-end, a goal Hollande set a few months after winning power in May 2012 and says he will stand by despite widespread scepticism.

Headline: One-third of population of Puerto Rico now getting federal food stamps

According to new data, the U.S. taxpayer is forking out more than $2 billion a year to provide food stamps to citizens of Puerto Rico last year, and what's worse, as much as 25 percent of the aid is untraceable because it is distributed in cash and there's "no way to verify that funds are spent on food," the U.S. Department of Agriculture says. The money is used to provide more than one-third of the Puerto Rican population with food stamps, the USDA says, mostly through the Nutrition Assistance Program (NAP). A portion of the total includes money for the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act, or what is more popularly known as the 2009 "economic stimulus" package, which cost taxpayers hundreds of billions of dollars and in which $165 million went to fund food stamps for the Caribbean nation.

Headline: North Korea restores hotline with South

North Korea has reopened an official Red Cross hotline with South Korea after inviting Seoul officials to working-level talks over the weekend in Kaesong, the joint North-South industrial zone. In response, South Korea used the restored hotline on Friday to accept the proposal but suggested they be held at the Panmunjom truce village straddling the border. It also suggested the talks include preparatory work for the ministerial-level meeting. Restoration of the Red Cross link used for government-to-government communications signals easing tensions after a lengthy crisis triggered by the North's nuclear programme. Earlier, the North had proposed a working-level meeting on Sunday in the border city of Kaesong, which is in North Korean territory, instead of the higher-level negotiations in Seoul suggested by South Korea on Wednesday. "It is our view that working contact between the authorities of the North and the South is necessary prior to ministerial-level talks proposed by the South side," a Pyongyang's Committee for the Peaceful Reunification of Korea spokesman said in a statement, carried by the official Korean Central News Agency. North Korea has yet to respond to the counterproposal of talks at Panmunjom.

Headline: China encircles U.S. by sailing warships in American waters, arming neighbors

China has been quietly taking steps to encircle the United States by arming western hemisphere states, seeking closer military, economic, and diplomatic ties to U.S. neighbors, and sailing warships into U.S. maritime zones. The strategy is a Chinese version of what Beijing has charged is a U.S. strategy designed to encircle and “contain” China. It is also directed at countering the Obama administration’s new strategy called the pivot to Asia. The pivot calls for closer economic, diplomatic, and military ties to Asian states that are increasingly concerned about Chinese encroachment throughout that region. “The Chinese are deftly parrying our ‘Pivot to the Pacific’ with their own elegant countermoves,” said John Tkacik, a former State Department Asia hand. Chinese President Xi Jinping is expected to question President Barack Obama about the U.S. pivot during the summit meeting set to begin Friday afternoon in California. Chinese state-run media have denounced the new U.S. policy as an effort to “contain” China and limit its growing power.

Headline: WHO raises MERS virus death toll to 31

The Saudi health ministry on Thursday announced the death of one of its citizens in the eastern region of Al-Ahsaa after he contracted MERS, a SARS-like virus. The ministry website said the latest death, announced on Wednesday, brings to 25 the number of people who have died from the virus since September, adding that 40 people are suffering from the disease in the kingdom. The strain was renamed the Middle East Respiratory Syndrome Coronavirus, or MERS, reflecting the fact that the bulk of the cases are in that region, mainly in Saudi Arabia. On May 31, the World Health Organization said that the global death toll from the virus has risen to 30. Previously known as nCoV-EMC novel coronavirus, the disease is a cousin of Severe Acute Respiratory Syndrome (SARS), which sparked a world health scare in 2003 when it leapt from animals to humans in Asia and killed some 800 people. Like SARS, MERS appears to cause an infection deep in the lungs, with patients suffering from a temperature, coughing and difficulty breathing. However, it differs from SARS in that it also causes rapid kidney failure.

Hindu extremists launched a 'brutal attack' on 20 Baptist pastors in Andhra Pradesh in southern India yesterday, Release partners report. About 50 militants raided a prayer meeting at a church in Maheshwaram Mandal in the Ranga Reddy district of Hyderabad, attacking the pastors with sticks and rods and verbally abusing them. The mob also accused the church leaders of forcing people to convert to Christianity. Seven of the pastors required hospital treatment for their injuries. Release partner the All India Christian Council (AICC) says that they were all from Telugu Baptist Church and had gathered for a regular monthly prayer meeting. The AICC says up to 1,000 local Christians are planning a peaceful rally to protest against the attack. A case has been registered with police.

Hungarians have been warned to prepare for their country's worst floods ever as the Danube is set to reach record levels this weekend. "We are facing the worst floods of all time," said PM Viktor Orban. Europe's second-longest river is set to hit unprecedented levels in the capital Budapest in the next few days. A state of emergency has been declared, and thousands of volunteers have been working to reinforce the banks of the swelling river. Water levels are set to reach reach 8.85m (29ft), some 25cm (10in) higher than the Danube's previous record high in 2006. Emergency workers have set up camps along the river as residents packed sandbags around their homes amid an atmosphere of concerned expectation, says the BBC's Nick Thorpe in Budapest. Kristalina Georgieva, the EU Commissioner for International Co-operation, Humanitarian Aid and Crisis Response, tweeted: "Hungary well prepared for highest ever measured water levels on Danube. We are monitoring & ready to assist."

The Arab Spring in Prophecy

(Perilous Times Luke 21:9 & Nation against Nation, Kingdom against Kingdom Matt.24:7)
(Revelation 6:3-4 Revelation 6:8)

“For nation shall rise against nation,

Mark 13:8

CIVIL UNREST

Luke 21:9 and Matthew 24:7 speak of nation against nation and kingdom against kingdom in the end times. Revelation 6:3-4 speaks of the fiery red horse given power to make men slay one another and Revelation 6:8 speaks again of this red horse in conjunction with the pale horse of Death and Hades, as the one that has the power to kill by sword. I like to call this “The Arab Spring in Prophecy” because for us it is easy to identify- that’s what the world calls it.

Luke 21:9: wars & commotions; the Greek word here is Akatastasia, meaning instability, a state of disorder, disturbance, confusion (revolutions)

Matthew 24:7: the Greek word for nation is Ethnos & refers to various ethnic groups fighting among themselves, where the next sentence in the verse refers to kingdoms (basileiva) fighting one another (not to be confused with an actual kingdom but rather the right or authority to rule over a kingdom) I have tried to separate it into areas that sweep EAST from the point of North America.

United States- The New American Revolution

Headline: DHS insider: It’s about to get very ugly

“If anyone thinks that what’s going on right now with all of this surveillance of American citizens is to fight some sort of foreign enemy, they’re delusional. If people think that this ‘scandal’ can’t get any worse, it will, hour by hour, day by day. This has the ability to bring down our national leadership, the administration and other senior elected officials working in collusion with this administration, both Republican and Democrats. People within the NSA, the Department of Justice, and others, they know who they are, need to come forth with the documentation of ‘policy and practice’ in their possession, disclose what they know, fight what’s going on, and just do their job. I have never seen anything like this, ever. The present administration is going after leakers, media sources, anyone and everyone who is even suspected of ‘betrayal.’ That’s what they call it, ‘betrayal.’ Can you believe the size of their cahones? This administration considers anyone telling the truth about Benghazi, the IRS, hell, you name the issue, ‘betrayal,’” he said. This administration is collecting names of sources, whistle blowers and their families, names of media sources and everybody they talk to and have talked to, and they already have a huge list. If you’re not working for MSNBC or CNN, you’re probably on that list. If you are a website owner with a brisk readership and a conservative bent, you’re on that list. It’s a political dissident list, not an enemy threat list,” he stated.

Malian military officials say the country's army has reinforced its positions in the northern part of the West African country following a day of deadly fighting in the area. According to a statement released by Army Spokesman Lieutenant-Colonel Souleymane Maiga on Thursday, "We are reinforcing and consolidating our positions at Anefis." On Wednesday, at least ten people were killed in an operation launched by the Malian army against Tuareg rebels in Anefis village situated some 113 kilometers (70 miles) south of the provincial capital Kidal. During the Wednesday fighting against the rebels of the National Movement for the Liberation of Azawad (MNLA), government troops succeeded to retake control of the village. The Thursday statement also added that Malian soldiers were waiting for favorable conditions to pursue the operation towards the provincial capital.

A US drone strike Friday killed seven militants in northwest Pakistan, the first since Nawaz Sharif was sworn in as prime minister this week calling for an end to such attacks, local officials said.

The missiles hit a compound in Shokhel village, more than 100 kilometres (60 miles) southwest of Miranshah, the main town of North Waziristan tribal district which is known as a stronghold of Taliban and Al-Qaeda-linked militants. "The US drone fired two missiles targeting a militant compound and killing at least seven militants", a senior local security official told AFP. Another official confirmed the strike and casualties but said the identities of those killed were not yet known. The strike came just two days after Sharif was sworn in for a historic third time and asked the United States to end its campaign of drone attacks against militants.

Greek health workers have staged a rally in the capital, Athens, to protest against the government's austerity measures in the public sector. Doctors, nurses, hospital staff and ambulance drivers from across the country demonstrated outside the Health Ministry on Friday in protest to what they called the collapse of the country's health system following the cutbacks in funding, staff and supplies. "Our health is not for sale," read the banners raised outside the ministry. The health workers unions said that the state hospitals faced shortage of about 26,500 medical and nursing staff due to the government's spending cuts, while more unemployed citizens without health insurance turn to public healthcare services. The Greek protesters were joined by health unions from France, Belgium and Portugal. The foreigners came to support the Greek workers fearing similar cutbacks would occur in their countries.
