Headline: Netanyahu: Israelis Will Get a Chance to Nix Peace Deal

Shuttling between Israeli leaders in Jerusalem and Palestinian president Mahmud Abbas for a third straight day, U.S. Secretary of State John Kerry will continue on Saturday efforts to revive the Middle East peace process. Kerry cancelled a visit to the United Arab Emirates planned for Saturday in order to redouble his efforts between Israel and the Palestinians, State Department spokeswoman Marie Harf said, in comments reported by AFP news agency. Meanwhile, former Yesha Council head Danny Dayan declared United States leaders realize that the so-called “two-state solution” has failed, following a round of meetings with senior U.S. officials. Also, Prime Minister Binyamin Netanyahu announced Sunday during the weekly Cabinet meeting that Israelis will get a chance to weigh in on any planned peace deal with the Palestinian Authority. “There won’t be a diplomatic agreement that endangers Israel’s citizens, and I believe – I think it’s vital – that any agreement, if we reach one, will be brought before the people,” he declared.

Headline: Report: Egyptian military deploys tanks on Gaza border

At least 30 Egyptian tanks were massed along the Gaza-Sinai border on Monday afternoon, a Turkish news agency reported. According to the report in Anatolia, cited by Ynet, it is the “first time in years” that the Egyptian army has deployed tanks in the region. Under the Israel-Egypt peace treaty, Egypt is obligated to coordinate movement of heavy military vehicles and weapons in the Sinai with Israel. Egypt is in a state of high-alert due to massive, countrywide protests against the rule of President Mohammed Morsi, which have seen millions take to the streets. Since the latest round of protests began on Sunday, at least 16 people have died and hundreds have been wounded.

Headline: PM Warns Israel Has 'Legal, Moral Right' to Defend Its Civilians

Prime Minister Binyamin Netanyahu issued a blunt warning Monday to the International Committee of the Red Cross, saying Israel has a "legal and moral right" to attack any nation that fires at its civilians. Speaking with ICRC President Peter Mauer at a meeting in Jerusalem, the prime minister pointed out that Arab terrorists both to Israel's north and south use civilians as human shields, a crime against humanity. "Hizbullah terrorists are perpetrating war crimes in Syria and slaughtering innocent Syrian civilians even as it continues to stockpile tens of thousands of rockets, concentrated in residential buildings and aimed at Israeli civilians," he said. "Israel will continue to honor international law but will not sit idly by while terrorists perpetrate two war crimes simultaneously - firing at Israeli cities and hiding behind civilians in Lebanon or Gaza.

Jordan

Headline: Jordan: Four-sided peace summit possibly to be announced

Jordanian media reported that a joint Israeli, Palestinian, American and Jordanian summit will possibly be announced soon, in a move which will signal the restarting of the stalled peace process. According to the reports, which cite Palestinian sources, the Americans told the Palestinian side on Friday that Israel agreed to their preconditions of settlement construction freeze, prisoners' release and defining the borders on which basis the negotiations will be held, though these will be implemented gradually, and not all at once. According to the report, it was also settled that the talks will focus on issues of borders and security. So far, no official Palestinian confirmation to the reports was given. Meanwhile, Chinese news agency Xinhua reported that according to a senior Palestinian official President Mahmoud Abbas told Kerry on Friday that Israel's overtures are not enough to restart the peace process.

Headline: Jordanians Protest Imports from Israel, But Amman May Import Gas

Jordanians in Amman have been protesting against imports from Israel, but may not be aware their government has quietly been discussing the option of taking on another new import as well: the purchase of Israeli natural gas. Protesters in Jordan gathered in Amman's central vegetable market on Saturday calling on the government to ban imports from Israel. The Jordanian Higher Committee to Protect the Homeland and Resist Normalization had organized the demonstration, gathering activists and members of professional associations and political parties. The protesters called on authorities to ban Israeli imports and urged Jordanian citizens not to buy any Israeli products.

Headline: US official denounces Hezbollah's actions in Syria

A senior U.S. official denounced Hezbollah's involvement in the Syrian civil war Monday and accused the Shiite militant group of putting the interests of Iran and Syria above those of the Lebanese people. Underscoring growing sectarian bitterness, mainly Sunni rebels vowed to "liberate" two Shiite villages they've had under siege in northern Syria if residents don't renounce President Bashar Assad's regime and force out his troops and Hezbollah fighters. The comments by Deputy Secretary of State William Burns were the first by a high-ranking visiting U.S. official since Hezbollah helped propel Assad's troops to victory last month in the strategic town of Qusair near the Lebanese border.

Headline: Saudi Arabia calls on EU to arm Syrian rebels

Saudi Arabia, a foe of Syrian President Bashar Assad, has urged the European Union to arm Syrian rebels without delay, following similar action by the United States. The European Union lifted restrictions on arming the rebels in May when it failed to renew a weapons arms embargo before it expired on June 1. But Britain and France, which had advocated lifting the ban, said they would not send weapons before Aug. 1.

Headline: ElBaradei makes call for nationwide uprising against Mursi

Headline: Report: Morsi taken to Presidential Guard's headquarters

Egyptian opposition leader Mohammad ElBaradei has called on all Egyptians to take part in the planned nationwide protests on Sunday to overthrow Islamist President Mohammad Mursi.

ElBaradei, a Nobel peace laureate and former chief of the International Atomic Energy Agency (IAEA), said in a video message released on Saturday that President Mursi has "failed" in leading the nation toward a proper democratic path following the Jan. 25, 2011 revolution. "This revolution has erupted so that each one of us lives as human and be treated like human," ElBaradei said.

"Unfortunately, nothing of this has been achieved. We felt that we are in a deadlock and that the country will collapse not because the president is from the Muslim Brotherhood and not because there is only one party that rules, but because the regime has failed, completely failed," the founder of Dostour Party added. "We gave him [Mursi] the permit to drive; he doesn't know how to drive. The country is decaying and is falling, this is not Egypt and this is not the revolution," he said.

Headline: Tahrir Square erupts in joy after Egypt army statement

Egypt was locked in a tense standoff on Monday after a day of huge rallies in which at least ten people were killed. The protesters demand the resignation of Islamist President Mohammed Morsi and some of them are saying that the military needs to step in, if Morsi refuses to step down. The dead were all killed in Cairo or towns to its south. More than 600 were wounded during clashes between Morsi's supporters and opponents, according to Al Arabiya reports. Two men were killed by gunfire during an attack on the Muslim Brotherhood national headquarters in a suburb of the capital, medical sources said. Around 150 "thugs" attacked the building in the Moqqattam neighborhood with fire bombs, birdshot and stones, said a spokesman for the Muslim Brotherhood. Half a million people crowded Cairo's central Tahrir Square and a similar number protested in Alexandria. Meanwhile, Egypt's powerful military warned Monday that the nation's first democratically-elected leader in decades had just 48 hours to answer the demands made by thousands of anti-government protesters calling for his ouster, or it would intervene to force a political transition. The military's ultimatum was, it said, a "last chance."

Jeremiah 49:24-27

New King James Version (NKJV)

- 24 Damascus has grown feeble;
She turns to flee,
And fear has seized her.
Anguish and sorrows have taken her like a woman in labor.
- 25 Why is the city of praise not deserted, the city of My joy?
- 26 Therefore her young men shall fall in her streets,
And all the men of war shall be cut off in that day," says the LORD of hosts.
- 27 "I will kindle a fire in the wall of Damascus,
And it shall consume the palaces of Ben-Hadad."^[a]

The burden of Damascus. Behold, Damascus is taken away from being a city, and it shall be a ruinous heap.

Syrian army air strikes in the central city of Homs on Sunday killed three civilians, as government forces pressed forward with a new bid to retake several Opposition-controlled districts, a watchdog said, according to AFP. "Syrian warplanes carried out air strikes on the Old City of Homs a little while ago, destroying a house and causing three deaths," the Syrian Observatory for Human Rights said. "Regime forces also carried out heavy shelling of the districts of Khaldiyeh and the Old City, and the sound of explosions could be heard," the group added. Observatory director Rami Abdel Rahman said at least three civilians, a woman and two children, were killed in the air strikes in the Old City, and that dozens of people had been injured since the army assault began on Saturday, reported AFP. "The army is continuing its attempt to enter Khaldiyeh, but it hasn't succeeded so far," he added. On Saturday, the watchdog group said government forces were engaged in "unprecedented" bombardment of several parts of Homs, including the areas of Khaldiyeh, Bab Hud, Hamidiyeh and Bustan al-Diwan.

Syrian rebels in the northern province of Aleppo on Monday threatened to seize two Shiite Muslim villages that back President Bashar Assad unless they surrendered to the opposition. Activists say both Nubl and Zahra villages had been reinforced by Assad's allies in the increasingly sectarian war, among them fighters from Iran and Lebanon's powerful Shiite guerrilla group, Hezbollah. "We announce our intention to liberate Nubl and Zahra from the regime and its shabbiha (pro-Assad militia), and from the Hezbollah and Iranian elements," the rebels said in an Internet video.

Headline: Turkish police attack Kurdish protesters

The Turkish police have attacked thousands of Kurdish demonstrators in Diyarbakir, the main city in the country's Kurdish-dominated southeast. The police used water cannons and fired tear gas on Sunday to disperse about 8,000 protesters who gathered in the center of Diyarbakir to press the central government to advance the peace process with the Kurdistan Workers Party's (PKK). Video footage showed scuffles at the scene, with police charging at and chasing away protesters. The pro-Kurdish the Peace and Democracy Party (BDP) had called for protests to launch a summer of demonstrations against Ankara's lack of commitment to the peace process.

Headline: Europe to introduce second euro?

Europe begins to think about the introduction of the "second euro for the chosen." The EU countries with most robust economies should issue their own single currency. This can be a goal to pursue for Germany and the Netherlands in the first place, experts say. France is not in the group: its economic situation is too unstable to make the country a member of the "financial VIP Club." This was said by the former European Commissioner for Internal Market, Frits Bolkestein, on Dutch television. According to him, the new European money should be in use on a par with the joint European currency. The "second euro" will be issued by the Central Bank of Germany. This measure, according to the politician, will allow most creditworthy EU states to protect their financial positions under the conditions of another financial crisis, the main part of which is yet to come. "It's time to bring order in chaos," said Frits Bolkestein. Meanwhile, analysts say, should Bolkestein's idea come true, it will lead to most lamentable consequences for both most of Europe and the rest of the world. Such a move may trigger a domino effect for the entire monetary. "Introducing such a parallel currency in the euro zone can seriously weaken the already shaky position of the euro. Exporters, of course, will be happy to get low rates of the euro, but it is unlikely that the offer is viable in its current form," Investkafe analyst Anna Bodrova said.

Headline: Eurozone unemployment hits fresh high

The unemployment rate across the eurozone hit a fresh record in May, as the recession continued to affect workers around the region and young people again suffered most. The eurozone jobless rate rose to 12.1% in May, up from 12.0% in April, according to EU statistics office Eurostat. The youth unemployment rate was almost double that, at 23.8%, as 3.5 million under-25s were unemployed in May. In Spain and Greece the youth unemployment rate was as high as one in two. The rise in unemployment was driven by increased joblessness in countries at the heart of the crisis, including Spain, Italy and Ireland. As the eurozone languishes in its longest-ever recession, the number of people out of work across the currency bloc rose by 67,000 in May to 19.2 million.

Central banks sold a record amount of US Treasury debt last week and bond funds suffered the biggest investor withdrawals on record as global markets shuddered at the prospect of the US Federal Reserve ending its quantitative easing program. Holdings of US Treasuries held at the Fed on behalf of official foreign institutions, dropped a record $32.4 billion to $2.93 trillion, eclipsing the prior mark of $24 billion in August 2007. It was the third weekly outflow in the past four weeks and came as Japanese investors, who are big holders of US Treasury debt, sold a net $12 billion of foreign bonds last week, their biggest sale in 14 months.

Headline: China media warns Philippines of 'counterstrike' in South China Sea

The Philippines said that an increasing Chinese military and paramilitary presence in the disputed South China Sea was a threat to regional peace. Philippine Foreign Affairs Secretary Albert Del Rosario made the statement in a press release issued at a regional security forum attended by his counterparts from the 10-member Association of Southeast Asian Nations (ASEAN) and China. "Del Rosario today expressed serious concern over the increasing militarisation of the South China Sea," the statement said. He said there was a "massive presence of Chinese military and paramilitary ships" at two groups of islets within the Philippines' exclusive economic zone called Scarborough Shoal and Second Thomas Shoal. Del Rosario described the Chinese military presence at these islets as "threats to efforts to maintain maritime peace and stability in the region". Meanwhile, China's state media warned on Saturday that a "counterstrike" against the Philippines was inevitable if it continues to provoke Beijing in the South China Sea, potentially Asia's biggest military troublespot. The warning comes as ministers from both countries attend an Association of Southeast Asian Nations meeting in Brunei, starting Saturday, which hopes to reach a legally binding code of conduct to manage maritime conduct in disputed areas.

Headline: North Korea to discuss nuclear talks in Moscow - report

North Korea is deploying improved artilleries with a longer range at its frontline military units, South Korea's Yonhap news agency reported on Sunday, referring to a government source. North Korea's military is replacing 107-millimeter-caliber multiple rocket launchers deployed on the border with South Korea with the improved 240-mm-caliber multiple rocket launchers, the source said, adding the improved artilleries would pose a greater threat to South Korea's capital areas. North Korea is believed to have deployed multiple rocket launchers with 107mm, 122mm and 240mm calibers on the border. The new artilleries pose increased military threats to areas south of South Korea's capital region, which is near the border with the North, the source said.

Headline: Fears of MERS virus at Muslim hajj pilgrimage

Virologists are casting a worried eye on this year's Islamic hajj pilgrimage to Saudi Arabia as they struggle with the enigmatic, deadly virus known as MERS which is striking hardest in the kingdom. Little is known about the new pathogen, beyond the fact that it can be lethal by causing respiratory problems, pneumonia and kidney failure. It can be transmitted between humans, but unlike its cousin, the SARS virus, which sparked a scare a decade ago, it does not seem very contagious. Even so, for any respiratory virus the mass gathering of the hajj provides a perfect opportunity to first spread at the two holiest Muslim shrines in the cities of Mecca and Medina, and then travel around the globe at jet speed as pilgrims return home. Forty MERS patients have died to date, an extremely high rate of 52 percent, compared to nine percent of the 8,273 recorded patients with SARS, which was centred on Asia. But again, the tally of people who have fallen ill with MERS but not been diagnosed with it, or who may have been infected but not developed symptoms, is simply unknown.

Headline: Vets warn pets are catching deadly TB strain found in cattle and could pass it on to humans

Cats could pass on deadly bovine tuberculosis to their owners, according to vets. Adventurous felines are catching the disease during their exploration of badger setts or by coming into contact with rodents who have done the same. They can also pick up bovine TB directly from cattle or infected milk. Now experts says vets should be more aware that domestic cats can carry the disease.

'The real issue with cats with TB is that unless they are feral, they tend to have close contact with humans,' Carl Padgett, former president of the British Veterinary Association, told the Sunday Telegraph. 'That is where you ramp up a degree of the public health risk through direct contact with cats that have TB and that is where I see the importance rather than driving the outbreak among cattle.'

Headline: Gay Pride Disco Mass: New York City's St. Mark's Church In The Bowery Brings In The Divas For Celebration And Praise

Like most churches, St. Mark's Church in the Bowery holds Christian services in its sanctuary every Sunday morning at 11 a.m. Unlike most churches, on the last Sunday in June, the Episcopal church hangs the disco ball, turns up the music and invites a disco diva to lead their music ministry for the annual Gay Pride Disco Mass. Known for its commitment to the arts, poetry theatre and dance space, St. Mark's in the Bowery is a fixture in New York City's East Village. It is also one of New York's most historic churches -- its cornerstone was put down in 1795. The outside of the church made an appearance in the HBO version of Angels in America as the location of the funeral of a drag queen, and the church has long played a prominent role within the LGBT community. "The Disco Mass at St. Mark's is a longstanding tradition that offers the church a way to celebrate Pride weekend festivities in a worship style that has ranged from camp and drag to liberationist," explains St. Mark's pastor the Rev. Winnie Varghese, herself an out lesbian.

Headline: Same-sex couples line up to marry in California

Dozens of couples in jeans, shorts, white dresses and the occasional military uniform filled San Francisco City Hall on Saturday as clerks resumed issuing marriage licenses one day after a federal appeals court removed the last obstacle to making same-sex matrimony legal again in California.

Although a few clerk's offices around the state stayed open late on Friday, San Francisco was the only jurisdiction to hold weekend hours so same-sex couples could take advantage of their newly restored right, Clerk Karen Hong said.

Prophecy Sign: Persecution Matthew 24:9 & Revelation 6:9

"Then they will deliver you up to tribulation and kill you, and you will be hated by all nations for My name's sake." (Matthew)

"When He opened the fifth seal, I saw under the altar the souls of those who had been slain for the word of God and for the testimony which they held." (Revelation)

Headline: Catholic Priest Beheaded in Syria by Al-Qaeda-Linked Rebels as Men and Children Take Pictures and Cheer

Syrian Catholic priest Francois Murad killed last weekend by jihadi fighters was beheaded, according to a report by Catholic Online which is linking to video purportedly showing the brutal murder.

As TheBlaze reported last week, Murad, 49, was setting up a monastery in Gassanieh, northern Syria. Last Sunday, on the Christian leader's Sabbath, extremist militants trying to topple President Bashar Assad breached the monastery and grabbed Murad. While earlier reports suggested Murad may have been shot to death, Catholic Online reported Saturday: "The Vatican is confirming the death by beheading of Franciscan Father, Francois Murad, who was martyred by Syrian jihadists on June 23."

Prophecy Sign: Increase in Knowledge/Mark of the Beast Daniel 12:4 and Revelation 13:16-17 Revelation 20:4

"But you, Daniel, shut up the words, and seal the book until the time of the end; many shall run to and fro, and knowledge shall increase." (Daniel) "He causes all, both small and great, rich and poor, free and slave, to receive a mark on their right hand or on their foreheads, ¹⁷ and that no one may buy or sell except one who has the mark or the name of the beast, or the number of his name." (Revelation)
"And I saw thrones, and they sat on them, and judgment was committed to them. Then I saw the souls of those who had been beheaded for their witness to Jesus and for the word of God, who had not worshiped the beast or his image, and had not received his mark on their foreheads or on their hands. And they lived and reigned with Christ for a thousand years.” Revelation 20:4

Headline: Senate Passes Bill Requiring Biometric Exit System At Airports

The Senate last week approved comprehensive immigration reform legislation that includes a requirement for DHS to implement a biometric exit data system at "the 10 U.S. airports that support the highest volume of air travel, as determined by DOT international flight departure data."

The measure further requires DHS to establish within six years a mandatory biometric exit data system at "all the Core 30 international airports in the U.S., as so designated by the FAA." A report to Congress analyzing the effectiveness of biometric exit data at the initial 10 airports is required within three years of enactment. Further, the bill includes provisions requiring DHS by Sept. 30, 2017, to increase the number of trained Customs and Border Protection (CBP) officers by 3,500, adding that "In allocating any new officers to international land ports of entry and high volume international airports, the primary goals shall be to increase security and reduce wait times of commercial and passenger vehicles at international land ports of entry and primary processing wait times at high volume international airports by 50 percent by fiscal year 2014 and screening all air passengers within 45 minutes under normal operating conditions or 80 percent of passengers within 30 minutes by fiscal year 2016. Prophecy Sign: Scorching Sun Isaiah 30:26 & Revelation 16:8-9

“Moreover the light of the moon will be as the light of the sun, And the light of the sun will be sevenfold, As the light of seven days, In the day that the LORD binds up the bruise of His people And heals the stroke of their wound.” (Isaiah 30:26) “Then the fourth angel poured out his bowl on the sun, and power was given to him to scorch men with fire. ⁹ And men were scorched with great heat, and they blasphemed the name of God who has power over these plagues; and they did not repent and give Him glory.” (Revelation 16:8-9)

Prophecy Sign: Drought Jeremiah 50:38 & Isaiah 42:15

“A drought is against her waters, and they will be dried up. For it is the land of carved images, And they are insane with their idols.” “I will lay waste the mountains and hills, And dry up all their vegetation; I will make the rivers coastlands, And I will dry up the pools.”

Headline: California town forecast to be the hottest place in the world EVER today

The record-shattering, triple-digit heat wave is intensifying the drought across the West and in Utah — where nearly half of the state is suffering severe impacts from no rain and searing heat.

A national assessment looking at state-by-state impacts details some of the grim consequences playing out in Utah, and forecasters are not calling for relief anytime soon. Monday marked the fifth consecutive day with temperatures topping 100 degrees at Salt Lake City International Airport and the triple-digit heat is projected to be parked on our doorstep at least through Wednesday. This year's relentless dry, hot weather is prompting drastic measures in San Juan County, where better than half the land is in extreme drought. The National Drought Mitigation Center has received reports of cattlemen reducing the size of their herds and having to haul water. Elsewhere, the Grand County Water Conservancy District has reduced irrigation allotments down to 40 percent of what is typically delivered, and several Sanpete County communities are on rations of irrigation water.

The Arab Spring in Prophecy

(Perilous Times Luke 21:9 & Nation against Nation, Kingdom against Kingdom Matt.24:7)

(Revelation 6:3-4 Revelation 6:8)

“For nation shall rise against nation,
and kingdom against kingdom.
There will be earthquakes in various places, and there will be famines and sedition; these are the beginning of the labor pains.”

Mark 13:8

CIVIL UNREST

Luke 21:9 and Matthew 24:7 speak of nation against nation and kingdom against kingdom in the end times. Revelation 6:3-4 speaks of the fiery red horse given power to make men slay one another and Revelation 6:8 speaks again of this red horse in conjunction with the pale horse of Death and Hades, as the one that has the power to kill by sword. I like to call this "The Arab Spring in Prophecy" because for us it is easy to identify- that's what the world calls it.

Luke 21:9: wars & commotions; the Greek word here is Akatastasia, meaning instability, a state of disorder, disturbance, confusion (revolutions)

Matthew 24:7: the Greek word for nation is Ethnos & refers to various ethnic groups fighting among themselves, where the next sentence in the verse refers to kingdoms (basileiva) fighting one another (not to be confused with an actual kingdom but rather the right or authority to rule over a kingdom) I have tried to separate it into areas that sweep EAST from the point of North America.

Headline: Brazil police fire tear gas to disperse angry protesters in Rio Brazilian police have used tear gas in clashes with thousands of protesters near Maracana Stadium in Rio de Janeiro, as Brazil took on Spain in the final match of the FIFA Confederations Cup. The violence erupted on Sunday as 5,000 people were marching on the stadium, venting their anger against government corruption and its spending policies. More than 11,000 police and troops had been mobilized to the arena and at least six people were reportedly wounded in the clashes. Brazilian President Dilma Rousseff, whose popularity has plunged since the beginning of the unrest, did not attend the sporting event.

Africa- ONLY COUNTRIES NOT IN PROPHECY

Headline: U.N. peacekeepers take over from African troops in Mali

United Nations soldiers will take over from African troops in conflict-scarred Mali from Monday, making up the organization's third-largest peacekeeping force by the end of the year. A 12,600-strong force will take over security duties from French troops who entered Mali in January to halt an Islamist advance and help the government re-establish its authority over the vast country. France is winding down its deployment from its peak of nearly 4,500 but is to keep up to 1,000 troops in Mali and they will maintain responsibility for military strikes against the Islamists. "Security conditions are satisfactory, no major attack has been recorded against the Malian and African forces, and most important, despite what certain people feared, the political process has experienced a very positive evolution," France's U.N. ambassador Gerard Araud said, welcoming the handover. Rwandan General Jean-Bosco Kazura, formerly second in command of African Union troops in Sudan's western Darfur region, will lead the force.

Middle East- ONLY COUNTRIES NOT IN PROPHECY

Headline: Violence Threatens New Pakistani Government

Headline: What's behind the attacks on Shiites in Pakistan?

Authorities in Pakistan say the death toll from Sunday's several bombings across the country has risen to more than 50. There were more deaths Monday when gunmen shot two policemen in Peshawar in the country's northwest. There is growing shock and outrage in Pakistan over the violence, as nearly 300 people have died during the month of June alone. The deadliest attack Sunday occurred in the southwestern city of Quetta where a suicide bomber struck evening prayers at a mosque for Shiite Muslims. There were nine women and several children among at least 30 killed in that blast, while dozens more were wounded. Several massive bombings have targeted the minority Hazara community in Quetta since the beginning of the year. An outlawed Pakistani Sunni militant group, Lashkar-e-Jhangvi, has claimed responsibility for the massacres. Some officials blame their country's cooperation in the U.S.-led anti-terrorism war in neighboring Afghanistan for the rise in extremist violence. But critics cite links between Pakistani intelligence agencies and Islamist groups fighting alongside Afghan insurgents, and militants fighting in India in the disputed Kashmir region.

Headline: Xinjiang hit by more deadly violence

Xinjiang suffered another violent attack yesterday, two days after deadly clashes in the region that a Beijing official labelled a terrorist act. Thirty-five people were killed on Wednesday in Lukqun township, Shanshan county, in Turpan prefecture. Foreign Ministry spokeswoman Hua Chunying described the clashes as a terrorist attack. "As to who masterminded it, local people are still investigating," she said yesterday. Wednesday's violence came ahead of the fourth anniversary of clashes in Urumqi, capital of the autonomous region, between the Han majority and Uygurs that left nearly 200 people dead. An exiled Uygur activist said Wednesday's violence started when police raided homes.

Headline: Strike shuts down Kashmir after mass protests

The people of Indian-administered Kashmir have held a complete shutdown strike in response to the killing of two youth by the Indian army in the disputed Himalayan Valley. On Monday, almost all educational institutions, banks, private offices and businesses remained closed, and traffic stayed off the streets in Srinagar and some other major towns of the Kashmir Valley. The development came after two young persons were shot dead by Indian forces in the Bandipora District of the violence-wracked valley on Sunday. The killings triggered huge protests and angry demonstrators chanted slogans against the Indian army. Several separatist groups who oppose New Delhi rule over the Muslim-majority region called the strike. Separatist leaders say the Indian government should hold the security forces accountable for human rights violations in Kashmir.
