ISRAEL

(Zech.12:3 & 9 - The Burdensome Stone)

Zechariah 12:3 “And in that day will I make Jerusalem a burdensome stone for all people: all that burden themselves with it shall be cut in pieces, though all the people of the earth be gathered together against it.”

Headline: Palestinians planning to launch flotilla from Gaza

A group of Palestinian activists from Intifada Youth Coalition is planning on sailing from Gaza Strip in an attempt to challenge the naval blockade on the territory. The group of 200 Palestinian activists, backed by other foreign activists who are currently in Gaza, is planning to take boats from the Palestinian coast to the line of the marine closure, six nautical miles from shore, on Friday. It is also likely that the flotilla will try to cross that line in order to achieve a conscious victory. The act of demonstration is being done in conjunction with Palestinian fishermen, said the message that the activists published, who are demanding that the Israelis extend their fishing area. The activists say the purpose of the flotilla is to remind the world that Gaza is still under a naval closure. In the announcement, the members called for "powerful world sources" to press for more naval and land convoys to enter Gaza. A Gaza spokesman, who is involved with the group, told Ynet that the flotilla will have from three to five large boats and five smaller boats, which will sail as one unit with the goal to reach the six-mile line, or close to it.

Headline: Palestinians protest against Israel settlement plan

Israel's defense ministry says plans to build 800 new housing units in the West Bank are moving forward. The ministry said on Monday it had approved a planning stage for the housing earlier this month. The approval is an initial step in a protracted bureaucratic process and construction is not expected to begin for months. The approval comes as Israel and the Palestinians are conducting quiet, behind-the-scenes peace talks. The Palestinians want the West Bank, along with east Jerusalem and the Gaza Strip, as part of a future state and oppose Israeli settlement building. The housing plans were originally announced last month, following Israel's release of 26 Palestinian prisoners. That move was part of a deal that brought the two sides back to negotiations.

Saudi Arabia

Headline: Iran nuclear deal: Saudi Arabia warns it will strike out on its own

A senior advisor to the Saudi royal family has accused its Western allies of deceiving the oil rich kingdom in striking the nuclear accord with Iran and said Riyadh would follow an independent foreign policy. Nawaf Obaid told a think tank meeting in London that Saudi Arabia was determined to pursue its own foreign and policy goals. Having in the past been reactive to events, the leading Sunni Muslim nation was determined to be pro-active in future. Mr Obaid said that while Saudi Arabia knew that the US was talking directly to Iran through a channel in the Gulf state of Oman, Washington had not directly briefed its ally. "We were lied to, things were hidden from us," he said. "The problem is not with the deal struck in Geneva but how it was done."

Headline: Saudi deploys troops to Iraq border after first mortar attack in decades

Saudi Arabia has mobilized troops near its border with Iraq. Officials said the Interior Ministry and National Guard Ministry have sent troops to a remote desert location near Iraq. They said the troops were deployed in wake of a mortar strike from Iraq on a Saudi border post on Nov. 21. An Iraqi Shi'ite group claimed responsibility for the attack. "This is an area very close to the Iraqi and Kuwaiti borders," Saudi Interior Ministry spokesman Maj. Gen. Mansour Al Turki said. "So, sometimes this could come from military training or many other reasons. We have to wait for the investigation to show where it happened." This marked the first reported attack in decades on Saudi Arabia from Iraq. The mortar strike took place less than two days after an Al Qaida-aligned militia took responsibility for twin car bombings of the Iranian embassy in Lebanon. Officials said the Saudi military was coordinating with its counterparts in Iraq and Kuwait. They said the Royal Saudi Air Force has also intensified reconnaissance missions near the Iraqi border. The Saudi military deployment took place amid the signing of an agreement by Western powers that would enable Iran to maintain its nuclear enrichment program. Officials said the accord on Nov. 24 by the so-called P5+1 would expand Iranian intervention in Saudi Arabia and other Gulf Cooperation Council states.

ISAIAH 19: 1-4

1: The burden of Egypt. Behold, the LORD rideth upon a swift cloud, and shall come into Egypt: and the idols of Egypt shall be moved at his presence, and the heart of Egypt shall melt in the midst of it.

2: And I will set the Egyptians against the Egyptians: and they shall fight every one against his brother, and every one against his neighbour; city against city, and kingdom against kingdom. 3: And the spirit of Egypt shall fail in the midst thereof; and I will destroy the counsel thereof: and they shall seek to the idols, and to the charmers, and to them that have familiar spirits, and to the wizards.

4: And the Egyptians will I give over into the hand of a cruel lord; and a fierce king shall rule over them, saith the Lord, the LORD of hosts.

Headline: Mubarak, sons to face new Egypt trial

Egypt's ousted dictator Hosni Mubarak and his two sons will face a new trial for using state funds to acquire personal property, judicial sources said Sunday. Mubarak and his two sons, Alaa and Gamal, are accused of using 125 million Egyptian pounds (13.5 million euros, $18 million) -- which had been allocated for presidential palaces by the ministry of housing -- for personal purchases. Four others are accused in the same case, the sources said, adding that the date for the trial has yet to be set. Mubarak is already facing a retrial on charges of complicity in the deaths of protesters during the 2011 uprising that ended his more than three decades of rule. His sons are also on trial in a separate corruption case.

Headline: Egypt issues controversial law on protests

Egypt's interim president signed into law on Sunday a bill that rights groups have said sharply curbs the rights of citizens to assemble and protest peacefully. "The president enacted the law on the regulation of the right to hold public meetings, processions and peaceful demonstrations in public places," Agence France-Presse quoted presidency spokesman Ehab Badawi as saying in a statement. Meanwhile, Prime Minister Hazem Beblawi told AFP that the new law protects the rights of protesters. "It is not a law that limits the right to demonstrate, but it aims at protecting the right of protesters," Beblawi said. He said the law does not stipulate that protesters need permission before staging demonstrations, but they must give advance "notice." The prime minister said details of the law endorsed will be published later. The much-anticipated bill has stirred serious criticism from rights and political groups.

Jeremiah 49:24-27

New King James Version (NKJV)

- 24 Damascus has grown feeble;
She turns to flee,
And fear has seized her.
Anguish and sorrows have taken her like a woman in labor.
- 25 Why is the city of praise not deserted, the city of My joy?
- 26 Therefore her young men shall fall in her streets,
And all the men of war shall be cut off in that day," says the LORD of hosts.
- 27 "I will kindle a fire in the wall of Damascus,
And it shall consume the palaces of Ben-Hadad."^[a]

The burden of Damascus. Behold, Damascus is taken away from being a city, and it shall be a ruinous heap.

Syria

Headline: Syria peace conference set for January 22, U.N. says

After months of delays, a "Geneva II" conference meant to broker an end to the Syrian civil war has been scheduled to begin on January 22 in Geneva, Switzerland, the United Nations said Monday morning. "At long last and for the first time, the Syrian government and opposition will meet at the negotiation table rather than the battlefield," U.N. Secretary-General Ban Ki-moon said during a news conference. He added that the goal of the conference includes "the establishment, based on mutual consent, of a transitional governing body with full executive powers, including over military and security entities." While he dubbed the U.N.-brokered meeting a "mission of hope" and called on both sides to cease violence and release detainees in preparation for the talks, he did not say which parties will attend -- a subject that helped push back the conference for months. While Ban declined to answer questions regarding his statement or elaborate on which opposition groups would attend, Brahimi said later that the government and rebels have been asked to name their delegations by the end of the year. In response to questions, Brahimi said Iran and Saudi Arabia could be "possible participants" at Geneva II. Pressed more specifically on Iran, he said, "I don't think I can comment on that. I think we said several times that the secretary general of the United Nations and the secretary general of the Arab League are in favor of inviting Iran."

Headline: 11 dead in mortar fire on Aleppo

Fierce fighting to the east of Damascus has killed more than 160 people in the past two days as Syrian rebels struggle to break a months-long blockade by forces loyal to President Bashar al-Assad, activists said on Sunday. It began on Friday when rebel units attacked a string of military checkpoints encircling the opposition-held suburbs in an area known as Eastern Ghouta, which has been under siege for more than six months. Local and international aid workers say Assad's forces appeared to be trying to starve out residents - indiscriminately affecting civilians as much as rebel fighters. The blockade has cut off rebels' weapons supplies and helped turn the tide of fighting around the capital in Assad's favor. The battle has also drawn in hundreds of foreign fighters on both sides, underlining how Syria's civil war has stirred Sunni-Shi'ite sectarian tensions across the region. "It is a ferocious fight between the two sides because it's a struggle over our ultimate fate here," said Bara Abdelrahman, a media activist with the rebel Islam Army brigades in the area.

Headline: Attacks leave over 30 people dead across Iraq

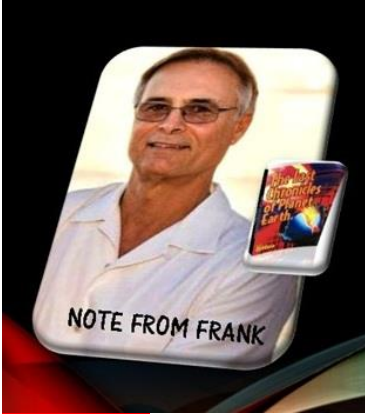

Over 30 people have been killed in several attacks across Iraq as the country is grappling with a prolonged rise in violence. At least 15 people were killed in a bombing at a local market in the Sadriyah neighbourhood of the Iraqi capital Baghdad on Monday. Over 35 people were also wounded in the attack as people gathered at restaurants and cafes and did the shopping. The market had been hit by a massive car bomb in April 2007, which left 140 people dead. In another attack, four policemen were killed after a bomb exploded near a police station in Baghdad's northeastern outskirts, while another bombing targeting Sahwa militiamen, killed one fighter. Also on Monday, separate assaults in the capital left three people dead, including a Justice Ministry employee. A car bomb in a residential area in the city of Mosul claimed five lives. Furthermore, a magnetic "sticky bomb" attached to a car in the northern city killed its driver. Another explosive-ridden vehicle went off at a joint checkpoint, killing a soldier and two Kurdish security forces. In the volatile city of Baquba, north of Baghdad, a man was killed by a "sticky bomb" attached to his car. Meanwhile, former lawmaker Jamal Mohsen was shot dead inside his house on the outskirts of Nasiriyah city.

Ezekiel (Yechezk'el) War

Comment: Listed below are the nations which will attack Israel from Ezekiel chapter 38 and their modern day names.

Gog is the leader of the Russian invasion of Israel.

Magog, Meshech, and Tubal comprise modern day Russia.

Persia is Iran, parts of northern Iraq, and Afghanistan.

Cush is Ethiopia and Sudan.

Put is Libya and will most likely include Tunisia, Algeria, and Morocco.

Gomer is Eastern Germany.

Beth Togarmah is Turkey and Armenia.

There are major differences between the Psalm 83 war and the Ezekiel 38 war which shows us they are not the same war. Here are a few major differences. At the current time Israel is still calling for Peace and safety and they have bars, gates, and walls to protect them from the PLO. The told Ezekiel this war will take place when Israel is living in peace and feeling safe. As long as the enemies of Israel listed in the Psalm 83 war are working to wipe out Israel, Israel will never feel safe enough to remove any of the bars, gates, or walls which shows us the Psalm war has to take place first. Another major difference between the Psalm war and Ezekiel war is the nations who attack Israel are different. In the Psalm 83 war you see the nations that border Israel attacking her. The nations listed to attack Israel in the Ezekiel war do not show any of the nations which are listed in the Psalm war. Why? The answer is simple. Israel will already have destroyed the nations who attacked them in the Psalm 83 war and they will make no other to attempt to wipe them out. When the nations listed in the Ezekiel war see what Israel did to their Brothers listed in the Psalm war they in turn will pick up the torch and try to do what the Psalm 83 nations couldn't do, wipe Israel off the map. How will this Ezekiel 38-39 war end. God tells us that 5/6 of the entire army that attacks Israel will be killed. At the end of the day Israel will have won the Psalm 83 war and the Ezekiel war. In the Psalm 83 war the IDF will have defeated their enemies. In the Ezekiel it will be God who steps in to wipe out all the armies who try to wipe out Israel. The current events you are now witnessing in the Middle East is setting up the scene for both the Psalm war and Ezekiel war.

Headline: Libya army in Benghazi clashes with Ansar al-Sharia

U.S Secretary of State John Kerry on Sunday vowed to work with the international community to try and restore order in Libya following a recent escalation in violence. Kerry was speaking in London following talks with British counterpart William Hague and Libyan Prime Minister Ali Zeidan.

“We talked to the prime minister today about the things we can do together - the United Kingdom and the United States and its other friends - in order to help Libya to achieve the stability that it needs,” he told a press conference. “Libya has gone through great turmoil, particularly after the course of the last weeks,” Kerry added. “And the Prime Minister informed us of a transformation that he believes is beginning to take place and could take place because the people of Libya have spoken out and pushed back against the militias,” he said. “So this is a moment of opportunity where there’s a great deal of economic challenge, there’s a great deal of security challenge,” he added.

Prophecy Sign: Economic collapse Revelation 6:5-6 & James 5:1-3- Worldwide

“When He opened the third seal, I heard the third living creature say, “Come and see.” So I looked, and behold, a black horse, and he who sat on it had a pair of scales in his hand. ⁶ And I heard a voice in the midst of the four living creatures saying, “A quart of wheat for a denarius, and three quarts of barley for a denarius; and do not harm the oil and the wine.” (Revelation)

“Come now, you rich, weep and howl for your miseries that are coming upon you! ² Your riches are corrupted, and your garments are moth-eaten. ³ Your gold and silver are corroded, and their corrosion will be a witness against you and will eat your flesh like fire. You have heaped up treasure in the last days.” (James)

Comment: Christ tells us in Revelation 6:5-6 that it will cost a denarius (an entire days wage confirmed by Matthew 20:2 where a vineyard owner agrees to pay laborers a denarius for a days work) for a quart of wheat and three quarts of barley. That is one small meal!

Headline: Banks Warn Fed They May Have To Start Charging Depositors

The Fed's Catch 22 just got catchier. While most attention in the recently released FOMC minutes fell on the return of the taper as a possibility even as soon as December (making the November payrolls report the most important ever, ever, until the next one at least), a less discussed issue was the Fed's comment that it would consider lowering the Interest on Excess Reserves to zero as a means to offset the implied tightening that would result from the reduction in the monthly flow once QE entered its terminal phase (for however briefly before the plunge in the S&P led to the Untaper). After all, the Fed's policy book goes, if IOER is raised to tighten conditions, easing it to zero, or negative, should offset "tightening financial conditions", right? Wrong. As the FT reports leading US banks have warned the Fed that should it lower IOER, they would be forced to start charging depositors. In other words, just like Europe is already toying with the idea of NIRP (and has been for over a year, if still mostly in the rhetorical and market rumor phase), so the Fed's IOER cut would also result in a negative rate on deposits which the FT tongue-in-cheekly summarizes "depositors already have to cope with near-zero interest rates, but paying just to leave money in the bank would be highly unusual and unwelcome for companies and households."

"And you will hear of wars and rumors of wars. See that you are not troubled; for all these things must come to pass, but the end is not yet." Headline: Japan Rejects China's Claim to Air Rights Over Islands

Headline: China slams 'inappropriate' U.S. remarks on territorial dispute with Japan

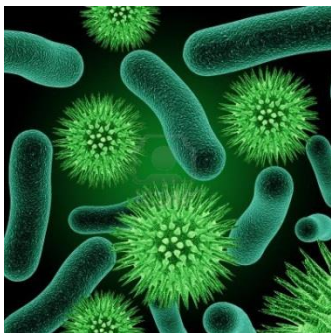

China has claimed the right to take military action against aircraft that enter a newly declared "air defence identification zone" that covers an area contested by Japan, in a move that is likely to escalate an already tense territorial dispute in the East China Sea. The Defence Ministry released a map and geographical co-ordinates for the zone, which covered areas very close to Japan and South Korea, and included the skies over islands that China claims as Diaoyu, and the Japanese claim as Senkaku. The ministry said aircraft entering the airspace must report a flight plan and respond to identification inquiries. "China's armed forces will take defensive emergency measures to respond to aircraft that do not co-operate in identification or refuse to follow orders," Defence spokesman Colonel Yang Yujun said, adding it was not "directed at any specific country or target". Advertisement "The objective is to defend national sovereignty and territorial and air security, as well as to maintain orderly aviation," he said. Japan swiftly lodged a strong protest over what it called a "dangerous escalation" of the dispute. The eight uninhabited islands had been a source of tension for decades, but flared after Japan bought three of the islands from a private owner last year. "Setting up such airspace unilaterally escalates the situation surrounding Senkaku islands and has danger of leading to an unexpected situation," the Japanese Foreign Ministry said. Meanwhile, China has told the United States to butt out of a territorial dispute with Japan in the East China Sea after Washington warned that a military claim by Beijing to airspace in the region raises the risk of "misunderstanding and miscalculations." China's announcement Saturday of the zone, which it described as an early-warning system for self-defense, drew a swift response from the United States, Japan's closest military ally. Washington warned that the latest Chinese move creates the risk of potentially dangerous miscalculations in the sensitive region, where Chinese and Japanese ships and planes have already been involved in tense encounters. "This unilateral action constitutes an attempt to change the status quo in the East China Sea. Escalatory action will only increase tensions in the region and create risks of an incident," U.S. Secretary of State John Kerry said.

Headline: Another patient dies of MERS infection in Saudi Arabia

Saudi Arabia's Health Ministry says another patient has died from the Middle East Respiratory Syndrome coronavirus (MERS-CoV) in the kingdom. In a statement released on Sunday, the ministry announced the death of a 30-year-old Saudi man from the MERS-CoV in the capital Riyadh. The ministry added that the recent death has placed the total number of those died from the illness in Saudi Arabia at 55. On November 18, the World Health Organization (WHO) said in a statement that the number of confirmed infections throughout the globe stood at 157, of which 66 have died. "Globally, from September 2012 to date, WHO has been informed of a total of 157 laboratory-confirmed cases of infection with MERS-CoV, including 66 deaths," the statement said. MERS-CoV is a cousin of SARS. The virus first emerged in the Middle East, and was discovered on September 2012 in a Qatari man who had recently traveled to Saudi Arabia. Similar cases have also been reported in Jordan, Qatar, Germany, France, Italy, Tunisia and the United Kingdom. Health officials say the virus is likely to have already spread between people in some circumstances.

Headline: More polio cases in Syria to be confirmed this week: WHO

The World Health Organization is likely to announce more cases of polio in war-ravaged Syria this week, a spokeswoman said on Monday, after the incurable virus was confirmed this month in 13 children who became paralyzed. "(The outbreak) is expected to spread within the country, which is why we need to vaccinate all Syrian children," WHO spokeswoman Sona Bari said in an email sent to Reuters. "This week we expect confirmation that there are more cases of polio but I don't have the numbers yet," she said, adding that new cases were a sign "that surveillance is working".

In Syria's first polio outbreak since 1999, the virus has been confirmed in 13 of 22 children who became paralyzed in the northern province of Deir al-Zor. Investigations continue into the other nine cases. The opposition-run Assistance Coordination Unit, which oversees humanitarian relief in Syria, said in a report seen by Reuters that there were now 58 cases of acute flaccid paralysis, a symptom of diseases including polio, in the country. The report said cases had surfaced in Hama in central Syria and in Aleppo and Idlib in the north, suggesting that the virus was spreading.

Headline: Indonesian volcano erupts eight times within hours

Ten major volcanoes have erupted along the Ring of Fire during the past few months, and the mainstream media in the United States has been strangely silent about this. But this is a very big deal. We are seeing eruptions at some volcanoes that have been dormant for decades. Yes, it is certainly not unusual for two or three major volcanoes along the Ring of Fire to be active at the same time, but what we are witnessing right now is highly unusual. And if the U.S. media is not concerned about this yet, the truth is that they should be. Approximately 90 percent of all earthquakes and approximately 80 percent of all volcanic eruptions occur along the Ring of Fire, and it runs directly up the west coast of the United States. Perhaps if Mt. Rainier in Washington state suddenly exploded or a massive earthquake flattened Los Angeles the mainstream media would wake up. Most Americans have grown very complacent about these things, but right now we are witnessing volcanic activity almost everywhere else along the Ring of Fire. It is only a matter of time before it happens here too.

(Revelation 6:3-4 Revelation 6:8)

“For nation shall rise against nation,
and kingdom against kingdom.
There will be earthquakes in various places, and there will be famines and sedition; these are the beginning of the labor pains.”

Mark 13:8

CIVIL UNREST

Luke 21:9 and Matthew 24:7 speak of nation against nation and kingdom against kingdom in the end times. Revelation 6:3-4 speaks of the fiery red horse given power to make men slay one another and Revelation 6:8 speaks again of this red horse in conjunction with the pale horse of Death and Hades, as the one that has the power to kill by sword. I like to call this “The Arab Spring in Prophecy” because for us it is easy to identify- that’s what the world calls it.

Luke 21:9: wars & commotions; the Greek word here is Akatastasia, meaning instability, a state of disorder, disturbance, confusion (revolutions)

Matthew 24:7: the Greek word for nation is Ethnos & refers to various ethnic groups fighting among themselves, where the next sentence in the verse refers to kingdoms (basileiva) fighting one another (not to be confused with an actual kingdom but rather the right or authority to rule over a kingdom) I have tried to separate it into areas that sweep EAST from the point of North America.

Headline: Protests Erupt After Kampala Mayor Impeachment

Kampala city councilors have voted to dismiss the city's mayor, a major opposition figure, sparking protests and accusations of interference from the president. Monday's vote of impeachment follows a judgment by a government tribunal last week, in which then-mayor Erias Lukwago was found guilty of abuse of office, incompetence and misconduct. Lukwago is a prominent opposition figure and high-profile opponent of Ugandan President Yoweri Museveni. News of his removal Monday led to pockets of protest in Kampala, as police fired tear gas and a downtown market was closed. Lukwago's political ally, opposition leader Kizza Besigye, has accused President Museveni of trying to get rid of Lukwago in order to take control of the capital city. Critics of the president, who has been in power since 1986, have accused him of becoming increasingly autocratic in recent years.

Headline: Police, pro-Europe protesters clash in Ukraine, EU condemns Russia

The European Union criticized Russia on Monday for pressurizing Ukraine to reject an EU trade deal, while police fired tear gas at pro-Europe protesters in the former Soviet republic, torn once more between East and West. Ukraine had been expected to sign a far-reaching trade and political association agreement with the EU at a summit in Vilnius on Friday, the biggest prize in Brussels' efforts to draw states in the former Communist East closer to the EU fold. But it suddenly announced last week it had decided instead to seek closer trade relations with Moscow. The decision followed months of Russian pressure, including threats to cut off Ukraine's gas supplies and impose trade restrictions. Moscow has accused the European Union of putting the squeeze on Kiev, too. Protests have since broken out on the streets of Kiev, with tens of thousands of people demonstrating in favor of closer ties with the European Union, the biggest outpouring since its pro-democracy Orange Revolution nine years ago. In unusually firm language on Monday, the EU's two most senior officials, European Council President Herman Van Rompuy and European Commission President Jose Manuel Barroso, denounced Russia's actions and said the EU offer remained open. "The European Union will not force Ukraine, or any other partner, to choose between the European Union or any other regional entity," they said in a joint statement. "We therefore strongly disapprove of the Russian position and actions in this respect."

Headline: 'Get out! Get out!': Thai protesters demand 'people's revolution'

Tens of thousands of demonstrators took to the streets of Bangkok on Monday as peaceful protests from the previous day escalated into the occupation of key government buildings. While initially spurred by a controversial amnesty law scuttled by parliament last month, protesters have become emboldened, and are now demanding the resignation Prime Minister Yingluck Shinawatra. Opposition leader Suthep Thaugsuba initially assured the massed ranks of police that the demonstration would be peaceful, claiming that his supporters would be "blowing whistles and handing out flowers." But as Sunday's street crowds swelled to over 150,000 – the biggest since the last violent political crisis in 2010 – Thaugsuba called for a "people's revolution." On Monday, thousands occupied about a dozen buildings throughout the center of the Thai capital, including the Army HQ and the Finance Ministry. Most remained peaceful, but shouted "Get out! Get out!" in chants aimed at Shinawatra. The prime minister, who faces a no-confidence debate in parliament Tuesday, has remained defiant in the face of the protests. "I have no intention of resigning or dissolving the parliament," she told reporters. "The Cabinet can still function, even though we are facing some difficulties. All sides have shown their political aims, now they must turn to face each other and talk to find a peaceful way out for the country."
