Headline: Confusion over Temple Mount prayer law used to fan tensions

Knesset members from the Likud and Labor parties are set to push forward a new bill that would allow Jews to pray at the Temple Mount, a practice currently forbidden. MKs Miri Regev (Likud) and Hilik Bar (Labor) were expected to present the controversial bill for Knesset discussion, Ynet reported, but it is unclear when they will do so. “There is no reason that Jews should not be allowed to pray in the holiest site in the world,” Regev said, adding that she would fight for the initiative. “I firmly believe that each event of Muslim unrest on the Mount should lead to its closure to Arabs. The prime minister is not the only decider on the issue, and if the proposal does not pass I’ll turn to the High Court of Justice in a public petition until Jews are allowed to pray with tallit and tefillin on the Temple Mount,” Ynet quoted Regev as saying. Given that Jewish prayer on the Temple Mount remains a contentious issue, one which often leads to violent clashes between Palestinians and Israeli police, Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu was expected to nix the proposal.

Headline: IDF, US Rehearse for Iran Missile Attack

The IDF and the US military cooperated Sunday in a large drill simulating a multi-front missile attack on Israel by Gaza, Lebanon, Syria and Iran, Channel 2 reported Sunday. During the exercise, about 1,000 American soldiers stationed in Israel joined more than 4,000 Israelis, to practice the protection of the State of Israel in a series of scenarios that simulate the firing of rockets and missiles from several arenas simultaneously: Gaza, Lebanon, Syria and Iran. The exercise reportedly tested various scenarios, including one in which the U.S. sent Patriot missiles to Israel and some Aegis-type ships, which carry rockets and other defense systems against ballistic missiles, meant to assist Israel in protecting its population and territory.

Headline: Israel, Palestinians eye political gain from papal visit

Headline: Pope Will 'Recognize Palestine, Call to End Occupation'

When Pope Francis arrives in the Holy Land on his "pilgrimage of prayer," Israelis and Palestinians will both be looking to use the visit to score a few political points.

Although the Vatican has said the emphasis of the pope's visit is to heal a centuries-old rift between the Catholic and Orthodox worlds, every gesture he makes is likely to come under close scrutiny by both sides. For Israel, it will be a chance to draw world attention for something other than its ongoing settlement activity. "The very fact of the visit is a success," an Israeli official told AFP on condition of anonymity, as the tourism ministry said it was hoping the papal pilgrimage would drive a 10 percent increase in Christian tourism. In fact, the pope's "pilgrimage of prayer", which begins in Jordan on Saturday, will leave a relatively faint footprint in Israel. His visit to Israel and the Palestinian territories will kick off on Sunday in the southern West Bank city of Bethlehem. "He is taking a helicopter directly from Jordan to Palestine - to Bethlehem. It's a kind of sign of recognizing Palestine," Father Jamal Khader of the Latin patriarchate in Jerusalem told journalists. In Bethlehem, the pope will meet Palestinian Authority President Mahmoud Abbas and then celebrate mass in front of the Church of the Nativity, traditional birthplace of Jesus, before visiting a nearby refugee camp. "Knowing who he is, and his sensitivity for all those who suffer, I am sure that he will say something defending all those who are suffering, including the Palestinians who live under occupation," Khader said.

Headline: Hamas wants to employ the 'Hezbollah model'

A Hamas source has said the model being planned for the new Palestinian unity government is that of Hezbollah in Lebanon, in which the organization is a government party that has shed responsibility for routine matters but maintains an independent military. "If anyone expects Hamas to hand over its missile network to the PA, he's making a big mistake," the Hamas source said. "Hamas wants to avoid ministerial responsibility for civilian matters, but it wants to maintain its power as a popular-resistance group.” According to Hamas sources, one issue to be solved is the degree of security coordination with Israel. Mahmoud Abbas says that as long as he is president, security coordination will continue. Still, many Hamas activists in the West Bank find themselves summoned to interrogations by the Palestinian security forces. Another issue is whether elections for the presidency and parliament would be held toward the end of the year. Meanwhile, despite Fatah and Hamas’ predictions that they will unveil a unity government next week, other Palestinian factions say such a leadership would not last long.

Prophecy Sign: 1 Thessalonians 5:3,4: “For when they shall say, Peace and safety; then sudden destruction cometh upon them, as travail upon a woman with child; and they shall not escape. But ye, brethren, are not in darkness, that that day should overtake you as a thief.”

Headline: Despite Israel's stance, U.S. likely to cooperate with Palestinian unity government

Despite Israel’s position, the U.S. administration is tending toward cooperating with the soon-to-be-formed Palestinian unity government, even if Hamas as an organization does not accept the conditions of the Mideast Quartet to recognize Israel, honor previous agreements and abandon violence. A senior White House official told Haaretz that as long as the platform of the future government meets the conditions of the Quartet - the United Nations, the United States, the European Union and Russia - the U.S. will be satisfied. “We want a Palestinian government that upholds those principles,” said the White House official. “In terms of how they build this government, we are not able to orchestrate that for the Palestinians. We are not going to be able to engineer every member of this government.” At the meeting of White House National Security Adviser Susan Rice with Palestinian President Mahmoud Abbas in Ramallah about two weeks ago, and at the meeting between Abbas and U.S. Secretary of State John Kerry in London last Wednesday, the Palestinian president explained that the new government will be committed to his diplomatic program and will abide by the conditions of the Quartet. Abbas also remarked that the move will not undermine any future negotiations with Israel. Abbas’ words reassured the Americans.

Headline: Jordan military redeploys along border with Syria

The Jordanian military is redeploying its forces along the Hashemite Kingdom’s lengthy border with Syria in light of the deteriorating security situation on the frontier, the London-based Arab-language newspaper Al-Hayat reported on Monday. The newspaper quotes Jordanian sources as saying that the military high command has ordered all of its officers who are normally stationed along the frontier with Syria to cut short their vacations. According to Al-Hayat, the Jordanian military has also beefed up the presence of commando units along the border.

Jeremiah 49:24-27

New King James Version (NKJV)

- ²⁴ Damascus has grown feeble;
 She turns to flee,
 And fear has seized her.
 Anguish and sorrows have taken her like a woman in labor.
- ²⁵ Why is the city of praise not deserted, the city of My joy?
- ²⁶ Therefore her young men shall fall in her streets,
 And all the men of war shall be cut off in that day,” says the LORD of hosts.
- ²⁷ “I will kindle a fire in the wall of Damascus,
 And it shall consume the palaces of Ben-Hadad.”^[a]

The burden of Damascus. Behold, Damascus is taken away from being a city, and it shall be a ruinous heap.

The Syrian military has headed toward the border with Israel and Jordan for an offensive against Sunni rebels. The opposition said the Syrian Army and Air Force launched a major offensive against U.S.-trained rebels near the frontier with Israel and Jordan. The opposition said the military deployed fighter-jets, attack helicopters, artillery and surface-to-surface missiles to pound rebel strongholds in the southern provinces of Dera and Quneitra. "Violent clashes have continued between Islamic battalions and regime forces in the vicinity of Nawa city amid the fall of three surface-to-surface missiles and two air raids on the city," the Syrian Observatory for Human Rights said. Syrian Observatory said the military offensive in Dera began on May 17 and aimed to recapture towns and military positions lost to the rebels over the last few months. The British-based opposition group reported scores of casualties. Opposition sources said the air force was making heavy use of so-called barrel bombs, containers filled with explosives and shrapnel dropped from helicopters. They said the hardest hit areas were Nawa and Jabiya.

Headline: Unknown attackers fire rockets at Benghazi's airport

Gunmen loyal to a rogue general have stormed the Libyan parliament after bombarding the building with rocket-propelled grenades and anti-aircraft weapons. Heavy smoke was seen coming from the building in the country's capital Tripoli. There have been no reports of casualties. A spokesman for General Khalifa Haftar, a former rebel in the war against Muammar Gaddafi, said his forces were responsible for the raid. Mohammed al Hegazi told TV channel Alahrar it was carried out in order to arrest Islamists. He called parliament the "heart of the crisis" in Libya, and added: "This parliament is what supports these extremist Islamist entities. "The aim was to arrest these Islamist bodies who wear the cloak of politics." MP Omar Bushah told Reuters news agency gunmen stormed offices in the General National Congress and set it on fire. A security official said the gunmen also shelled a nearby military base controlled by an Islamist militia. Roads leading to parliament have been sealed off and residents were seen rushing home. One resident told Reuters the attackers have left and armed locals are now patrolling the area. Another said gunmen had kidnapped two people from the parliament building. A spokesman for the Libyan Revolution Operation room, a group of militias who answer to the interim government and are responsible for security in Tripoli, said fighters had engaged the attackers.

Headline: Pentagon: No sign of Russian troop pullback from Ukraine border

Russia has urged the interim government in Kiev to immediately withdraw its troops from eastern Ukraine while ordering the end of drills by Russian forces in regions bordering Ukraine.

According to a Kremlin statement, released on Monday, Russian President Vladimir Putin has called for an end to what he described as the Kiev authorities' "punitive operation" against pro-Russian activists in the eastern part of Ukraine. Putin has also ordered Russian troops deployed in regions near Ukraine to go back to their bases, the statement added. "Due to the end of the planned spring training of troops that included their movement to Rostov, Belgorod, and Bryansk regions, the Russian president ordered...troops participating in the drills to return to their permanent bases," the statement read. Some analysts believe the move appears to indicate the Russian president's intention to de-escalate the ongoing crisis over Ukraine. Earlier on Saturday, the Russian Foreign Ministry condemned the escalation of violence in eastern Ukraine, accusing the Kiev army of conducting military operations against its own citizens.

Headline: Over-heating stock markets raise crash fears

Global equity markets are over-heating, the UK's top professional investors' body has warned, raising fears that "vulnerable" stocks are poised for a crash. The number of investors who think the world's leading stock markets such as the S&P 500 and the FTSE 100 are overvalued has reached its highest level yet, according to a survey of professional money managers completed by the CFA Society of the UK. The survey offers a rare insight into the thinking of the investment community, which manages billions of pounds on behalf of pension funds and households. It revealed that 49pc of the 530 stocks experts now believe that developed equity markets are overvalued – signalling rising fears of a correction – up from 39pc just three months earlier. The number of money managers that felt there were further gains to be made in stock markets fell to its lowest level reported, at just 16pc, down from 50pc at the start of last year.

Headline: Saudi Arabia MERS death toll reaches 169

Saudi health authorities reported Monday a new death from the MERS coronavirus, taking to 169 the overall number of fatalities from the disease in the world's worst-hit country. The health ministry said on its website that the latest person to fall victim to the Middle East Respiratory Syndrome was a 59-year-old man who died on Sunday in the western city of Taif. It reported two new infections, one in Riyadh and the other in the commercial capital of Jeddah, raising the total number of MERS cases to 531. Other nations including Egypt, Jordan, Lebanon, the Netherlands, the United Arab Emirates and the United States have also recorded cases, mostly in people who had been to the desert kingdom.

Headline: Cholera outbreak in South Sudan claims three more lives, infects more than 130

The United Nations reported three more confirmed deaths from cholera in South Sudan on Monday. In addition to the deceased, more than 130 people have been reportedly infected and were being treated at a medical facility in the capital city of Juba. South Sudan's Ministry of Health said it was prepared for the cholera outbreak. According to ministry official Dr. Pinyi Nyimon, "We were actually prepared before the outbreak because we really anticipated all year. So we had trained our staff in all the States and we have pre-positioned cholera kits and acute diarrhea kits. We have trained rapid response teams in the States and we were watching, monitoring the situation so we were prepared." Despite the government's assertion that it had prepared for the outbreak, UNICEF Representative in South Sudan Jonathan Veitch blamed the government for its role in the health crisis. "The severity of the cholera outbreak is just one manifestation of a country failing its children ... Cholera puts even more strain on the most vulnerable, whose health is already compromised by a nutritional crisis."

Headline: Blast in Christian area of Nigerian city kills 5, other bombs diffused

A car bomb exploded in the Christian neighborhood of Nigeria's second most populous and mainly Muslim city of Kano, killing five people, hours before police discovered another massive car bomb in Kano's ancient mud city precinct on Monday. Police Superintendent Aderenle Shinaba said the car exploded Sunday night before the bomber reached his target of the busy restaurants and bars lining Gold Coast Street, indicating the casualties could have been much higher. He said five people were killed, including the bomber, and seven were wounded. Monday morning, police "averted what could have been another devastating bomb blast in the ancient city of Kano," according to national police spokesman Frank Mba. He said police operatives, acting on intelligence, tracked and recovered a station wagon loaded with gas cylinders, fuel and electrical components of improvised explosive devices. Bomb disposal experts diffused the bombs, he said. Previous explosions have been blamed on the Islamic extremist group Boko Haram that claimed responsibility for two explosions last month in Abuja, the capital in the center of the country, that killed more than 120 people and wounded more than 200.

Headline: Why Does Christian Persecution Get Worse In Every Country The U.S. "Liberates"?

When the U.S. military "liberates" a nation, shouldn't it result in more liberty, freedom and peace for the people living there? Instead, we find just the opposite. In fact, in every single case since 9/11, when the U.S. military has "liberated" a nation it has resulted in the persecution of Christians in that country becoming much worse. In areas where we spent hundreds of billions of dollars and where thousands of precious American lives were sacrificed, churches are regularly being bombed, Christians are being brutally beheaded, and laws have been passed to make it illegal for a Muslim to convert to Christianity. If we were not even able to provide the most basic of liberties and freedoms to the people living in those nations, what in the world did we actually accomplish by "liberating" them?

Headline: Floods affect over 1 million in Balkans, destruction 'terrifying'

Bosnia said on Monday that more than a quarter of its 4 million people had been affected by the worst floods to hit the Balkans in living memory, comparing the "terrifying" destruction to that of the country's 1992-95 war. The extent of the devastation became apparent in Serbia too, as waters receded in some of the worst-hit areas to reveal homes toppled or submerged in mud, trees felled and villages strewn with the rotting corpses of livestock. The regional death toll reached more than 40, after the heaviest rainfall since records began 120 years ago caused rivers to burst their banks and triggered hundreds of landslides. "The consequences ... are terrifying," Bosnian Foreign Minister Zlatko Lagumdžija told a news conference. "The physical destruction is not less than the destruction caused by the war."

UNREST

Luke 21:9 and Matthew 24:7 speak of nation against nation and kingdom against kingdom in the end times. Revelation 6:3-4 speaks of the fiery red horse given power to make men slay one another and Revelation 6:8 speaks again of this red horse in conjunction with the pale horse of Death and Hades, as the one that has the power to kill by sword. I like to call this "The Arab Spring in Prophecy" because for us it is easy to identify- that's what the world calls it.

Luke 21:9: wars & commotions; the Greek word here is Akatastasia, meaning instability, a state of disorder, disturbance, confusion (revolutions)

Matthew 24:7: the Greek word for nation is Ethnos & refers to various ethnic groups fighting among themselves, where the next sentence in the verse refers to kingdoms (basileiva) fighting one another (not to be confused with an actual kingdom but rather the right or authority to rule over a kingdom) I have tried to separate it into areas that sweep EAST from the point of North America.

Headline: Mali 'at war with terrorists' after 36 die in clashes: PM

Mali's Prime Minister Moussa Mara said Sunday the country was "at war" with terrorists in the northern city of Kidal after clashes between separatist militants and the Malian army left 36 dead. Eight soldiers and 28 insurgents were killed in fighting on Saturday outside the regional governor's offices during a visit by Mara to the desert town, the government said, adding that around 30 civil servants were being held hostage. "The terrorists have declared war on Mali, so Mali is at war against these terrorists. We will mobilise the resources to fight this war," Mara told AFP by telephone. The government has blamed the clashes on Tuareg separatists but Mara told AFP that Islamist groups had taken advantage of the crisis to infiltrate Kidal on Saturday night "to participate in the chaos alongside other terrorist groups". Kidal, 1,500 kilometres (900 miles) northeast of the capital Bamako, was the scene of anti-government protests by several hundred people on Friday and Saturday.

Headline: Bahraini forces intensify crackdown on protests

Bahraini regime forces have intensified crackdown on protests, clashing with mourners after the funeral of an anti-government protester on the island of Sitra. According to reports on Sunday, at least one person suffered injuries after Bahraini forces fired tear gas to disperse the mourners. The mourners reportedly urged Manama to probe the cause of the death of Ali Faisal al-Akrawi. Akrawi was killed in a blast near his home on Friday. He is believed to have been in hiding following an absentia prison sentence of ten years for his alleged role in protests against the Al Khalifa regime. Scores of Bahraini activists have been placed behind bars across the country, which is said to be supported by a number of Western countries, particularly the United States and Britain, despite its appalling human rights record.

Headline: PLA Troops Descend on China-Vietnam Border

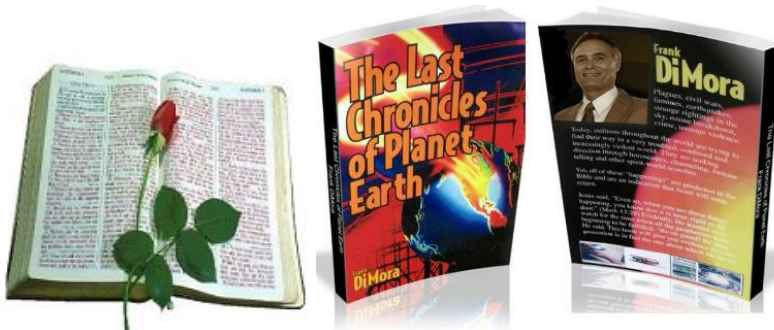

Thousands of Chinese nationals have been evacuated from Vietnam amid growing tensions over territorial disputes between the two countries. At least two Chinese passenger ships arrived early on Monday at a central Vietnamese port of Vung Ang to evacuate Chinese nationals. The Beijing government has reportedly dispatched five ships to bring the Chinese nationals home. This comes a day after 290 Chinese citizens were flown out aboard two chartered planes. More than 3,000 Chinese have already returned home, while hundreds more are waiting to leave Vietnam. The move follows a wave of anti-China unrest in recent days. Several Chinese nationals have lost their lives in the violence so far.

"Heavenly Father, have mercy on me, a sinner. I believe in you and that your Word is true. I believe and accept Jesus Christ as the Son of the living God and that he died on the cross so that I may now have forgiveness for my sins and have eternal life in the Name of Jesus Christ. I know that without you in my heart my life is meaningless and I am without hope. I believe in my heart that you, Lord God, raised Him from the dead. Please, Jesus, forgive me, for every sin I have ever committed or done in my heart. Please, Lord Jesus, forgive me and come into my heart as my personal Lord and Savior today. I need you to be my Father and my friend. I give you my life and ask you to take full control from this moment on; I pray this in the name of Jesus Christ." I thank you for adding my name into your Book of Life. In the name of Jesus Christ, I pray. Amen.
