Headline: Anti-Israel activists again attempting to break Gaza blockade

Anti-Israel activists are preparing to launch another flotilla aimed at breaching Israel's naval blockade of the Hamas-controlled Gaza Strip three years after a similar endeavor led to a deadly encounter with Israeli soldiers. An international coalition of pro-Palestinian agitators launched the Gaza's Ark project to breach what they claim is Israel's "illegal and inhumane Israeli blockade of Gaza." The group, which has ties to Hamas, intends to stock a ship full of Palestinian products and sail out of the Gaza Strip to "export" the goods. Activists intend to purchase "a run-down boat from a local [Palestinian] fishing family," according to Michael Coleman, a member of Free Gaza Australia who spoke to the Commentator about the new revamped flotilla initiative.

Headline: Palestinians mark Land Day near Gaza buffer zone

The Nationalist and Islamic Forces, a coalition of all Palestinian political factions, is planning a central protest on Saturday to mark Land Day anniversary, a statement by the group said Thursday. Participants will start gathering at 11a.m. outside Qalandia refugee camp, south of Ramallah, and then march at 12 noon toward the Israeli army-controlled checkpoint that separates Ramallah from Jerusalem. Groups are also planning protests during the day at other checkpoints around Jerusalem, including in Bethlehem. Palestinians inside Israel are planning rallies in Sakhnin and nearby areas in the Galilee and in the south at the destroyed Bedouin village, Araqeeb. Land Day marks the anniversary of Israeli police shooting to death of six Palestinians inside Israel on March 30, 1976, during protests against Israeli government seizure of more than 20,000 dunums of Arab land.

Headline: Gaza borders opened after closure due to rockets

A week after ordering border crossings with Gaza closed in response to a Palestinian rocket attack, Israel reopened two terminals on Thursday morning. The Kerem Shalom goods border passage and Erez pedestrian terminal were both operating at normal capacity, the IDF confirmed. Last week, freshly appointed Defense Minister Moshe Ya'alon ordered Kerem Hashalom fully shut, and minimized activities at Erez to allow humanitarian crossings only. Ya'alon also restricted Gaza's fishing area from six to three miles from the coastline. That restriction remains in place for the time being. The crossings are controlled by the IDF's Coordination of Government Activities in the Territories (COGAT). The closures came after Palestinians fired rockets into southern Israel during the visit US President Barack Obama. One projectile damaged a home in Sderot, and a second fell in an open area. Two more landed inside Gaza. The attack triggered rocket sirens and sent residents flying, after a prolonged truce.

Headline: UN concerned Syria war spilling over into Golan

Headline: U.N. sends extra armored cars to Golan Heights force

The UN Security Council voiced concern on Wednesday about repeated violations of the ceasefire line between Syria and the Golan Heights and the danger to UN peacekeepers there due to the escalating Syrian civil war. "The members of the Security Council expressed grave concern at all violations of the Disengagement of Forces Agreement," the council said, adding that it also voiced "grave concern at the presence of the Syrian Arab Republic Armed Forces inside the area of separation." UNDOF has the task of monitoring an "area of separation" between Syrian and Israeli forces, a narrow strip of land running 45 miles (70 km) from Mount Hermon on the Lebanese border to the Yarmouk River frontier with Jordan. In its statement, the council also "expressed grave concern at the presence of armed members of the opposition in the area of separation." The council "called on all parties, including armed elements of the Syrian opposition, to respect UNDOF's freedom of movement and the safety and security of its personnel, while recalling that the primary responsibility for safety and security ... rests with the Syrian Government." Israel captured the Golan plateau from Syria in the 1967 Middle East war.

Headline: World Bank to hold project in West Bank, Gaza

The World Bank wants to help provide 55,000 new part-time job opportunities over the next five years for Palestinians in the West Bank and Gaza through an emerging online phenomenon called microwork. The sophisticated web-based assembly lines allow people anywhere in the world to work from home for global companies by completing micro tasks on the Internet. The World Bank plans to hold a microwork pilot study in the Palestinian territories, but no exact date has been set. "Palestinian youth are increasingly tech-savvy, so the potential for IT-based forms of economic engagement, which can cross virtual borders, can be an exciting leap forward," said Mariam Sherman, the World Bank country director for the West Bank and Gaza. On Wednesday the bank publicly released a feasibility study, "Microwork for the Palestinian Territories," that explored the pros and cons of such global outsourcing.

Headline: 1,800 Syrians enter Jordan as border violence returns

Headline: UN: Syrian refugees riot at camp in Jordan

Some 1,800 Syrians fled to Jordan early Wednesday as violence re-erupted along the Syrian-Jordanian border. Wednesday's influx raised the total number of new arrivals over the past five days to more than 8,000, according to the Jordan Armed Forces. Some 100 injured Syrians who were among the arrivals were sent to hospitals in Ramtha and Mafraq for treatment, security sources said. The arrivals join some 465,000 Syrians who have already taken refuge in Jordan. Meanwhile, violence erupted across southern Syria, ending a 24-hour period of uneasy calm along the Jordanian-Syrian border. According to domestic security sources and Syrian rebel, clashes resumed along the Jordanian-Syrian border late Wednesday, with heavy gunfire and shelling reported in the border villages of Taybeh, Um Al Mayzan and Sheikh Al Maskeen. The 370-kilometre border has been the focus of three weeks of intense clashes between Syrian regime and rebel forces.

Headline: Egypt's Islamic authority asserts role, clashes with Brotherhood

Egypt's leading Islamic authority Al-Azhar said on Thursday its clerics must be consulted on a law allowing the state to issue Islamic bonds, setting it at odds with the Muslim Brotherhood which drove the legislation through parliament last week. It marks the first time Al-Azhar, a thousand-year-old seat of Islamic learning, has said its Senior Scholars Authority should be consulted on issues pertaining to Islamic law as set out in Egypt's new, Islamist-tinged constitution. Al-Azhar's intervention could set a precedent for clerical oversight of other affairs of state. The Salafi Nour Party has said Al-Azhar must also approve an agreement Egypt is seeking with the International Monetary Fund because it includes a loan upon which Egypt will pay interest. The Islamic bond, or sukuk law, will allow Egypt to issue debt compliant with Islamic principles, allowing the state to tap a new area of finance as President Mohamed Mursi's administration grapples with an unaffordable budget deficit.

Headline: Two protesters hurt in Cairo attacks

Two men were injured early Thursday morning when more than 100 people attacked protesters occupying Cairo's Tahrir Square, Egyptian officials said. The assailants removed barriers blocking traffic and set fire to tents, Ahram Online reported. Security forces had arrested 53 protesters Wednesday after they entered the square to attempt to remove traffic barriers, MENA reported. Police said four suspects were arrested in connection with Thursday's attack, al-Masry al-Youm reported. The suspects were armed with a knife and a gun that could fire birdshot. Two brothers said they were wounded while driving in the square when people with firearms and knives attacked them. One of the men was stabbed in the face, while the other was hit in the upper body by birdshot. The sit-in protest began Nov. 22 after President Mohamed Morsi issued a decree that critics said put his decisions above judicial review.

Jeremiah 49:24-27

New King James Version (NKJV)

- 24 Damascus has grown feeble;
She turns to flee,
And fear has seized her.
Anguish and sorrows have taken her like a woman in labor.
- 25 Why is the city of praise not deserted, the city of My joy?
- 26 Therefore her young men shall fall in her streets,
And all the men of war shall be cut off in that day," says the LORD of hosts.
- 27 "I will kindle a fire in the wall of Damascus,
And it shall consume the palaces of Ben-Hadad."^[a]

The burden of Damascus. Behold, Damascus is taken away from being a city, and it shall be a ruinous heap.

Headline: Report: Syrian Rebels Down Iranian Weapons Plane

Headline: Israeli intel: Iran has deployed 50,000 troops in Syria

A report in Arab media Thursday morning said that Syrian rebels had shot down a plane over Damascus Airport, causing the plane to crash and start a large fire. The plane, according to the report, was en route from Iran and was loaded with weapons for the Syrian Army. According to the report on Al-Arabiya television, the Syrian Free Army rebels used anti-aircraft missiles to shoot the plane down. The plane managed to land, but burst into flames upon landing. Large parts of the airport were said to be on fire, including the main arrivals hall. Sources in the Syrian government quoted in the report confirmed that there had been a fire in the arrivals hall, but that it had been caused by an electrical short. Iran has not commented on the report.

Headline: "Master plan" underway to take Damascus, AP reports

Syrian state-run TV says several mortar shells have struck the Damascus University campus, causing multiple casualties among students. The report says the mortar rounds hit the university's architecture department in the central Baramkeh district on Thursday. Mortar shells have become a daily occurrence in Damascus as Syria's rebels are increasingly using mortars. The latest attack on the capital comes two days after rebels barraged Damascus with mortar shells that killed at least three people and wounded dozens in one of the most intensive attacks on the seat of President Bashar Assad's power.

Headline: U.N. yet to be granted 'unfettered access' in Syria chemical weapons probe

Syria has not yet agreed to give the “unfettered access” demanded by the United Nations for an inquiry into the alleged use of chemical weapons in the country’s conflict, diplomats said Wednesday. The international body wants the team to start work as early as next week but has still not reached an agreement with President Bashar al-Assad’s government on the extent of the investigation, diplomats and U.N. officials said. However, earlier reports suggested that Syria had approved U.N. Swedish scientist Ake Sellstrom head the inquiry. “The government has still not given this pledge. This will be the key to whether the mission can start, but it is too early to say yet that it will be called off,” a U.N. diplomat told AFP. “There are discussions going on ... about the terms of reference,” U.N. spokesman Martin Nesirky told reporters. “It is obvious that to be able to do this work, you need unfettered access and that is why the secretary general has underscored that in his communications,” Nesirky said. The Syrian government has asked the U.N. to investigate its accusation that opposition rebels used chemical weapons in Aleppo province.

Headline: Developing powers call for end to sanctions on Iran

Representatives of five of the world’s developing economic powers voiced their opposition Wednesday to Western sanctions on Iran and the US and Israel’s threat to use force against Tehran’s nuclear program. The group of five countries, Brazil, Russia, India, China and South Africa, known collectively as BRICS, called to resolve the West’s “disagreements” with Tehran by “political and diplomatic means.” “We are concerned about threats of military action as well as unilateral sanctions,” read an official statement issued by the leaders of countries who attended the fifth BRICS summit in Durban, South Africa. The statement came days after US President Barack Obama’s reaffirmation that his country will not allow Iran to obtain a nuclear weapon.

Headline: US to Erdogan: ‘Opposed to Engaging Hamas’

The U.S. government politely warned Turkey’s prime minister this week against visiting Gaza, with a statement reminding Recep Tayyip Erdogan not to “engage with Hamas.” Erdogan told lawmakers after a telephoned apology by Israel’s Prime Minister Binyamin Netanyahu over the deaths of nine terror activists in a 2010 clash on the Mavi Marmara flotilla vessel that he might visit Gaza, Judea and Samaria as early as next month. The Turkish prime minister stated the trip would come as part of his effort to “help the process” of lifting Israel’s blockade of Gaza, one of three demands he made in order to restore diplomatic ties with the Jewish State. The apology by the prime minister was also one of the demands. The third was financial compensation to the families of each of those killed in the clashes. State Department acting deputy spokesperson Patrick Ventrell underscored in a Washington briefing Wednesday that the U.S. would continue to “urge all those wishing to provide international humanitarian support to Gaza to do so through established channels, to ensure that the Palestinians' humanitarian needs and Israel's legitimate security needs are both met," AFP reported.

Headline: Russia to block Syrian opposition at UN

Russian President Vladimir Putin unexpectedly ordered a snap large-scale military exercise on Thursday as concerns persist over armed forces combat readiness. Presidential spokesman Dmitry Peskov said Putin issued instructions to perform the exercise in the southern Black Sea region at 4:00 a.m. The unscheduled exercise is the second in the space of two months and follows a major shake-up at the top of a military establishment demoralized by persistent evidence of rampant corruption. The Black Sea exercise was set to involve up to 7,000 military personnel – including rapid deployment, airborne and special task forces – and more than 30 warships.

Headline: South Sudan's military says 163 killed in battle

South Sudan's military spokesman says 163 people, mostly rebels, were killed in a battle in a restive state inside its borders. Col. Philip Aguer said Thursday that the battle earlier this week was fierce. He said the government counted 143 dead bodies from a militia group. Aguer said 20 government forces were killed and 70 were wounded. Aguer said government forces captured an airstrip that the rebels have been using to import most of their military supplies. South Sudan accuses Sudan of arming the rebel leader David Yau Yau. South Sudan peacefully broke away from Sudan in 2011 but is still dealing with violence inside its own borders.

Headline: Sufi shrine blown up in Libyan capital

Unknown assailants blew up a major Sufi shrine in the Libyan capital on Thursday, residents said, the first such attack since several last year in the North African country. Ultra-conservative Islamists have targeted sites belonging to Islam's Sufi tradition, which they brand idolatrous, since the end of a 2011 war that ousted Muammar Gaddafi. There were about a dozen attacks on Sufi shrines last spring and summer. Thursday's bombing took place in the early morning and struck the Sidi Al-Andlusi mausoleum in the Tripoli suburb of Tajoura, residents said. The shrine of a Sufi theologian from the 15th century is protected under law as a national monument. "It was a bomb attack. The doors and windows were blown out, the inside is charred," said one witness who lives near the shrine and declined to give his name.

Headline: Qaeda-linked Salafists threaten Tunisia's Islamist govt

Supporters of fugitive Salafist leader Abu Iyadh, wanted over a deadly attack on the US embassy last September, threatened Thursday to topple Tunisia's government led by moderate Islamist party Ennahda. "To the leaders of Ennahda, if he remains restrain your sick one, otherwise he will be the target of our war to bring him down," said a post on the Facebook page of jihadist group Ansar al-Sharia, referring to Ennahda Prime Minister Ali Larayedh. It called on the party "to catch up... or else you will not hear our response, you will see it with your own eyes." Larayedh, the former interior minister who was appointed premier earlier this month after a political crisis sparked by the assassination of a leftist politician brought down the previous government, has been a thorn in the side of the Salafists.

Cyprus will become the first ever eurozone country to impose capital controls when its stricken banks open for business at noon local time Thursday (28 March). Payments out of the country and cheque cashing will be suspended as part of emergency controls unveiled on Wednesday night by the Cypriot government. For its part, the European Central Bank flew in extra supplies of bank notes to cope with an expected upsurge in withdrawals. The temporary controls, which will see Cyprus operate a siege economy, are part of a desperate bid by the Cypriot government to avoid possible runs on its banks which have stayed closed for more than a week.

Headline: Moody’s downgrades five Egyptian banks

The local-currency deposit ratings of five Egyptian banks have been downgraded by Moody’s Investors Service, Ahram Online reported Wednesday. The National Bank of Egypt was downgraded to Caa1 from B3, Banque du Caire to Caa1 from B3, Banque Misr to Caa1 from B3, Commercial International Bank to Caa1 from B3, and Bank of Alexandria to B2 from B3. The move came after the credit-rating agency downgraded Egypt’s sovereign rating to Caa1, indicating “poor quality” and “very high credit risk.” The chance of a default on foreign debts within five years is 40 percent, the agency estimated. Investors are awaiting official approval of a $4.8 billion loan from the International Monetary Fund, with observers blaming Egypt’s ongoing political instability for the delay.

Headline: MARC FABER: Not Even Gold Will Save You From What Is Coming

Comment: I don’t know if Marc Faber is a Christian or not, but I find it interesting that his words are what our Lord said in His Word: “Come now, you rich, weep and howl for your miseries that are coming upon you! ² Your riches are corrupted, and your garments are moth-eaten. ³ Your gold and silver are corroded, and their corrosion will be a witness against you and will eat your flesh like fire. You have heaped up treasure in the last days.” (James 5:1-3); “They will throw their silver into the streets, And their gold will be like refuse; Their silver and their gold will not be able to deliver them In the day of the wrath of the LORD; They will not satisfy their souls, Nor fill their stomachs, Because it became their stumbling block of iniquity.” (Ezekiel 7:19)

Marc Faber, who authors the Gloom Boom & Doom newsletter, is usually pretty bearish on stocks and bullish on gold. Lately, though, gold doesn't seem like it can catch a bid. "Despite the continued reverberations regarding the Cyprus bailout and its involvement of bank deposits, gold struggled to maintain the positive momentum created in the first two weeks of March and instead now looks very likely to move lower, towards $1580/oz," wrote Deutsche Bank commodities analyst Xiao Fu in a note this morning. So, what does Faber have to say about it? This morning, on Bloomberg Surveillance with Tom Keene and Alix Steel, Dr. Doom was asked why gold wasn't holding up. "When you print money, the money does not flow evenly into the economic system. It stays essentially in the financial service industry and among people that have access to these funds, mostly well-to-do people. It does not go to the worker. I just mentioned that it doesn't flow evenly into the system. So we are creating bubbles and bubbles and bubbles. This bubble will come to an end. My concern is that we are going to have a systemic crisis where it is going to be very difficult to hide. Even in gold, it will be difficult to hide."

Headline: Food stamp president: Enrollment up 70 percent under Obama

Enrollment in the food stamp program — officially the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program — has soared by 70 percent in the years since President Obama first took office, a new report finds. The government said the recession ended in 2009, The Wall Street Journal reports, but enrollment in the food stamp program didn't wane, as would be expected in an improving economy. Since 2008, it's been on a steady rise, The Journal reports. A record 47.8 million people participate in the program, as of December 2012 — a figure that translates into a 70 percent rise since 2008, The Journal says. Why? Despite government claims, the job market is still lagging. The poverty rate is on the rise, The Journal says. And federal laws passed under former President Clinton and further under Mr. Obama are actually driving the enrollment rate higher. Those laws allow for those with higher incomes to take food stamps — the logic being that helping people before they reach crisis financial level will actually stimulate the economy, The Journal says. The news for the future is more of the same.

Headline: North Korea cuts off last communication with South: 'a simmering nuclear war is now underway'

Two American B-2 Spirit stealth bombers practiced an attack on the Korean Peninsula Thursday as part of a military exercise that has sparked angry threats from North Korea. The U.S. military said the planes involved in the firing drill left Whiteman Air Force Base in Missouri on a "long-duration, round-trip training mission." Inert munitions were dropped on a range facility on the Jikdo islands off the western coast of South Korea before the jets returned to the continental U.S. in a single continuous flight. B-2 Spirit bombers are capable of carrying either conventional or nuclear weapons. In a statement, the United States Forces Korea said the mission "demonstrates the United States' ability to conduct long-range, precision strikes quickly and at will." Dubbed "Foal Eagle," the training exercise involves about 200,000 South Korean troops and 10,000 U.S. forces and is due to continue until the end of April.

Headline: Chinese navy makes waves in South China Sea

China's increasingly powerful navy paid a symbolic visit to the country's southernmost territorial claim deep in the South China Sea this week as part of military drills in the disputed Spratly Islands involving amphibious landings and aircraft. The visit to James Shoal, reported by state media, followed several days of drills starting Saturday and marked a high-profile show of China's determination to stake its claim to territory disputed by Vietnam, the Philippines, Taiwan, Malaysia and Brunei amid rising tensions in the region.

Prophecy Sign: Pestilence & Plagues Luke 21:11 & Revelation 6:8

"And there will be great earthquakes in various places, and famines and pestilences; and there will be fearful sights and great signs from heaven." (Luke)

"So I looked, and behold, a pale horse. And the name of him who sat on it was Death, and Hades followed with him. And power was given to them over a fourth of the earth, to kill with sword, with hunger, with death (Thanatos in Greek meaning the death of the body whether natural or violent), and by the beasts of the earth" (Revelation)

Headline: 1 in 3 Americans had a sexually-transmitted infection in 2008

According to new data released by the federal Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, there were 19.7 million new venereal infections in the United States in 2008, bringing the total number of existing sexually transmitted infections (STIs) in the U.S. at that time to 110,197,000. The 19.7 million new STIs in 2008 vastly outpaced the new jobs and college graduates created in the United States that year or any other year on record, according to government data. The competition was not close. The STI study referenced by the CDC estimated that 50 percent of the new infections in 2008 occurred among people in the 15-to-24 age bracket. In fact, of the 19,738,800 total new STIs in the United States in 2008, 9,782,650 were among Americans in the 15-to-24 age bracket. By contrast, there were 1,524,092 bachelor's degrees awarded in the United States in the 2007-2008 school year, according to the National Center for Education Statistics. That means the total number of new STIs in 2008 outpaced the total number of new bachelor's degrees by nearly 13 to 1

Headline: SARS-Like Virus Kills Two More People in Germany and Britain

The mysterious SARS-like virus that appears to be originating in the Middle East has claimed two more victims after people died from the infection in Germany and in Britain. Their deaths brings to 11 the number of fatalities attributed to the virus, and six others have been determined to have been infected by the virus, according to the World Health Organization. Health officials are concerned that SARS-like virus could come to the United States or Canada, and the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention have alerted state and local health departments to be on the lookout for suspicious illnesses in people who have recently traveled to the Middle East. The latest victims were a 73-year-old man from the United Arab Emirates who died in Munich, Germany, after being flown there for treatment, and a United Kingdom resident whose age is not known but who had traveled to Pakistan and Saudi Arabia before falling ill, according to a WHO statement.

Headline: Egyptian mosque turned into house of torture

Islamic hard-liners stormed a mosque in suburban Cairo, turning it into torture chamber for Christians who had been demonstrating against the ruling Muslim Brotherhood in the latest case of violent persecution that experts fear will only get worse. Such stories have become increasingly common as tensions between Egypt’s Muslims and Copts mount, but in the latest case, mosque officials corroborated much of the account and even filed a police report. Demonstrators, some of whom were Muslim, say they were taken from the Muslim Brotherhood headquarters in suburban Cairo to a nearby mosque on Friday and tortured for hours by hard-line militia members. “They accompanied me to one of the mosques in the area and I discovered the mosque was being used to imprison demonstrators and torture them," Amir Ayad, a Coptic who has been a vocal protester against the regime, told MidEast Christian News from a hospital bed.

Prophecy Sign: Increase in Knowledge/Mark of the Beast Daniel 12:4 and Revelation 13:16-17

"But you, Daniel, shut up the words, and seal the book until the time of the end; many shall run to and fro, and knowledge shall increase." (Daniel) "He causes all, both small and great, rich and poor, free and slave, to receive a mark on their right hand or on their foreheads, ¹⁷ and that no one may buy or sell except one who has the mark or the name of the beast, or the number of his name." Headline: Biometric National ID Card could be mandated on all American workers

Control - this is what fuels many Congressmen and women. Recently, two U.S. senators met with President Obama, vouching for a biometric national ID card that would force workers to submit to a fingerprint, hand, or iris scan. Any worker failing to comply with this biometric tracking mandate, would be terminated from their job. The program would be titled the "Believe System," an acronym for Biometric Enrollment, Locally stored Information and Electronic Verification of Employment. The ID card would contain a digital encryption key that would be required to match work authorization databases. The micro-processing chip on the card would store the biometric identifier. The worker would be required to carry this card and the employer would be forced to scan it.

Headline: Collision Course? A Comet Heads for Mars

Over the years, the spacefaring nations of Earth have sent dozens of probes and rovers to explore Mars. Today there are three active satellites circling the red planet while two rovers, Opportunity and Curiosity, wheel across the red sands below. Mars is dry, barren, and apparently lifeless.

Soon, those assets could find themselves exploring a very different kind of world. "There is a small but non-negligible chance that Comet 2013 A1 will strike Mars next year in October of 2014," says

Don Yeomans of NASA's Near-Earth Object Program at JPL. "Current solutions put the odds of impact at 1 in 2000."

Headline: Earth opens in massive landslide on Whidbey Island, off the coast of Washington

A chunk of Whidbey Island off the coast of Washington slid into water early this morning, forcing the evacuation of 34 homes. At one home at the new cliff edge, a steady stream of soil can be seen leaking out from beneath the building. Authorities are continuing to monitor a house where there's still slide activity, as dirt continues to slough off the cliff, said Central Whidbey Island Fire and Rescue Chief Ed Hartin. Fire and Rescue went to a home around 4 a.m. this morning in Coupeville on Whidbey Island, Wash., to find it had been pushed off its foundation. Hartin told ABCNews.com that when he arrived, the home was already a considerable distance down the cliff by the water. The landslide stretched across 400 to 500 yards and the earth dropped 600 to 700 yards down to the water, reported ABC's Seattle affiliate KOMO, with trees and tons of dirt smashing into homes down below and wiping out a road. Somehow no one was injured. Hartin said rescuers used ATVs to reach the home that had slid down the cliff.

Headline: Landslide forces the evacuation of 300 in Malaysia, man swallowed by sinkhole in China

ABOUT 300 residents of Pangsapuri Beringin in Puchong, here had to vacate their apartment units yesterday when a nearby hillslope collapsed for the second time this year. The first incident occurred on Feb 19 and residents claimed that repairs were completed late, which resulted in the second landslide about 4.30pm yesterday. They said an official from the Subang Jaya Municipal Council had directed residents of Block B of the apartments to evacuate to a hall nearby. Resident Siti Zaleha Dalli, 38, described this landslide as even worse than the first one.

The Arab Spring in Prophecy

(Perilous Times Luke 21:9 & Nation against Nation, Kingdom against Kingdom Matt.24:7)

(Revelation 6:3-4 Revelation 6:8)

“For nation shall rise against nation,
and kingdom against kingdom.
There will be earthquakes in various places, and there will be famines and sedition; these are the beginning of the labor pains.”

Mark 13:8

Luke 21:9 and Matthew 24:7 speak of nation against nation and kingdom against kingdom in the end times. Revelation 6:3-4 speaks of the fiery red horse given power to make men slay one another and Revelation 6:8 speaks again of this red horse in conjunction with the pale horse of Death and Hades, as the one that has the power to kill by sword. I like to call this “The Arab Spring in Prophecy” because for us it is easy to identify- that’s what the world calls it.

Luke 21:9: wars & commotions; the Greek word here is Akatastasia, meaning instability, a state of disorder, disturbance, confusion (revolutions)

Matthew 24:7: the Greek word for nation is Ethnos & refers to various ethnic groups fighting among themselves, where the next sentence in the verse refers to kingdoms (basileiva) fighting one another (not to be confused with an actual kingdom but rather the right or authority to rule over a kingdom) I have tried to separate it into areas that sweep EAST from the point of North America.

Headline: Mexican vigilantes seize town, open fire on tourists

Hundreds of armed vigilantes have taken control of a town on a major highway in the Pacific coast state of Guerrero, arresting local police officers and searching homes after a vigilante leader was killed. Several opened fire on a car of Mexican tourists headed to the beach for Easter week. Members of the area's self-described "community police" say more than 1,500 members of the force were stopping traffic Wednesday at improvised checkpoints in the town of Tierra Colorado, which sits on the highway connecting Mexico City to Acapulco. They arrested 12 police and the former director of public security in the town after a leader of the state's vigilante movement was slain on Monday. A tourist heading to the beach with relatives was slightly wounded Tuesday after they refused to stop at a roadblock and vigilantes fired shots at their car, officials said. The vigilantes accuse the ex-security director of participating in the killing of vigilante leader Guadalupe Quinones Carbajal, 28, on behalf of local organized crime groups and dumping his body in a nearby town on Monday. They reported seizing several high-powered rifles from his car, and vigilantes were seen toting a number of sophisticated assault rifles on Wednesday, although it was not clear if all had been taken from the ex-security director's car. "We have besieged the municipality, because here criminals operate with impunity in broad daylight, in view of municipal authorities. We have detained the director of public security because he is involved with criminals and he knows who killed our commander," said Bruno Placido Valerio, a spokesman for the vigilante group.

Africa- ONLY COUNTRIES NOT IN PROPHECY

Headline: France may permanently station soldiers in Mali

UN Secretary-General Ban Ki-moon has suggested the creation of a peacekeeping force in Mali that would include West African troops already operating in the country. He also said that a "parallel force" must be built to confront Islamist threats. "Given the anticipated level and nature of the residual threat, there would be a fundamental requirement for a parallel force to operate in Mali alongside the UN mission in order to conduct major combat and counter-terrorism operations," Ban wrote in his report on Mali. Such a force could be built on the French troops already active in Mali, some diplomats say. Once the African nations' soldiers become a UN peacekeeping force, most of their troops and police would operate in northern Mali, while there would be a "light presence" based in the country's capital, Bamako, Ban suggested. "The force would operate under robust rules of engagement, with a mandate to use all necessary means to address threats to the implementation of its mandate, which would include protection of civilians," he said.

Headline: Central African Republic army chiefs pledge allegiance to coup leader

Central African Republic's army chiefs pledged allegiance to the country's self-proclaimed president Michel Djotodia on Thursday as the ex-rebel leader consolidated control four days after his fighters seized the capital. Djotodia seized control of the resource-rich nation after thousands of his rebel fighters swept into the riverside capital Bangui on Sunday, ousting President Francois Bozize and triggering days of looting. "The former FACA (national army) officers wanted to meet with President Djotodia to tell him they recognize him as the new president," said Maurice Ntossui, a commander of the African peacekeeping force in the country who attended the meeting. "All the former chiefs of police, gendarmes, the head of the armed forces and other senior officers came to the meeting. This was a form of surrender," he said.

Headline: Portuguese protest against high unemployment rates, job insecurity

Hundreds of Portuguese unemployed workers and union members have demonstrated in the capital Lisbon to protest against high unemployment and job insecurity in the country. Wednesday demonstration, which also marked Youth Day, was called by the youth section of the largest Portuguese union, the General Confederation of the Portuguese Workers (CGTP), The Associated Press reported. The protestors -- carrying banners, reading, "We want work. We demand our rights" -- said they were opposed to the harsh austerity measures, which the government started imposing in 2011 in return for 78 billion euros from the European Union (EU), the European Central Bank (ECB), and the International Monetary Fund (IMF) to avoid bankruptcy.
